3 MAIL PILOTS KILLED; PLANE BURNS

Woman Shell Shocked in Bomb War

METAL CRAFT, DEFECTIVE, IS TRAP FOR CREW

Fault Believed Cured Causes Tragedy.

La Crosse, Wis., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—Two Chicago-Minneapolis mail air pilots and a mechanic were burned to death in their airplane, northward bound, here today. Their tragic fate adds three names to the death toll of the German made JL6 all-metal monoplanes in the United States air service, making the total to date seven men.

Pilots W. L. Carroll, Minneapolis; Arthur Rowe of Chicago, and Mechanic Robert B. Hill of Havana, Ill., were the victims here today. Their bodies were incinerated before they could be rescued.

Made Forced Landing.

The United States mail airship was en route from Chicago to the Twin Cities, and, according to Supt. Carlson of the Salzer field—an air mail service station here—had experienced much difficulty. The plane, he said, left Chicago on Monday and had made a forced landing at Lone Rock on the way. Carlson explained that the all-metal type of mail carrier had never before flown the northern route, although it has been used with some success between Chicago and Omaha.

It was nearly 5 p. m. today when the mechanics at the service station heard the far away purr of the six cylindered motor.

Slowly the bugs beetle eyed monster taxied over the field. There was a "miss" in the explosions. Twice the ship circled the field and the mechanic looked to the "T" and set its head against the wind. The big car started the glide for the field.

Flash, Flames, Explosion!

There was a flash, a burst of flame, then a terrific explosion. The big ship crumpled and fell wing over wing the remaining 600 feet to the ground. When the mechanics reached the ship the fire was almost out, the three men dead, and much of the mail burned.

"Probably three minutes elapsed between the first explosion and the time we reached the ship," said Carlson. "But they were dead."

The bodies will be held pending instructions from the air mail service. It is said Pilot Carroll did not wish to make the trip because of the faulty condition of the motor, but was persuaded by his two companions.

THOUGHT FAULT RECTIFIED.

According to the air mail officials in Chicago the fault that caused the explosions in the J-16 ship was believed to have been overcome.

"We found that a metal tube was used to connect the gas tank with the carburetor and that this tube was often jarred loose by vibration," said one of the air mail engineers. "So we put on a rubber tube, and believed we had the problem solved. We have had much success recently with this ship.

"The fires were caused by the broken gas. The gas escaping from the lead would vaporize in the inclosed fuselage and a spark from a short circuit would ignite the mixture."

Another report was that an oil pump failed to function, permitted overheating of the engine, and thus caused the fire.

Pilot Rowe has lived in Maywood, Chicago, since joining the air mail service. His home previously was at Fort Pierre, S. D., where he and some fellow aviators formed the Fort Pierre aero club and toured South Dakota, giving exhibition flights. Rowe was 31 years old and an overseas veteran.

New U. S. Reserve Bank to Have "Gym" on Roof

A building permit was issued yesterday for the new $7,500,000 home of the Chicago Federal Reserve bank on the west side of La Salle street between Jackson boulevard and Quincy street. The new building, an eighteen story brick structure designed by Graham, Anderson, Probst & White, will be erected by the John Griffiths & Son company, contractors.

According to the permit, the building is to have a perfectly equipped gymnasium on the roof. The original plans called for a running track around the rim of the roof, but city experts decided the superstructure necessary would carry the structure beyond the 150 foot height limit.

Sent Home for Swearing, Boy Ends Life Under Train

Woodland, Cal., Feb. 9.—John Henry Hawk, 13, motherless boy of Seamore, nine miles north of here, was sent home from school this morning for swearing, and this afternoon put his head before a railroad train and was killed instantly.

ALD. LYLE KNOCKS OUT EX-CHAMPION IN THE CITY HALL

Come to Blows Over Boxing Bill.

Ald. John H. Lyle, champion scrapper at all weights of the Chicago Bar association, chalked up his ninth straight bare knuckle victory yesterday when he floored Tommy White, old time professional boxer, in a corridor of the city hall.

JOHN H. LYLE.

The trouble started in the council chamber, where a judiciary subcommittee was holding a hearing on Ald. Kostner's proposed bill to permit boxing bouts supervised by a state commission.

Charlie White, contender for years for the lightweight title, made a speech in which he advocated ten round no-decision bouts.

Recalls Old Time Finish Fights.

"Nonsensical! Idiotic!" shouted Tommy White, local featherweight champion back in '98. "What is a boxing bout without a decision? When I used to fight we had real fighters. They weren't faint hearted like some of the would-be fighters we have now."

TOMMY WHITE.

This was a slur at Charlie White, but the tense situation was relaxed somewhat by a speech from Ald. Lyle, Charlie's attorney, who attempted to salve wounded feelings.

Tommy refused to pay attention to Lyle's efforts, however. At every opportunity he butted into the debate, punctuating his remarks with innuendoes directed at Charlie.

When Scrapper Meets Scrapper.

After Ald. Kostner had squelched him with the gavel several times, Tommy left the chamber. Ald Lyle left simultaneously by another door to telephone.

Tommy and the alderman met in front of the telephone booths.

"Don't you know better than to make remarks about the speakers?" asked Lyle.

Tommy replied by calling Charlie White, whose real name is Anchovitz, a "yellow ——."

"He stole my name," Tommy yelled shaking his finger at the alderman. "Why don't you go back in there and tend to your own business?" And he said more.

Lyle tossed the fighter's phrases back at him. Eyewitnesses say that Tommy swung at the alderman, who dodged, dropping his glasses, which were shattered on the floor.

Then the battle began—and ended, for Lyle feinted with his left and uppercut with his right and Tommy went down. The alderman was on top of him instantly and before Patrolman John Dohney could drag him off White was considerably rumpled.

White Tell His Story.

In 1916 Lyle knocked down Victor I. Ohrenstein, an attorney, for calling him a "candy kid" and a reformer. That fight took place on the ninth floor of the city hall. In February of 1919 Lyle slapped the face of a man who called him a "double crosser" at a political meeting. In the fall of the same year he landed on the nose of Attorney Amos Marston, an ex-Cornell oarsman.

Tommy White telephoned THE TRIBUNE last night.

"I didn't assault Lyle," he said. "I was leaving the hall when the alderman ran almost the entire length of the corridor to get at me. I saw him coming and started to take off my coat. He jumped on me and I grabbed his arm and we both went down together. Not one of his blows reached me."

G. O. P. PLANS FOR REPEAL OF PROFITS TAX

Action to Be Taken Early in Spring.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—Repeal of the excess profits tax at the special session to be called by President Elect Harding in April is considered a certainty. The Republican leaders are practically a unit in declaring that this tax should be eliminated in the general revision of the revenue law which already has been begun by the house ways and means committee. Repeal of the law during the coming summer will mean that the excess profits tax will not apply to earnings of 1921, to be collected early in 1922. The repeal, however, will not affect collection during 1921 of profits taxes on 1920 earnings.

The only controversy relates to the nature of the substitute for the excess profits tax. Representative Good of Iowa, chairman of the house appropriations committee, in a speech in the house today declared that he believed appropriations will be kept down to so low a point that no burdensome additional taxes will be necessary as a substitute.

Economy Plea Cheered.

There was a shout of approval when Mr. Good insisted that the appropriation bills must be passed before the change of administrations March 4, so that the framers of a new tariff law may "know the amount of cloth out of which they must patch the nation's coat." He declared that appropriations for the year beginning next July should be kept within $3,500,000,000.

Mr. Good's plea for government economy was made in presenting the first deficiency bill for the present year, carrying a total of $203,000,000. Representative Byrnes, Democrat, of South Carolina declared direct appropriations this year, already had passed the $5,000,000,000 mark. In order to meet this sum, Mr. Byrnes added, the government must levy an average tax of $50 on every man, woman and child in America.

No Substitute Sales Tax.

Urging repeal of the excess profits tax, Mr. Good said:

"We shall not need the revenues that have been brought in by the excess profits tax if we will cut down appropriations. There is where we can pause to effect a saving.

"It will be a system of economy and the financing of temporary loans, such as our certificates of indebtedness, the war savings stamps and the Victory loan. It ought to be done by borrowing money rather than by taxing the American people as we have done in the past two years."

Sales Tax Would Defeat Party.

At this point Mr. Good was interrupted of Representative Oldfield, Democrat, Arkansas, who said he feared the Republican party would impose a sales tax to take the place of the one it wanted to repeal.

"The party that is so foolish as to place a sales tax on the backs and bellies of the American people," Mr. Good replied, "would go down to a humiliating defeat because the people of the country would not stand for it."

By demanding the same tax on the tobacco industry that Great Britain collects, Mr. Good said treasury receipts from this commodity would jump from $300,000,000 to $500,000,000 a year. He also advocated a higher tax on passenger carrying automobiles, figuring on a revenue from this source of about $200,000,000, half of which should go, he thought, to the roads being used almost exclusively by such vehicles.

30 MARINES RAID EDITOR'S OFFICE AND WRECK IT

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Feb. 9.—Thirty American marines raided the offices of the newspaper Tribuna today, destroying the presses and wrecking things generally. It is declared the Tribuna had published defamatory statements about some of the marines.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—The navy department had not been advised tonight of the raid conducted by thirty American marines on the offices of the newspaper Tribuna at Managua, Nicaragua.

VALIANT CAPTOR OF "SONNY" DUNN WINS HERO PRIZE

Deputy Gnewuch Gets Tribune $100 Award.

THE TRIBUNE awards its $100 hero prize for January, 1921, to the man who arrested William "Sonny" Dunn after the entire police force had searched for the gangster for a year. The man is Deputy Sheriff Otto Gnewuch.

On Jan. 2, while at dinner, Gnewuch received a tip that Dunn was attending a cockfight at Ed Hanrahan's place at The Sag, on Archer road.

He hastily attempted to gather a posse, but after an hour's search could muster only three assistants—Deputies J. Charles Hackland, Charles E. Singer, and J. W. De Noria—a total "army" of four—to enter what is known as the "hardest" section of the county in an attempt to capture a notorious gunman guarded by dozens of friends. But Gnewuch led his "host" in and jailed Dunn.

"The Battle of a Year."

"I arrest you in the name of the sheriff of Cook county," Gnewuch said to Dunn on locating him. The gunman's guards were on their feet in an instant, revolvers drawn, only to be confronted by the weapons of Gnewuch's aids, who "got there" first. De Noria tore Dunn's gun from the latter's hands. The gangsters then rushed the stairway to the balcony overlooking the cockfight, but Gnewuch and his men fought their way through the crowd, hurled "Sonny" into an automobile, and "ran for it" with the gangsters in pursuit.

Sheriff Charles W. Peters and his chief deputy, H. C. L. Laubenheimer, agreed in their recommendation to THE TRIBUNE that the work of Gnewuch and his men "is the outstanding feat of the sheriff's office in the last twelve months."

Sheriff Urges Award.

In his letter of recommendation Sheriff Peters said:

"For this conspicuous act of bravery on the part of Otto Gnewuch I believe he is entitled to THE TRIBUNE award. He faced all manner of odds, he averted what might have been a score of deaths, and the capture the man for whom the police had looked in vain for a year."

This newspaper awards a cash prize of $100 each month to the fireman, policeman, deputy sheriff or life saver who performs the most praiseworthy deed during the month. Though the monthly prize has been given for nearly a year, it remained for Gnewuch to break into the solid record of the police department, which had taken the prize every month since the inception of the award plan.

THE TRIBUNE awards honorable mention to the following policemen for acts of bravery during January:

Sergts. Grady, Stapleton, Boschulte, Jensen, Ryan, Devito and Baynes—For the arrest of "Eddie" Morris, slayer of Patrolman John Mullen, in a stack of cornstalks a mile west of Beverly Gardens.

Patrolman John J. McCarthy—For frustrating an attempted holdup on the night of Jan. 22, and arresting Patrick Howe, an ex-convict and a fugitive from justice, after a hand to hand struggle.

Patrolman Andrew F. Creagh—For his brave battle against four holdup men who attempted to steal the $5,500 payroll of the Henry O. Shepard company on the morning of Jan. 22. Though kicked, beaten and twice wounded, Creagh fought off the bandits and saved the payroll.

Nabs Pair of Gunmen.

Patrolman John H. Bush—For arresting single handed two armed gunmen who robbed the saloon of Simons & Chaches, 10500 Indiana avenue on the night of Jan. 26.

Patrolman William Anderson—For the arrest of Edward "Greasy" Freiling, Frank Kurowski and Joseph Wozniak, after they are alleged to have "stuck up" a saloon. The arrests solved six robberies and broke up a notorious gang of bandits, in the belief of Capt. P. J. Harding of Shakespeare avenue.

JOHN D. HAS MADE $1,500,000,000, TAX EXPERTS FIGURE

Paid Biggest Income Levy for 1918.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—Who is the richest person in the United States and what is his fortune?

The answer to the first part of this question is, of course, John D. Rockefeller; the answer to the second part, deducible from income tax statistics, is that the fortune on the income of which he was taxed in 1918 was about $650,000,000; or, reckoning in securities, the tax on the income of which is exempt, his total wealth in that year was probably between $800,000,000 and $1,000,000,000, and at the present time is perhaps not much short of the latter figure.

As his known benefactions amount to about $500,000,000, Mr. Rockefeller has, in the space of one lifetime, accumulated about $1,500,000,000.

The richest woman undoubtedly is Mrs. E. H. Harriman, widow and inheritor of nearly all her husband's fortune. The statistics of the internal revenue bureau show that some woman, listed as "single," paid taxes for 1918 on an income of from $4,000,000 to $5,000,000. Her residence is given in other tables as New York state.

As for Mr. Rockefeller, the figures show roughly that he paid income tax for 1918 on a net income somewhere between $20,000,000 and $25,000,000, probably about $22,000,000. His income tax was said to be between 13 and 14 millions.

WAUKEGAN PUT IN BEAUTY LISTS BY MAYOR'S EDICT

Mayor J. F. Bidinger, bachelor-mayor of Waukegan, yesterday issued a proclamation to "the beauties of Waukegan" to send their pictures to THE TRIBUNE beauty contest editor. Mayor Bidinger said he was confident the pulchritude of Waukegan exceeded that of other communities.

'No Beer, No Work,' Sign Startles Northwestern 'U'

"Women's Christian Temperance Union, No Beer No Work, We Want Whisky."

This legend was seen yesterday by early classgoers at Northwestern university adorning the highest gable of University hall. It was removed by workmen. The authorities believe that the sign was hung by initiates of one of the college fraternities.

Wife, Gossips Called 'Vamp', Kills Herself

Gossiping tongues and a reprimand from a woman who had accused her of attempt to "vamp" her husband drove pretty Mrs. Louise Marie Buckingham, 25 years old, to suicide yesterday.

Mrs. Buckingham turned on the gas in the kitchen of her home at 11627 Lafayette avenue and in the presence of her two small children, who were playing on the floor, placed a rubber tube in her mouth.

When the police of the Kensington station arrived they found the mother dead and the two children unconscious. The children, June, 4, and Arthur, 2 years old, were revived when they were taken into the fresh air. For two hours the police tried to revive Mrs. Buckingham.

Husband Consoled Her.

For months, the police say, Mrs. Buckingham has been the choice bit of gossip in the neighborhood. Once before she is said to have threatened to take her life, after complaining to her husband, Clarence.

The husband consoled his wife and told her to "forget the matter." The tongues continued to wag. She told friends that the stories were without foundation and the other women were "jealous."

Mrs. John E. Woodman, 407 West One Hundred and Fifteenth street, was visiting her sister-in-law, Mrs. Victoria Johnson, who occupies the apartment above Mrs. Buckingham. Before leaving, Mrs. Woodman paid a visit to Mrs. Buckingham, according to the police.

Warned by Irate Wife.

"I want you to leave my husband alone," she warned. "There will be trouble if you don't."

"But all he does is to speak to me when he comes from a visit to his sister," said Mrs. Buckingham.

Mrs. Woodman repeated her warning. Then she left.

A short time later Mrs. Johnson smelled gas. She traced it to the door of Mrs. Buckingham's flat. When she knocked there was no response. She appealed to Albert Angelo, 11584 Lafayette avenue, and William R. Smith, 11624 Lafayette avenue. They managed to gain entrance to the apartment.

Fumes Filled Room.

Mrs. Buckingham was lying on the kitchen floor. The hose attached to the gas jet had slipped from her mouth and the fumes had filled the room.

The two children were near their mother.

When seen last night Mr. Buckingham refused to make any comment on his wife's death.

"We cannot bring her back, so we won't talk about it," he said.

AL JENNINGS IN A FRESH HOLDUP —AS THE VICTIM

New York, Feb. 9.—Al Jennings, reformed train robber and bandit, admitted today he had been victimized here by "an inconsiderate, discourteous" member of his forsaken profession.

Returning to his hotel from Brooklyn, Jennings was accosted by a shabby individual and found himself at the unfamiliar end of a "six gun." He obeyed with celerity the usual "Hands up!" command, then sought immunity by divulging his identity.

"O, come on now," he pleaded in a friendly manner, "I'm Al Jennings."

"Never mind the guff," returned the other, lifting a jewel and a roll of bills from Jennings' pocket. "I'm President Wilson."

"There now, I'm leaving you a dime—beat it!"

Jennings did.

Andrew A. Leuer Killed by Train in Glencoe

Andrew A. Leuer of 620 Prairie avenue, Wilmette, was killed by a Chicago and Northwestern train in the north shore suburb last night. No witnesses to the accident could be found. Leuer's body was found by a railroad employé near the right of way 200 feet north of the Central avenue grade crossing. Both legs had been severed and money and papers scattered along the tracks gave evidence the body had been carried more than 100 feet.

Two Day Coast to Coast Mail Service Is Assured

New York, Feb. 9.—[Special.]—Aero mail from Los Angeles to New York in two days is an assured fact, Maurice Cleary, directing governor of the Aero Club of America, announced tonight. Mr. Cleary said a letter mailed in Los Angeles had been delivered here less than fifty hours later by the airplane service.

DAIRY PLANT AND FLATS ARE BLAST TARGETS

Glass Is Blown in Man's Eye.

A man and a woman were seriously injured last night, climaxing a day marked by two dynamite bomb outrages and other acts of vandalism perpetrated in connection with labor warfare.

Meanwhile, federal and state officials took action to stamp out the campaign of violence.

Victor Kalosah of 1832 West Twenty-first street and his wife, Clara, were walking past the plant of the Douglas Dairy company at 2254 South Troy street when an infernal machine exploded. The company has been involved in a dispute with the milk drivers' union.

Woman Suffers Shell Shock.

Splinters of glass were blown into one of Kalosah's eyes, the sight of which, doctors said, he would probably lose. His wife suffered shell shock such as was experienced by soldiers in the trenches, and was removed to her home in a nervous collapse.

At the Pruess apartments, 2516-26 Kedzie boulevard, a dynamite bomb was directed at the janitor, who is a nonunion man. This is the second time the building has been bombed, according to Mrs. Emily Nachtsheim, the owner. She said the janitors' union has threatened her since she forced them through court proceedings to abandon the "siege" which they had imposed on the building last December.

$10,000 Damage to Organ.

Earlier in the day Lubliner & Trinz, owners of the Senate moving picture theater at Madison street and Kedzie avenue, reported to the police that unidentified vandals had done $40,000 worth of damage to their theater organ.

And an incident was added to the campaign of "odor bombing" when one of the missiles was exploded in a loop department store, driving shoppers and clerks to the street. Clerks saw a woman about 35 years old running from the store.

Family Hurled from Beds.

The bomb was hurled at the Pruess apartment building about 10 o'clock, just as the janitor, Charles Agnes, was preparing to retire. Mrs. Agnes, who has been sick for several days, was already in bed and the three children, Charles, 6 years, Frank, 4 years, and Lorraine, 15 months old, were asleep.

The bomb tore out the entrance to the janitor's quarters. The porch, which is three stories high, was partly demolished and all the windows in the building were broken.

The janitor and his family were hurled from their beds. When Policeman Daniel Young, who was across the street, ran to the rear of the building he found the door had been blown in.

Janitor Ready with Pistol.

The janitor was standing at the door with a revolver, ready to shoot.

The policeman barely missed the three men, who ran away after they planted the bomb.

The trio had parked their automobile at Altgeld street and Sawyer avenue. When they leaped into the car they sped north in Sawyer for a block and then turned west.

Mrs. Nachtsheim, who occupies the apartment at 2526 Kedzie boulevard, told last night of the trouble she had had since Dec. 1, when she discharged a union janitor, Frank Wesley.

Ordered to Take Man Back.

"The union served notice on me that I would have to take the man back," said Mrs. Nachtsheim. "But I refused to do this and hired a colored man, who had worked for me two years. His name was Thomas Williams. He was a union man. He only worked two days and then came and told me that the union had decreed that he give up the job. He then left.

"The union then established a picket system, and the picket refuses to allow any union man to deliver milk, groceries, or other supplies to the tenants.

"I had to have a relative of mine help me out. He fired the furnaces, and aided the best he could, but he could only give a part of his time to the work.

First Bomb Thrown Dec. 17.

"Then, on Dec. 17, the first bomb was thrown. It was hurled into the courtyard of the building, and shattered all the windows. Beyond this the damage was not great. The tenants, of course, were frightened to death.

"The business agent of the union, Robert Osterburg, 2204 Kimball avenue, called on me and told me that I would have to pay $700, which he said was for the picket's salary and to make up the loss suffered by the union men who could not deliver at my place.

"Another time he had tried to make me pay $800, when I had a nonunion man carry away the ashes and garbage. I was indignant at his methods and told him I would not pay a cent."

Obtains an Injunctions.

Mrs. Nachtsheim went before Judge Denis Sullivan and obtained an injunction which restrained the union from picketing her place. She then employed Agnes through the Employers' association.

Agnes has been in the habit, she said, of walking around the building every night, with his revolver drawn, on the lookout for some of the union men.

Gertrude Nachtsheim, who, like her mother, had been a defiant figure in the war, also carries a small gun, she said, and is prepared to stand beside Mrs. Nachtsheim to the last. The two women live alone in the apartment.

The police could find no witnesses to the second bomb explosion last night. Several persons told of seeing a "mysterious automobile" touring the vicinity a short time before, but no one actually saw the bomb thrown.

Told to Hire Unionists.

Frank J. Ruszkowski, president of the Douglas Dairy company, 2254 South Troy street, said he had been approached several times by "Steve" Sumner, business agent for the milk drivers' union, and told he would have to put union drivers on his two trucks.

"Both times I have refused," he said. "The men who drive the wagons are stockholders in the company, and there is no reason why a man should join a union to run his own company. I told Sumner this.

"He informed me on one occasion that I owed the union $150 as back dues for the two drivers. I told him this was absurd."

The bomb wrecked the front of the building and shattered windows in the vicinity.

Julian Pass, who lives above the dairy store, was thrown from his bed, as was his wife

HUNT ODOR BOMBERS

Federal authorities took a hand yesterday in hunting down the alleged extortion ring charged with scattering "odor bombs" and destroying property in a number of Chicago motion picture theaters.

Acting District Attorney James E. Glass announced he will go thoroughly into the provisions of the Clayton act, a statute dealing with operations in restraint of trade, and will begin an immediate campaign against the bomb throwers if it is proved that the new union contract requiring an "electrical maintenance" bill from each theater comes under federal jurisdiction.

According to members of the Allied Amusements association, vandals have wrecked property and set bombs only in theaters of those owners who have refused to sign the "shake down" contract. They say this contract calls for the payment of 5 cents per month per seat in all theaters for "electrical maintenance," a monthly total of $12,000. The contract provides that theater owners can call for electrical maintenance work from only one electric company, said to be the Fisher company, with offices in the loop.

Plans New Penalties for Bombers.

State's Attorney Crowe assigned Assistant State's Attorney Charles C. Roe to prepare a bill for presentation to the legislature providing severe punishment for bomb outrages perpetrated by feudists, labor agitators, and race offenders. Attorney Charles H. Mitchell, acting on the prosecutor's suggestion, has prepared an act imposing from five years to life in the penitentiary for bomb throwers. The bill will be introduced by Representative A. H. Roberts.

Chief Investigator Ben Newmark began a search last night for Carl O'Brien, 5326 South Union avenue. O'Brien, also known as Ed Murphy, who said he is an electrical worker, was picked up by the Englewood police Jan. 23 in connection with the stench bomb campaign. A bottle filled with an odorous fluid was found in his possession, but he was freed on $800 bonds and his trial set for Feb. 16.

LABOR JURY DISAGREES

Judge John J. Sullivan discharged the jury yesterday when, after more than twenty-four hours' deliberation, it failed to reach a verdict against any one of the seven South Chicago labor leaders charged with extortion and promulgation of a "reign of terror" among merchants in 1919. A new trial was set for March 22.

The defendants were Mrs. Emma Porter Pipes, former business agent for the South Chicago Waitresses' union; Theodore Vind, president of the South Chicago Trade and Labor assembly; Stanley Walczak, former business agent for the Meat Cutters' union; Edward J. Boatman and Orville K. Blevins, former business agents for the Teamsters' union; F. J. Amboraki, former president of the Butchers' Workmen union, and Gustav Woerth, former business agent for the Bartenders' union and organizer of the clerks' union.

$1,500,000,000 FOR ROADS; 1921 TO BEAT RECORD

Illinois May Seize Plant to Make Cement.

BY MORROW KRUM.

Confident in the possession of $1,500,000,000 now available from all sources for the building of good roads, the delegates to the eleventh annual National Good Roads congress assembled in Medinah temple last night and shouted their approval of Michael J. Faherty's statement that "1921 will be the greatest road building year of history." Mr. Faherty, president of the board of local improvements, is also president of the American Road Builders' association.

In a telegram to the convention President Elect Harding declared himself an earnest advocate of better thoroughfares.

"Good roads must supplement railroads and waterways if the development of the transportation system is to be complete," said the message.

"Pull Illinois Out of Mud."

Mayor Thompson in addressing the meeting asserted that material prices were on the decline, that the coming year will see close coöperation between city, county, state, and federal highway commissioners, and this state will especially benefit because "Gov. Small will pull Illinois out of the mud."

"Actions speak louder than words," said the mayor. "I may refer you to the remarkable record of pavement made made in Chicago. During the rule of the present administration we have constructed sufficient pavement in Chicago to build two long roads up and down Illinois and two more across the state.

"Go on with your program. Build more roads. Build roads that will be really good. The city officials of Chicago will give you all the coöperation you want."

Blames Material Men.

Mr. Faherty, who made the opening address, asserted the materials men were to blame for the present high prices of good roads.

"I have proof that it costs but 57 cents to make a barrel of cement," he said. "We have had to pay as much as $4 a barrel in the months just passed. I believe that the contractors are blameless—the trouble lies with the cement manufacturers.

"I believe that the law makes it possible so I am going to ask that Gov. Small condemn one of the largest cement manufacturing plants in the state and take it over for state use. Then we won't have to pay the extremely high prices of the last two years, and we will have cement roads that contain cement.

Will Pave 200 Miles in 1921.

"Chicago is doing things. We will pave over 200 miles of streets in Chicago during the coming year. We are widening streets, too. Right now we are starting on a job that will see sixty-six miles of buildings torn down and the streets widened. Sixty-six miles—why, that's as much tearing down as the Germans did in France."

The official opening of the convention came yesterday morning, when Thomas H. MacDonald, chief of the federal bureau of public roads, took up the gavel in the convention hall, Coliseum annex.

Use of Roads Jumps 1,000 Pct.

"The use of our highways has increased from 500 to 1,000 per cent during the last five years," Mr. MacDonald said. "The development of the motor truck has been so rapid that the adaptation of this vehicle to the roadways over which it operates has been seriously neglected.

"After all, the motor truck is the determining factor in the cost and building of roads and a problem that is national in its scope is that of an early agreement between road builders and road users as to the maximum load to be carried.

"However, be of good cheer. The $1,500,000,000 now available in the United States for road building will do much to relieve the present unemployment and will spread miles and miles of smiles over the faces of the users of the motor truck and the passenger automobile."

"Poor Roads Mean Illiteracy."

Where the flivver flounders hub deep in the mud—where the roads are such as to bring deep frowns to the faces of motorists—there you will find a great lack of education and wholesale illiteracy, according to Prof. C. J. Tilden, national director of highways, Washington, D. C., who addressed the meeting.

The registration lists at the Coliseum yesterday reached the 10,000 mark, according to the manager of the show. Each state, many of the counties, and more than thirty-five of the larger cities have sent their highway commissioners and numerous other delegates. The United States government and the army have sent many representatives.

Hold Road Roller Contest.

At 10:30 o'clock this morning a road roller contest will be held under the auspices of the congress in One Hundred and Fifty-fifth street, near the Illinois Central suburban station.

The contest will consist of two or more races for various types of road rollers, some propelled by motors and others by steam. A power test will be conducted by a tug-of-war. For some time the road roller representatives have argued pro and con as to whether or not steam or gasoline gave the most power. The question will be settled by placing a steam and a gasoline motored roller end to end and letting each pull.

A trip through the Coliseum and the Coliseum Annex furnishes a picture of what goes to make up a good road. There on exhibition one finds everything needed to build a road—everything from the huge concrete mixers weighing tons down to the tiny instruments used by surveyors.

HALF a dozen fragments might have been taken from a rainbow to form the streets of the miniature shopping district—"Dans Le Boul Miche"—at the spring and summer fashion show which opened last night in the First Infantry armory, Sixteenth street and Michigan avenue. The rows of little shops, the artistic creation of Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, formed a brilliant setting, with their blues, greens, reds, and brilliant orange, accentuated by strips of black, for more than 100 of the prettiest models in the middle west as they paraded before the spectators.

Led by Robert Clifton Long as "Father Time," the "battalion of beauty" wound around the galleries, down the runways, and across the stage. Among the most interested of the spectators were the society women who are to act as models on Saturday night—"society night." The proceeds of the show on this night will go to the Illinois Home and Aid society, of which Mrs. Potter Palmer is head.

During the day those who will take part in Saturday night's parade were given instructions by a professional model in the art of displaying gowns to the best advantage and in acquiring the "models' glide."

Mrs. John Borden, in charge of arrangements for society night, completed her list of debutantes and young matrons who will take part. They are: Mrs. Chauncey Blair, Mrs. John W. Root, Miss Theresa Higginson, Mrs. William Mitchell Jr., Mrs. Leander McCormick, Mrs. James Forgan Jr., Mrs. De Forest Hilburd, Mrs. Donald Forgan, Mrs. William Clow, Mrs. Perry Shepard, Mrs. Loring Coleman, Mrs. Robert Van Dusen, Miss Marion Strobel, Miss Elizabeth Prindiville, Miss Frances Taft, Miss Dorothy Keeley, Miss Anita Dunn, Miss Beatrix Thorne, Miss Theodora Winterbotham, Miss Polly Walker, Miss Katherine Strawn, Miss Martha Granger, Miss Eleanor Holden, Miss Margaret Hambleton, Miss Clara Hollis, Miss Lucretia Green, Miss Mary Rend, Miss Dorothy Spencer-Brown, Miss Marion Farnsworth, Miss Isabella Robbins, Mrs. Knowlton Ames Jr., Mrs. Lawrence Houghteling, and Miss Edson Manierre.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 9.—Lord Robert Cecil has accepted the chairmanship of the group of members of parliament favoring economy.

This action means the organization of a new opposition party, with Lord Robert at its head, at the opening of parliament next weeek.

The new party is expected to include many young Tories, most of the old Liberals, some conservative laborites, and a few independents, mustering, in all, nearly 300 votes.

Lord Robert Cecil is an able an energetic leader who has been mentioned for some time as a posible successor to Mr. Lloyd George as prime minister. He is friendly to America, has liberal views regarding Ireland, is opposed to imposing impossible terms upon Germany, and is familiar with foreign affairs, having served in the foreign office during the war.

$100 A PLATE DINNER TO AID SUFFERING IRISH

Senator David I. Walsh Will Speak.

A banquet at which every one present will pay $100 a plate, the entire proceeds to be used for food, clothing and shelter for women and children in Ireland, was decided upon last night at a meeting of business, professional and organization leaders who comprise the Illinois organization of the American Committee for Relief of Ireland. It will be the first event through which a substantial sum of money for Ireland's relief will be quickly secured.

According to D. F. Bremner Jr., chairman of the banquet committee, it will be held in the Congress hotel at 6:30 p. m. Saturday, Feb. 19. Edward Hines, chairman of the committee on speakers, announced that United States Senator David I. Walsh of Massachusetts will be the principal speaker and will deliver a key note message in connection with the conditions and relief needs in Ireland.

Dinner to Be Donated.

By special arrangements through the executive committee, consisting of D. F. Kelly, George M. Reynolds, Joseph F. Connery, Edward F. Carry, D. F. Bremner Jr., William J. Carney, Joseph W. Cremin, H. J. Cassady, Richmond Dean, Edward Hines, Thomas Kearney, Francis J. Lewis and Robert M. Sweitzer, with the honorary committee of sponsors composed of Archbishop George W. Mundelein, United States Senator Medill McCormick, Mayor William Hale Thompson, Roy D. Keehn, Levy Mayer, Maj. A. A. Sprague, William A. Tilden, B. E. Sunny, Frederick W. Upham, Frederick H. Rawson and Stuyvesant Peabody, the cost of the dinner will be defrayed by private donations and arrangement so that the entire sum of $100 per plate for every person in attendance will be immediately forwarded to Ireland.

Quakers to Spend Money.

In deciding upon the $100 per plate dinner the relief organization for Ireland also announced that all of the money secured through the dinner will be entrusted for distribution in Ireland to the needy and suffering into the hands of the American Quakers commission at work upon relief in Ireland at this time.

LEGION OF SPIES WILL FAIL, IRISH CHIEFTAINS SAY

Sinn Fein Makes Light of British Plan.

BY JOHN LESTER.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.]

DUBLIN, Feb. 9.—Gen. Macready's "legion of spies" is destined to be a flat failure in the opinion of leading Sinn Feiners, who are ridiculing what they term a reversion to "press gang" tactics.

Several new "platoons" of Irish citizens were assembled by crown forces today, allotted to certain districts near Cork, given dates and then were told that if any ambushes occurred in their districts the men whose dates corresponded with the date of the ambush must furnish "necessary information" or be interned.

It was declared today that such attempts by the British to obtain information were doomed to failure and Freeman's Journal said today:

"Precedents for such acts must be sought among Asiatic or African despotisms and not in the history of civilized states. There is not the least likelihood of the military receiving any information in this way."

Two Sinn Feiners Slain.

Two Sinn Feiners, Ald. Thomas Halpin and John Moran of Drogheda, were taken from their beds late last night by armed forces and were carried off to a lonely spot by the river Boyne where their bodies were found this morning. Crowds visited the scene later in the day and recited the rosary led by Halpin's aged father.

Masked members of crown forces visited the homes of a number of Sinn Feiners in Westport last night and beat several youths severely during a search for arms.

Raids in Dublin.

Frederick Newsom, who was wounded two months ago when an attempt to kidnap him failed, was shot and killed last night near his home in Enniscarthy by a group of unidentified men.

There were several raids in Dublin today and two men were arrested in the street. One carried a parcel containing eight bombs and the other was armed with pistols.

SLAY IRISH JUSTICE.

CORK, Feb. 9.—The body of of Alfred Reilly, justice of the peace and managing director of a bakery and confectionery firm, was found tonight near his home at Fooglas, County Cork. He was shot. Attached to the body was a card bearing the inscription: "Spy, by order of the Irish republican army! Take warning!"

Rail Men May Strike.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—A railway strike as protest against the shooting by the police of railway men at Mallow, County Cork, Ireland, on Jan. 31, seems a possibility as a result of a meeting of the Locomotive Engineers' and Firemen's union executive at Leeds today.

MISS ROSENTHAL, GOLFER, OFFERED ROLE IN MOVIES

Palm Beach, Fla., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—Elaine V. Rosenthal of Chicago, famous woman golfer, has a chance to change her vocation if she accepts an offer made by F. Ray Comstock, noted New York theatrical producer.

Resting after a round of golf at the Palm Beach club this afternoon, Miss Rosenthal, in conversation with Mr. Comstock, made the remark that she wished she had a profession. Mr. Comstock replied he had under consideration a new production named "Home in Par," which was founded upon a golf match, and offered her the leading part.

As Miss Rosenthal is considering a trip to Scotland, where she will play in the British women's open at Turnberry in the early summer, the offer was taken under consideration.

POWERS AT ODDS OVER IMMINENCE OF RUSS DRIVE

U. S. Expert Thinks Red Attack Unlikely.

BY JOHN CLAYTON.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.]

BERLIN, Feb. 9.—Walter Lyman Brown, director of American Relief association work in Europe, returned today from a tour of all stations under his direction with conflicting reports regarding the heralded Russian drive next spring.

"It all depends on where you get it," he replied when asked regarding prospects for such a drive. "In Hungary I was told the spring offensive was certain. The Czecho-Slovaks think not. Poland is nervous; Latvia is sure the Russians will attack. Esthonia denies that this is possible.

Western Opinion at Odds.

"In western Europe it is much the same. French diplomats regard the offensive to be as good as started, while the British feel that it is highly improbable the bolshevists will attack.

"Personally, I am skeptical. I scarcely believe the Russians will dare to undertake an attack which would lose their cause the support of the workers of western Europe."

Present plans of the American Relief association call for great expansion of its work in feeding the starving children of Europe, which will be continued until the harvest in August.

Increase Scope of Work.

"We have decided to increase the number of children fed in Austria from 300,000 to 400,000, and in Czechoslovakia from 100,000 to 200,000. In other nations we will feed in Hungary 50,000, chiefly in Budapest; in the Baltic provinces, 100,000, and in Poland 1,300,000 children.

CHAMBER VOTES O. K. FOR PREMIER AND REPARATIONS

Briand Demanded Proof of Confidence; Wins.

PARIS, Feb. 9.—[By the Associated Press.]—The chamber of deputies tonight gave a vote of confidence to the government, demanded by Premier Briand as a condition of his going to the London conference. The vote was 337 to 125.

This, however, was only after four days' strenuous debate on the reparations agreement, which was subjected to detailed and trenchant criticism by almost a score of speakers, particularly M. Klotz and M. Tardieu.

The agreement was ratified by a vote of 395 to 82, although many of the deputies abstained from voting.

Tiger's Friends Object.

Two members of the former Clemenceau administration objected to the Paris agreement because "it was an annex or protocol to the Versailles treaty," which permitted the reduction of what was due to France, without her receiving any equivalent compensation.

M. Klotz quoted figures to support his argument and considered that his speech was responsible for fifty or sixty abstentions, which reduced the ministry's majority. That majority, however, was never for a moment in doubt, although the session was stormy.

M. Briand, in his closing remarks, expressed regret that America, which had given so many proofs of its cordiality to France, was not present in the allied councils, but he recognized that a change of administrations was a long and important operation.

Stern Warning to Berlin.

When the chamber resumed its sitting after dinner, the premier announced that unless he obtained a vote of confidence he would resign. He ended the long debate by declaring:

"The fate of Germany lies in her own hands. Should she, after May 1, 1921, refuse to fulfill her pledges the French government can be relied upon to take all measures to make her."

WIDER MICHIGAN AVENUE VOTED BY PARK BOARD

Improvements, including the widening of Michigan avenue north from Pearson street to Oak street, the widening of Lake Shore drive from Belleview place to North avenue, the widening of the drive in Lincoln park to Grant's monument, and the building of a pedestrian subway under Michigan avenue at Walton place were voted by the Lincoln park commissioners yesterday.

Plans and specifications have been ordered and bids for the work will be open in a few days. The total cost of the improvements is expected to be more than $200,000.

"Michigan avenue from Pearson to Oak streets is now only forty-five feet wide," John C. Cannon, superintendent of Lincoln park, said. "It will be widened to seventy-five or seventy-eight feet.

"The pedestrian subway has been needed since the building of the Drake hotel and other large structures east of the avenue.

"To make the improvements several hundred trees will have to be moved and the parkway on either side of the avenue cut down. They will also force the changing of the lighting system in the park. Wires and poles will have to be moved."

FRENCH STILL FEAR GERMANY, HINDENBURG SAYS

BREMEN, Feb. 9.—Field Marshal von Hindenburg, in an interview here today, declared the French were "hankering" for the Ruhr region. He said the military leaders of France were unable to rid themselves of their fear of Germany, "doubtless owing to France's decreased population."

The Americans, the field marshal said, had altered their previously hostile opinions about Germany. He added that bolshevism in East Prussia was losing ground. Von Hindenburg came here to speak at the christening of the cargo steamer Hindenburg.

HOW THEY TRAIN PRESIDENTS ELECT IN FLORIDA

FEELING BULLY, HARDING AGAIN TAKES UP WORK

Daily Golf Is Part of Program.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

St. Augustine, Fla., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—President Elect Harding returned to St. Augustine tonight and to work.

"Have you done any work on cabinet or inaugural address during the eighteen days on the house boat?" he was asked tonight.

"Not a stroke," he said, adding he had no more ideas about the cabinet than when he left Marion.

As to John Hays Hammond.

Asked whether John Hays Hammond was considered, he replied:

"Mr. Hammond has been urged for secretary of the interior."

Mr. Harding will begin a regular routine of work and play tomorrow, working on mail and his inaugural address in the mornings and playing golf in the afternoons.

"We came to Daytona this morning with flying colors," he said, speaking of pulling the houseboat Victoria off the sand bars of Mosquito Bend.

Feels Much Better.

"We have had a bully time," he added, "and the trip was worth $100,000 to Senator Cummins. He is a new man. I am in tremendously better shape than when I left Marion."

While in St. Augustine Mr. Harding will talk with John Barrett, an expert on Latin-America; with Senator Phipps of Colorado, with Henry A. Wise-Wood of New York, an advocate of preparedness and a friend of Theodore Roosevelt; Senator Wadsworth of New York, and Mayor William Hale Thompson of Chicago.

Arthur Brisbane is expected in a day or so. Mrs. Harding will arrive in a few days.

Americans Will Raise $10,240,000 for the Irish

New York, Feb. 9.—[Special.]—The American committee for relief in Ireland announced tonight that it had decided to raise $10,240,000 "to relieve the acute distress among scores of thousands of destitute and homeless people in Ireland." Continued devastation in Ireland, according to an appeal signed by members of the executive committee, among them Cardinal Gibbons and Morgan J. O'Brien, ex-Supreme court justice, makes a drive imperative.

Many Killed in Fight of Italians and Croatians

ROME, Feb. 9.—Dispatches received here from Belgrade and London, report a conflict between carabineers and Croatian peasants in Dalmatia. About eleven of the carabineers and eight peasants were killed or wounded. Lack of an official report leads the Giornale D'Italia to say laxity in making reports causes the foreign press to "reserve only the calumnious versions from Jugo-Slav agencies." The paper blames Jugo-Slav agitators for the fight.

Japs Deny Gen. Semenoff Plans Coup in Siberia

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

TOKIO, Feb. 9.—It is reported from Vladivostok that Gen. Semenoff, one of the leaders of the anti-Red forces operating in Siberia, has declared himself again to be at the head of the Russian forces there and that the commander of the Japanese forces has cabled to Tokio asking instructions. The Japanese war office today denied having received such a dispatch and scouted the report, saying that Gen. Semenoff was living under Japanese protection somewhere near Port Arthur.

30 BRITISH ACES AGREE TO TRAIN JAPANESE FLYERS

Will Remain in Nippon Eighteen Months.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Feb. 9.—Within a few weeks a mission consisting of thirty of the ablest British naval and military aviators will leave for Japan for the purpose of training the personnel of the Japanese flying service and putting at the disposal of Japan all the experience in the air gained by the British forces during the war.

The mission will be headed by the Hon. William Francis Forbes-Sempill, son and heir to Lord Sempill, who is one of the most daring and successful of the British aviators, and is an aeronautical engineer of high techincal ability.

Has Pick of British Flyers.

The master of Sempill, as he is known, is taking thirty of the best young pilots from both the naval and military branches and for whom there is no employment now. He is also taking skilled mechanics and engineers with him, and the Japanese hope with this help to organize the greatest flying force in the world. His experience as an organizer in the naval air force, as well as in actual fighting, particularly fits him for the job.

It is declared that the ordinary members of the expedition have been promised $5,000 a year pay and employment for at least eighteen months. The mechanics will receive three or four times the English or American pay for their class of work. Special quarters, uniforms, and all equipment are provided.

Material Now on Way.

Large quantities of aviation material, bought in England and elsewehere in Europe, are already being shipped to Japan. Orders have been placed here for airship engines, as well as for complete machines, but it is planned to build the great part of the fuselages in Japan.

It should be understood that the British government has nothing to do, officially, with recruiting this force, but I am informed that high officers in the admiralty have been consulted informally and that they recommended the men best fitted for the job.

This is said to be no infraction of their duty nor is recruiting such a force of instructors a violation of neutrality. Before the war Germans trained the Japanese army and the Japs are now seeking the best air service instructors available.

The Japanese embassy admitted today that the engagements had been made.

WASHINGTON NEWS —IN BRIEF—

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 9.

The senate committee on immigration voted to reject the Johnson bill, passed by the house, suspending immigration for one year, and to take up the Dillingham bill limiting immigration to 5 per cent of each nationality already in the country.

The senate naval affairs committee today reported unfavorably the Borah resolution providing for a six months' naval holiday, supporting instead the policy of the general board of the navy calling for continuation of the building program until the American navy is the equal of any other power.

A request from Joseph P. Tumulty, made without the knowledge or authority of President Wilson, led to the reversal by the secretary of labor of the order deporting Donal O'Callaghan.

Manufacturers of straw hats, toys, watches, and other commodities sought protective duties at the general tariff revision hearings before the house ways and means committee.

An overexpenditure of $1,000,000 for prohibition enforcement during the last year was disclosed today by Representative Good of Iowa, chairman of the appropriations committee.

Chairman Good warned congress public will not stand for increased taxation.

Secretary Baker gives report on military strength of world's nations.

President Wilson will not only remain in Washington after March 4 but will continue to take an active interest in politics and national and international affairs.

Former service men are being kept in "indescribably filthy" private hospitals under conditions that are "terrible," according to Abel Davis of Chicago.

PARIS UNADVISED AS TO FIGHTING IN ASIA MINOR

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

PARIS, Feb. 9.—The French foreign office has not been advised as to the renewal of the Greek-Kemalist offensive, but it confirms reports of heavy concentration of troops in the neighborhood of Eskishehr.

It is pointed out that Greek policy requires inflicting a decisive defeat on the Turkish nationalists before the London conference on affairs in Asia Minor, at which the French threaten to agitate a revision of the Sevres treaty.

But King Constantine realizes that the failure of the next offensive would strengthen France's position on the grounds that Greece would not be capable of enforcing the Turkish treaty and therefore revision would be necessary.

The British are reported to have advised the Greeks to remain on the defensive, believing that the Greeks are not able to defeat the Kemalists.

FRANCE DEBATES DRASTIC STEP TO PREVENT CRASH

May Impose 25% Levy on Nation's Wealth.

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, Feb. 9.—A 25 per cent levy on capital is being considered by the French government as the sole means of extrication of the nation from its desperate financial situation, according to an editorial by Charles Maurras in the reactionary conservative newspaper, L'Action Francaise.

M. Maurras claims to have seen the draft of a plan providing:

First, compulsory stamping of all banknotes, the government retaining 25 per cent of the amount stamped.

Second, seizure of 25 per cent of the amount of all deposits in the banks, including credits.

Levy Would Hit Realty.

Third, confiscation of 25 per cent of the value of all property, buildings and land, the government taking mortgages covering 25 per cent of the holdings of small landowners, permitting them to make small annual payments.

Fourth, forcing stock companies to allot shares amounting to one-fourth of their capitalization to the state.

Fifth, enaction of special measures, still undecided upon, to obtain a levy from foreign credits.

To avert evasion, the proposed law probably would become effective within a week of passage, the writer says, and it is expected that 140,000,000,000 paper francs would be so realized.

Expect Vote Soon.

Francs held in America thus would lose 25 per cent of their value automatically, as they would be worthless until stamped and one-fourth of their value levied upon.

It is reported that a secret session of the chamber of deputies will be held very soon to vote on the project, owing to the desperate situation of finance. The French treasury must pay out more than sixty billion francs in the coming year, and the budget provides for only 23,000,000,000, the deficiency amounting to 37,000,000,000.

BAVARIA FACING INTERNAL CRISIS ON DISARMAMENT

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

BERLIN, Feb. 9.—The workers in northern Bavaria are threatening to secede from the control of the Munich government unless Minister President von Kahr resigns or else backs down from his position regarding disarmament. Von Kahr has been opposed to the Bavarian Orgesch and Einwohnerwehr being disarmed.

The cabinet after a long session separated to discuss the problem with party leaders. Von Kahr has not resigned, nor has the cabinet found a way out of its difficulty. A semi-official statement has been made to the effect that Bavaria is not ready yet to agree to disarmament. The opposition of the majority of Socialists to the Bavarian government's attitude may provide a solution for the vexing problem.

BRITAIN DENIES SEEING DANGER OF WAR WITH U. S.

"Interview" with Geddes Formally Repudiated.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Feb. 9.—The British foreign office today issued the following official statement:

"A statement regarding Anglo-American relations quoted in the English press this morning as having appeared in certain American papers was made without the authority or knowledge of the foreign office, and does not in any way represent the views of the foreign office upon the present or future state of relations between the two countries.

"On the contrary, the foreign office is confident that any question arising between Great Britain and the United States can and will be settled without difficulty, whether with the existing or with the succeeding administration."

I was present at the interview at which Ambassador Geddes is alleged to have stated the United States and Great Britain were drifting toward war.

He never used the language attributed to him in this connection.

FORMAL DENIAL BY BRITISH.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—By direction of his government, Leslie Craigie, British chargé here, called today on Secretary Colby at the state department formally to deny published reports that officials of the British foreign office had told American newspaper correspondents in London that Great Britain and America were treading the path leading to war.

The United Press, the news service that carried the reported remark of a British diplomat that "England and the United States might drift into war," last night reiterated that its quotation was accurate and that the official thus quoted "read the United Press dispatches of Tuesday and confirmed their accuracy."

3 POWERS TRY TO BAR U. S. RADIO OUT OF CHINA

PEKING, Feb. 9.—Premier Chun Yun-Peng under pressure of the British legation here is seriously considering a proposal to cancel the contract of the American Federal company for the construction of a wireless plant in Shanghai. The British allege it violates a contract giving the Marconi company a monopoly on wireless construction in China.

Charles R. Crane, American minister to China, through Dr. W. W. Yen, the foreign minister, has suggested that cancellation be deferred, pending negotiations between Washington and the British government.

Japan also is protesting, as has Denmark.

SENATE REFUSES TO DISARM U. S. IN ARMED WORLD

Committee Fights Borah's Naval Recess Plan.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—The senate naval affairs committee, in its report today against the Borah resolution for a six months' naval holiday, squarely backed the general board's policy calling for continued building until the American navy equals that of any other power in the world.

It upheld the contention of the general board of the navy that the capital ship is not obsolete and declared that "it is not practical and is not a sound policy to suspend the naval construction program for a period of six months nor at all."

Eliminate Eighteen Light Vessels.

The committee recommended that twelve destroyers and six submarines, authorized in 1916 but not yet contracted for, be eliminated from the building program. These eighteen ships were expected to cost the government about $55,000,000. The committee suggested the use of this amount for the construction of two airplane carriers of the most modern type and of the most advantageous size.

Senator Poindexter of Washington, Republican, presented the report to the senate. A minority report probably will be filed tomorrow by Senator King of Utah. Senator Borah of Idaho, author of the resolution which brought forth the report, plans now to carry his fight to the floor of the senate in the hope of upsetting the finding of the naval committee.

Must Protect U. S.

"The members of the committee are as anxious to bring about a reduction of armaments and relief from the burdens which these armaments impose upon the nations of the earth as any one can be, but no disarmament would be of any value unless it was general and in the case of the great maritime powers universal," the report said. "Unhappily this is not the case at the present time and we must deal with conditions as they exist.

"For one nation to leave itself exposed to attack while another is preparing all the engines of war would be not only folly, but the greatest danger to the peace of the world that could be imagined. We earnestly hope that an agreement may be reached among the nations for a general reduction of armaments, but at the present moment universal disarmament has not been established and the United States cannot leave itself undefended if it is threatened from any quarter. To do so would be wrong to the American people and no service to the cause of peace."

Effect on Organization.

Without naming any particular power the committee made it clear that it was of the opinion that the Borah resolution would result in large benefit to Great Britain and Japan. It pointed out that any suspension of building would cost the government large sums of money, estimated at from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000, through deterioration of material and dislocation of contracts. Furthermore, it declared:

"Large numbers of workmen would be thrown out of employment, with consequent distress to themselves and their families, compelling them to seek other employment, and rendering difficult or impossible the reassembling of these forces should work upon the ships be resumed. Any such result would give an immense advantage to such other powers as would continue uninterrupted the construction of their fleets or those already supplied with superior naval power."

Capital Ship Approved.

Approving the policy set forth by the navy board in its letter of Feb. 2, the committee said:

"The value and importance of submarines, aircraft, and high explosives are admitted, and the committee recommends that the scientific study and development of all of these means of naval warfare be actively continued.

"Depth bombs, mines, aerial torpedoes, and high explosive shells fired from great guns, whether of the howitzer or other types, are all important agencies of attack and defense at sea, and intensive study of their potential uses should be continued with a view of utilizing them to the greatest possible advantage.

"If we assume, however, a naval power armed with all these devices and with destroyers and swift light cruisers, but with no battleship or battle cruiser, and an enemy power equipped with all these and with battleships and battle cruisers in addition, there can be no doubt that in any conflict the power equipped with capital ships would be victorious over its enemy not so equipped."

SH-H-H-H!

Lieut. Willard Malone of East Chicago avenue police station and corps of volunteers dig up area under Chicago avenue shed to solve mystery of hidden gravestone. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

MYSTERY!

An old gravestone beneath the crumbling ruins of a shed; six feet of sodden brick walk which looked like the top of a vault; much digging by a volunteer crew by lantern light—and West Chicago avenue had a new mystery last night.

Jack Stone, 1555 West Chicago avenue, had a coal shed with three tons of coal in it. On Sunday he was told the shed would be torn down. He moved the coal. Underneath the coal were two planks. Under the planks lay a gravestone. "Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Van Allmen—1884-96," read the inscription.

Stone began to dig on Sunday night. Monday night he dug again; Tuesday night likewise. Yesterday he notified the police and fire department.

Last night for three hours husky blue-coats and others sweated and toiled as on after ton of rags, tin cans, cinders, chicken bones and other souvenirs of a decade or more of backyard litter were unearthed and cast aside.

A thousand people gathered. It looked like a riot. What were they digging for? Jewels—gold—robber loot—Capt. Kidd's treasure—bodies?

And the finish? Twenty disgusted coppers. No bones. No bodies. No coffins. No victims. But Mr. Stone stood over the hole and chuckled as he planned the basement of his new shed. The old one once was a stone-worker's shop.

'THEY ASK FOOD; THERE IS NONE; THEY MUST DIE'

China's Good Samaritan Gives Up Hope.

BY REV. F. J. GRIFFITH.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

[Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.]

[The Rev. Francis J. Griffith, Church of England missionary at Anping, China, on the hem of the Chihli province famine zone, has direct charge of relief work among the starving thousands of his district.]

ANPING, Chihli, North China, Feb. 7.—Grain distribution to the famine sufferers began Dec. 30. The soup kitchen closed Dec. 26. The stock of clothing sent from Manila nearly all has been distributed. We are now feeding 7,500 people.

There has been a fairly heavy fall of snow, so that the spring wheat is covered and the poor people are unable to gather that food, and there are no leaves on the trees and no weeds left for food. Reports are received daily of persons frozen or starved to death.

The doomed throng at my doors daily and have to be sent away with kind words, but no food. My day is spent almost entirely in interviewing deputations of starving women who are sometimes conducted by the city elders or their village elders.

Victims Sent Home to Die.

Three such parties arrived while I was trying to take my lunch today. In each case it was the same story: there were many starving persons not included among the chosen few. Could I possibly enlarge the roll? They had to be sent away starving.

One pitiable case was a poor woman in rags with a child at the breast. To convince me she laid back her rags and exposed her child unclothed. It was a mere skeleton for want of nourishment which the distracted mother had tried in vain to provide. With a few words of consolation she was sent home to die.

After tea today I went for a walk. On my return I was detained in the east suburb by a group of starving women with their children.

Starving Ask Foreigners.

With tears streaming from their eyes and prostrating themselves in the frozen snow they besought me to take pity on them. When I explained to them the difficult problem that we were faced with, and that we were doing all we possibly could to relieve the terrible amount of suffering they with one accord gave expression to remarks such as these:

"We know you are doing all you can." "Where should we have been before this if you had not opened the soup kitchen?" "We would not trouble you after all your kindness to us, but we are starving." "Please forgive us."

One is anxious to know how long one can keep going with this happening daily, and many times a day. It is the wonderful patience of these starving people that I think gives one courage and hope and strength to carry on.

The thought that the leaders of the nation are chiefly concerned in raising thousands of brigands in the form of soldiers to prey upon the suffering folk instead of using the funds for famine relief fills one with righteous anger.

Just imagine! $20,000 was collected here for starting the grain-at-cost scheme. The plan was put into operation before I appeared on the scene. More than three months have gone by, but no grain has arrived yet. The whole capital will have disappeared, I fear, before very long.

I must use great care in forming my relief committees. I have cooperated with the city magistrate, the city elders and the village elders in every matter that I thought advisable, but pray do not request me to intrust any funds to them! Within the first three days of our grain distribution I found that the village elders were exacting fees from the chosen few. Just wait a little while. They shall receive their just reward.

SENATORS SING 'GATES AJAR' IN ALIEN TONGUE

Vote Against Any Bar on Immigration.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—Representative Johnson's bill, passed by the house, providing for the suspension of immigration for one year, was formally rejected today by the senate committee on immigration by a vote of 4 to 5.

Senators Johnson, Washington; Harris, Georgia; Harrison, Mississippi, and King, Utah, voted for the bill, and Colt, Rhode Island, chairman; Dillingham, Vermont; Sterling, South Dakota; Keyes, New Hampshire, and Phelan, California, against it.

The majority took the position that the existence of an emergency requiring the complete suspension of immigration had not been demonstrated and that congress should proceed to the enactment of well considered restriction legislation.

Study "Percentage" Bill.

The committee will take up tomorrow the Dillingham bill for a percentage limitation of immigration, with a view to reporting it favorably to the senate as a substitute for the Johnson bill, although there is no expectation of passing it before March 4.

The measure provides the number of aliens of any nationality entering as immigrants in any one year shall be limited to 5 per cent of the total number of persons of such nationality already in the country, as determined by the latest census.

The legislation would not apply to immigrants from the American continents and adjacent islands, nor to the Asiatic "barred zone," from which immigrants already are excluded, nor to Japan, immigration from which is regulated by agreement.

Hope to Cut It Further.

Senator Johnson and other radical restrictionists will endeavor to have the percentage cut to 2, 3, or 4 per cent.

Mr. Dillingham calculates that his percentage plan of restriction would operate to permit a greater immigration from northwestern Europe than heretofore, while cutting to one-third the rate of immigration from the remainder of Europe.

He submitted to the committee the following table comparing the estimated immigration under the 5 per cent limitation with the average immigration before the war:

Countries—	Population in U. S., 1910.	Average annual immigration 1910-'14.	Approximate number admissible annually under 5 per cent limit.

What Ellis Island Is Doing.

Surgeon General Cummings of the public health service testified that out of 10,002 immigrants who arrived at Ellis Island in the last six months of 1920, and certified by the service as unable to earn a living because of disease or physical defects, 9,799 were admitted.

He also declared that out of 112 certified "mental defects" fifty were admitted, and out of 536 classed as having loathsome or contagious diseases, 187 were passed in.

RESULTS OF FATAL AUTO ACCIDENT

Lights Out

In the fatal auto accident that occurred at Thirty-seventh street and Grand boulevard last night the auto which killed a Negro struck an electric light pole with such force as to break it and carry it for twenty feet on the hood of the machine. Lights on Grand and Oakwood boulevards were out for several minutes as the result of the accident.

KRAMER SPENDS $1,000,000 OVER BUDGET, CHARGE

He Doesn't Know His Business, Claim.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—An over expenditure of $1,000,000 for prohibition enforcement during the last year by Commissioner Kramer's forces was disclosed to the house today by Representative Good of Iowa, chairman of the appropriations committee.

Before the item was taken up, Mr. Good suggested it "seemed from Mr. Kramer's testimony before the appropriations committee he did not know much about the business of his organization" adding that he had discovered many "irregularities" in the administration of the inforcement bureau, and it was possible that all could have been corrected.

Juul Talks of Banditry.

This brought from Representative Juul, Illinois, the comment:

"We are giving $6,500,000 for prohibition enforcement but we don't seem to be doing anything for the prevention of highway robberies."

Commissioner Kramer was defended by Representative Volstead, author of the enforcement law, stating that Kramer had denied any irregularities in his office.

"There has been a persistent effort to misrepresent enforcement in every possible fashion and to discredit it in every way possible," protested Mr. Volstead. I do not claim the prohibition force has been perfect. It could not be, as it was built up in a hurry. With the salaries paid prohibition agents it may be possible to have a good many people among them who are not strictly honest. That is true in every service."

Good Wants Old Tax.

Mr. Good advocated a tax of $6.40 a gallon on liquors for medicinal purposes which was the liquor tax when it was sold as beverage.

"Much of the liquor now withdrawn for medical purposes is used as booze," Mr. Good commented. "We could add nearly $100,000,000 to the revenues in this way."

20,000 STRIKE IN N. Y. "MERELY TO SHOW POWER!"

New York, Feb. 9.—Approximately 20,000 of the 35,000 needle workers who went on strike today to enforce standardized working agreements in the women's garment industry probably will return to work within three days, Benjamin Schlesinger, president of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' union, announced tonight.

All but 15,000 who walked out, he explained, were employed in union shops and were "just showing their strength by participating in a demonstration strike."

THE BANK OF KINDNESS

Draw a Check on It for the Unfortunate.

BY REV. G. A. MAC WHORTER.

The Chicago branch of the American Central Committee for Russian Relief, Inc., announces several speaking engagements for the Princess Cantacuzene following her arrival in Chicago Sunday. She will tell of her experiences as a Russian fugitive and of conditions among the refugees who have been scattered to the four corners of Europe by the bolshevist drives. The princess is speaking on behalf of a Chicago fund for relief work among these sufferers. She will address the Englewood Woman's club on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock; "Les Matinées Française" at the Parkway hotel on Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock, and the Hyde Park Men's club on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

PRINCESS CANTACUZENE.

Two progressive young Americans who gave a benefit for the starving children of Europe yesterday succeeded beyond their own expectations. A. Watson Armour Jr. worked so hard selling tickets for the benefit, which was held at the Dearborn theater, 40 West Division street, that he became ill and was unable to attend the show, but Edson White Jr., his partner, took charge and saw the thing through alone. It was reported that more than 500 persons attended the benefit, bringing the proceeds up to $251, enough to provide for twenty-five young "invisible guests."

BAKER REPORTS ITALY GREATEST MILITARY POWER

France Has the Largest Standing Army.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—France has the greatest standing army in the world, according to information sent to congress today by Secretary Baker, but counting its active and reserve forces Italy is the world's leading military power.

France's regular force is 732,000, consisting of conscripted French and colonial troops, and in addition it had 1,560,000 men enrolled in the reserves. Italy's regular force numbers 350,000, but is reserve consists of 4,627,000 men, including 3,000,000 mobile militia of the first line, 1,000,000 territorial militia as second line reserves and 114,000 carabineers and royal guardsmen.

Japan's Force 1,918,000.

Japan's military forces, according to the secretary's figures, comprise 1,918,000 men, including a regular army of 273,000, a first reserve of 532,000, a second reserve of 667,000, a national army, consisting of men between 37 and 40 years, of 246,000, and 200,000 men enrolled for replacements.

Great Britain's army of white troops totals 295,000, the report said, with 130,000 additional native and colonial troops, plus 233,000 men in the territorial armies.

The Fallen "War Lord."

Italy's army expenditures for the current fiscal year were placed at 1,812,000,000 lire; France's at 4,237,000,000 francs; Great Britain's at 190,155,000 pounds, and Japan's at 210,000,000 yen.

Regarding the strength of the Japanese army next year, Mr. Nakor said: "It is known on good authority that it is in excess of that for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1921."

The German army, the report continued, was 150,000 men, allowed until Jan. 1, 1921, under the Versailles treaty.

Germany also has 85,000 armed police and 500,000 additional emergency volunteer troops, but its army must eventually be reduced to 50,000 men under the treaty.

2 SLAIN, DOZEN HURT, IN 3 ODD AUTO ACCIDENTS

Two Cars Leap Curbs to Hit Victims.

Two persons were killed and more than a dozen others injured in three freakish automobile accidents on the south side last night.

In two instances the victims were walking on the sidewalks when the automobiles leaped the curbing and bowled them over.

In a third accident a car driven by Leslie Olmstead, a University of Chicago student, struck and killed a Negro at Thirty-seventh street and Grand boulevard, knocked over a twenty foot electric light pole and carried it on the radiator of the machine for a distance of nearly 100 feet along the boulevard. Grand and Oakwood boulevards were thrown in partial darkness for more than three hours as a result of the accident.

Victims of Accident.

The victims of the various accidents were:

DEAD.

MICHAEL O'ROURKE, 62 years old, butcher, 7330 Dorchester avenue.

CARVALIER COUNSIAL, colored, 3742 South Dearborn street.

The Injured.

STANLEY MISTETT, 11 years old, 1310 East Seventy-fourth street; taken to Jackson Park hospital.

C. W. HAZLETT, yardmaster, 1236 West Sixty-third street; taken to St. Bernard's hospital.

MRS. A. DYER, 6349 Aberdeen street; removed to St. Bernard's hospital.

MATTHEW NICHOLS, 705 West Sixty-third street; removed to St. Bernard's hospital.

GEORGE SPORAR, 6352 South Morgan street; taken to St. Bernard's hospital.

DONALD RICHARDSON, student, 5754 Woodlawn avenue; taken to Provident hospital.

Student Kills Negro.

Young Olmstead, who is the 20 year old son of L. A. Olmstead of the Edgewater Beach hotel, an official of the Vim Sporting Goods company, was on his way to attend a basketball game at Northwestern university when the accident in Grand boulevard occurred. In the car with him were Donald Richardson and Robert Mills, also University of Chicago students residing in a fraternity house at 5754 Woodlawn avenue.

Policeman at Wheel.

O'Rourke was killed and the Mistett boy injured when they were struck at Seventy-fifth street and Dorchester avenue by an automobile driven by Policeman Perry De Forrest, chauffeur for Capt. Guerney of the Grand Crossing station. De Forrest was driving a car owned by Richard T. O'Connor of 6243 Ingleside avenue.

O'Rourke died shortly after reaching the Jackson Park hospital. He was a brother of William O'Rourke, president of the Southeastern Coal company, and Postmaster J. J. O'Rourke of Harvey, a former member of the legislature.

The others were injured when an automobile, driven by Albert Adams, 6337 Dorchester avenue, plowed through a group of persons on the sidewalk at Sixty-third and Aberdeen streets.

M'BRIDE DOESN'T WANT TO BE LID COMMISSIONER

P. Scott McBride, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, yesterday issued a statement designed to put an end to reports that he favors the creation of the post of prohibition commissioner that he may get the job.

"I assure both wets and drys," he said, "that under no circumstances will I accept an appointment as prohibition commissioner if a bill providing for this office should be introduced and passed. I have a larger field already in which to fight the common foe."

Mr. McBride indicated he is taking no part in the fight that centers on this issue.

SOUTHERN RAIL RATES UNFAIR, PACKERS CHARGE

Appeal to Interstate Commerce Board.

Predicting that unless the railroads of the south come to the assistance of live stock producers and packing houses, the live stock industry in that section of the country will be only history and regrets, W. W. Manker, assistant traffic manager of Armour & Co., yesterday appealed to the interstate commerce commission for relief.

The packers, in a fight being led by Armour & Co., charge the high rates on live stock in the south are slowly driving them out of business, and cite as one instance the closing of the Armour & Co. plant at Tifton, Ga., unreasonable railroad rates being the primary cause of the shutdown.

Case Is Presented.

Yesterday, at a hearing before Interstate Commerce Examiner Bronson Jewell, the packers presented their evidence, showing the rates charged by the southern railroads, twenty-eight of which are mentioned in their petition, are unreasonable. The railroads expect to fight the case to the limit, as it involves millions of dollars.

"The packers have expended a large amount of money in the south," said Mr. Manker, "for the purpose of getting the live stock producers to give more attention to this industry and in the last few years there has been a surprising increase in the number of packing plants. It is to be regretted, however, that they have not been able to obtain the support of the railroads in the establishment of rates, rules, and regulations for the transportation of live stock that is essential to the growth and expansion of this important food product."

Packers Ask Refunds.

The packers, in their complaint, charge that the railroads have grossly overcharged them for shipments of hogs and cattle, and Armour & Co. alone are seeking refunds of nearly $60,000. Mr. Manker stated that the damage sustained by Armour & Co. through the failure of the railroads to establish reasonable rates is a sum so far in excess of the amount of reparation asked for that it cannot be estimated.

BRISLANE'S FATE PUT UP TO SMALL BY PARDON BOARD

Governor to Pass on Case Today.

The fate of Edward Brislane, scheduled to be hanged tomorrow morning for the murder of William Mills, moving picture theater manager, is in the hands of Gov. Small.

The governor, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Springfield this morning, has the recommendation of the board of pardons and paroles, which yesterday reviewed the Brislane case.

What that recommendation is could not be learned. The dispatch stated that the governor probably would pass upon it today. This is the first case involving a death penalty that Gov. Small has been called upon to determine since his inauguration.

Story of the Killing.

William Mills was killed in the box office of the Crawford theater on the night of March 11. On March 13 Brislane, a "graduate" of the Pontiac reform school, confessed to the murder after he had been arrested on a tip given to the police by his mother.

"I shot Mills. There was no reason for it. I was drunk and a damn fool." That was the gist of the confession.

Granted Stay June 14.

On May 24 he was sentenced to hang June 18. He was granted a stay of execution on June 14 in order to appeal to the Supreme court. The sentence was upheld and the date of execution set for Feb. 11. Brislane has stated repeatedly that he would make no eleventh hour appeal for a reprieve or a pardon. Nevertheless his case was presented to the board of pardons.

Dutch Statesman Hasn't Heard of "Irish Republic"

THE HAGUE, Feb. 9.—The second chamber of the states general today refused by a vote of 64 to 2 to allow a Communist member, Van Ravenstyn, to interpellate the government concerning recognition of "the Irish republic."

The president of the chamber said the interpellation was not admissible as he had no knowledge of any "Irish republic."

PUBLIC UTILITIES BOARD IS KEPT ALIVE BY SMALL

Powers Are Modified, but the Salaries Are Not.

BY E. O. PHILLIPS.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—Gov. Small's public utilities policy—of which Mayor Thompson's transportation plan is the front, center, and rear—was presented today to the general assembly.

The three bills, interlocking and traveling side by side, were written in the city hall and were introduced by Senator Ettelson, Mayor Thompson's corporation counsel.

Identical bills were introduced in the house by Representative Bippus, city hall man from the Lundin territory on the northwest side.

What Measures Provide.

The three bills, in substance, carry these fundamental features:

The public utilities commission is not abolished, but is continued as a going concern, with greatly restricted powers, but with the same membership and the same salaries. This is senate bill No. 56.

Home rule over the regulations of service and rates of all public utilities that are purely local is expressly granted to cities, villages, and incorporated towns, through their municipal authorities. Any city, by specified action, may transfer this power to the state commission. Affirmative action by the municipality is required to carry it into the control of the state commission. This is senate bill No. 57.

The enabling legislation to authorize Chicago, or any other city, to create a "local transportation district" is senate bill No. 45, introduced last night by Mr. Ettelson.

Powers to Be Conferred.

Both of the first named bills specifically provide that if the local transportation district is created, neither the city council nor the state commission shall have any jurisdiction over it in any particular.

Conspicuous in the state commission bill is the provision that, in the event that a municipality legislates itself under the commission's control, the commission's powers are quite as extensive as are those of the present utilities board.

On the theory, however, that no city would so perform, the "new" commission would be left in control of steam and electric railroads and interurban utilities, similar, generally, to those controlled by the old railroad and warehouse commission, except that the modernized methods of uniform accounting, control over bond issues and finances, etc., as now stipulated in the public utilities act, are prescribed.

"Carrying Out" His Pledge.

Gov. Small's campaign pledge that he will "repeal the public utilities act," is carried out to the extent that there is a clause at the finish that does actually knock out the act of 1913. Most of its provisions, in conferring general powers upon the "new" commission, however, are written into the voluminous measure.

Coincident with the present action of the administration bills, came the word that the proposed effort to rush the mayor's plan through, so that it could go to a vote in April, has been abandoned substantially. The senate quit business until next Tuesday and Senator Barr announced that both houses will go to the state university Wednesday of next week. This seems to kill any possibility of shooting the utilities to passage in time to get the question on the April ballot.

All of the bills went to the public utilities committees in each house, and no committee meetings have been called by the respective chairmen, Senator Turnbaugh and Representative Brinkman.

Refuses Rate Increases.

This afternoon, Gov. Small's public utilities commission refused rate increases in two cases, held to be of more or less significance as indicating the commission's policy.

The North Shore Gas company was refused an increase to take care of a $124,000 raise in operating expense.

The Central Illinois Light company at Pekin, failed to get a 50 cent raise of rates, on the ground that the service being given did not justify the requested increase.

The "Home rule" bill gives cities, villages, and incorporated towns the right to control, regulate, and govern every public utility with respect to the service rendered, the rates, and compensation charged, the granting of franchises and the extent of same, the making of valid and binding contracts concerning rates and compensation to be charged for a definite term of years not longer than twenty years, and to ratify and approve any contracts heretofore made.

Utilities Are Defined.

A public utility is defined by the bill to be any corporation, association, individual, etc., that owns, controls, or operates within any city or village, directly or indirectly for public use, any plant, or property used in connection with transportation of persons or property, transmission of telegraph or telephone messages, for the production and storage, transmission, etc., of heat, coal, light, power, electricity, or water, or for conveyance of oil or gas by a pipe line, or for storage or warehousing of gas.

The bill provides that rules, regulations and orders of the city council, or trustees, affecting the service or compensation shall be prima facie right, proper and correct, and that it is the duty of the courts on the application of a city or village, to enforce the same, speedily and without delay; and no court shall set aside the same unless and until a full and final hearing is had and the finding of the court based on the evidence is that such rule, order or regulation is illegal or confiscatory.

The measure gives cities and villages power to determine what public utilities may furnish service and the terms and conditions upon which they may do so.

Harding Accepts 'Gator as White House Mascot

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—A Florida alligator is to be a White House pet during the Harding régime. President Taft's had a cow, Pauline. A pony that rode in an elevator was the mascot of President Roosevelt's administration. President Wilson has a flock of lawn mowing sheep. Senator Trammell carried word to White House officers today that Mr. Harding had accepted a "fair sized 'gator" from Henry M. Bennett of Jacksonville.

SPANISH DANCER SUES HUSBAND AS WHISKERS VAMP

His Silky Beard Snares 'Em All, She Says.

Señora Isabel Rodriguez de Mandel queen of the castanets, is tired—O so tired—of supporting a husband. Last night she announced she would file suit in the Superior court today against Dr. Carlos de Mandel, famed for his beautiful whiskers.

Señora Isabel, the Spanish dancer in a current Chicago theatrical production, says her husband is in Los Angeles flirting with pretty women who admire his silken beard. Her bill of complaint merely charges desertion, but she told her grievances against the violinist-physician last night in detail and offered reams of letters and telegrams in evidence.

"He spends all my money," she said. "In the five years we have been married he has been with me only two years. Always he wants money, more money, wherever he goes.

"What do you say in America—nobody home? Diamonds, suits, spats, autocars, I have to buy them for him. He is so beautiful and the women love him so. I must pay that he can show them good entertainment."

One Peso After Another.

One telegram from Dr. Carlos reads: "I received telegram. Send me at once 570 pesos. Unless I pay tomorrow, they send me to the Frisco jail. I am desperate." Another says: "I received money; it saved me. Love and kisses. Carlos."

Yet another hurry up call for cash read: "Send me by telegraph 220 pesos to renew interest on diamonds, otherwise tomorrow they will be taken by pawnshop."

Senora Isabel explained this with many shrugs of the shoulder:

"He buys diamonds—then he sees automobiles. He pawns diamonds to buy car. The next day he wants more suits. I tell you I have bought him as many as thirty overcoats in one winter."

All the communications were in Spanish. There were hundreds of requests for money.

"He is cruel to me, besides," said Senora Isabel. "In Spain one cannot get a divorce. I hate the disgrace, but he is unbearable! I am glad I was married in America. Just think if it had been Spain! One has to wait thirty years and a day before one can marry again after separation."

Ah! These Americanes!

She laughed bitterly.

"I should have known better than to marry a Spaniard. I should have picked out a nice American man. Americans are kind to their wives—they support their wives and do not have always to be supported.

"Dr. de Mandel is a wonderful artist, a violinist, a physician, and he is only 38 years old. His beard has made him so vain he will not work. The women flatter him, and then he comes to me for money."

Her attorney, Charles E. Erbstein, would not comment on the suit.

COALITION WINS 65 HOUSE SEATS IN SOUTH AFRICA

CAPE TOWN, Feb. 9.—[By the Associated Press.]—Late tonight the results of the election of the house of the assembly showed that the South African Coalitionists had won 65 seats, the Nationalists 34, the Laborites 9, and the Independents 1.

General Jan Christian Smuts, the prime minister, is sure of a working majority of ten in the assembly, while twenty-three results are still outstanding.

The results received were mainly from urban districts, and it probably will be several days before the full report is available. The followers of Gen. Smuts claim that he is certain of victory, since the bulk of his strength hereofore has been in the country districts.

BRITAIN-JAPAN ALLIANCE TO BE REVISED, REPORT

TOKIO, Feb. 9.—Negotiations between Japan and Great Britain for a revision of the alliance binding the two countries are expected to commence in London in the near future, the Nichi Nichi says today.

Viscount Chinda, formerly Japanese ambassador to Great Britain, who will accompany the crown prince on his forthcoming visit to England, will participate in the negotiations with Baron Hayashi, the present Japanese ambassador, the newspaper adds.

COLBY WRITES TO SENATE ABOUT TOKIO TREATY

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—Secretary Colby said late today that he was sending a "letter" to the senate foreign relations committee in connection with the request of the committee for a copy of "the agreement" reached by Ambassadors Morris and Shidehara in their recently concluded negotiations. The secretary refused to state the contents of his communication. State department officials refused to say whether the secretary had decided to comply with the committee's request.

The Villanelle
The villanelle was originally a pastoral song made to accompany a rustic dance, and for the first it was necessary that it should contain a regular system of repeated lines. It is written in tercets, on two rhymes, the first and the third line being repeated alternately in each tercet. It is usual to confine the villanelle to five tercets, although this is not essential, but it must close with a quatrain, the last two lines of which are the first and the third line of the original tercet. The villanelle was much admired by the French poets of the Parnasse and one of them compared it to a ribband of silver and gold traversed by a thread of rose.
The following poem from the "Collected Poems of Austin Dobson" will illustrate the form.
WHEN I SAW YOU LAST, ROSE.
When I saw you last, Rose,
You were only so high,
How fast the time goes!
Like a bud ere it blows,
You just peeped at the sky,
When I saw you last, Rose!
Now your petals unclose,
Now your May-time is nigh;
How fast the time goes!
And a life—how it grows!
You were scarcely so shy,
When I saw you last, Rose!
In your bosom it shows,
There's a gulfet on the air;
How fast the time goes!
Is it Cupid? Who knows!
Yet you used not to stir,
When I saw you last, Rose!
How fast the time goes!

Miss Dutton Invites You To-day

To a Special Luncheon of Baked Ham with Creamed Potatoes
Baked ham! A real man's dish, that. Why you can't even think about it without getting hungry, can you?
And when it is baked Miss Dutton's way—so it's tender enough to cut with a fork—brown, spicy and sugary on the outside—juicy and full of flavor on the inside—well, you'll just have to taste it to appreciate it.
And creamed potatoes, rich, well seasoned and piping hot, go with the baked ham.
You'll find a grapefruit and head lettuce salad wonderfully good with baked ham; or, if you prefer, there's a vegetable salad that's one of the best you ever tasted.
Coffee! Of course, and it's hot, too. Miss Dutton serves it in pots so it will stay hot.
You'll have to choose your own dessert, but whether you prefer pie, cake, pudding or ice cream, you'll find your favorite. All the desserts are prepared under Miss Dutton's supervision and they have to be right.
In fact, all the food served at the Ontras is prepared there, then Miss Dutton is sure of the quality of the products used. For only the best will satisfy Miss Dutton—that's why the Ontras are famous today for their real food.
Don't forget that baked ham and creamed potatoes for luncheon today, and, by the way, remember that Miss Dutton serves all three meals—breakfast, luncheon and dinner. Come in for breakfast some morning—and find out how good breakfast can be.

EDISON ON SHIPS, SHOES, SEALING WAX, FORD, KINGS

74 Tomorrow, Inventor Counsels America.

(Orange, N. J., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—Thomas A. Edison, 74 years old Friday, still finds he can retain his good health by hard work.

Today, in an interview in his laboratory, he talked generalities and even personalities—from Henry Ford to the Japanese question and from big business to advice to young men.

"Rearrange and correlate and put on a business basis," Mr. Edison said, "the stupid bureaucratic form of government in Washington. Leave business men to work out their own salvation without so much interference. Adopt Otto Kahn's tax scheme of one-third of 1 per cent on all sales by anybody.

Pays Tribute to Hoover.

"Place Hoover in a position in the government where his great executive ability and experience can be best utilized. There is nothing academic about Hoover. He is one of the greatest assets the country has.

"Let the big bankers get together and organize clearing houses with technical inspectors to exchange commodities, instead of credits, the buyers and sellers being given a chance to check the quality of the commodities before acceptance, the clearing houses charging a commission for the risk as to quality, etc. The risk in this would, with technical inspectors at each clearing house, be reduced practically to zero."

Whether or not there will be a business revival in March depends upon "President Harding and the men he selects for his cabinet," Mr. Edison says.

And He Acclaims Ford.

"Henry Ford will be all right," Mr. Edison continued. "If he needed money badly enough he could go directly to the public for money. Ford could probably raise $100,000,000 by public subscription if he made his wants known to the people."

Mr. Edison declared himself in favor of alliances or understandings between France, England, America, Japan, and Italy and advocated 50 per cent disarmament.

"I believe, though," he added, "that inexpensive experiments might well be continued so that we could have up to date models for every branch of warfare in case the measures to prevent war did not turn out as the nations expected. Then none would have an advantage."

War with Japan Possible.

The inventor said that he believed there was danger of war with Japan unless that country was permitted to have more room to accommodate its increasing population.

"But I am absolutely opposed to letting them come over here," he declared.

Mr. Edison said he did not regard the allied demand for reparations from Germany as excessive, as the payments were to be extended over a long period.

He was asked if he could give any advice to a young man starting in the business world.

"I can't give any advice on this subject," he replied. "All I know is that if a man has reached 21 and is dead mentally, no amount of advice, example or experience will ever change him."

RECEIVERS GET CANDY COMPANY AS SUGAR DROPS

Receivers were appointed yesterday for the Continental Candy corporation, of which Allan A. Ryan is the largest stockholder, on an involuntary petition in bankruptcy filed in New York. The First National bank of Chicago, with claims said to aggregate $450,000, is one of the principal creditors. The Great Lakes Trust company of Chicago also holds claims totaling $155,000, it is reported.

Losses on contracts for raw sugar and increasing prices of materials for a new plant the company is building in Jersey City caused the company's troubles, according to Benjamin Schneewind, president of the corporation and manager of its two Chicago factories at 213 and 327 East Illinois street. Mr. Schneewind and Edwin A. Potter Jr. of New York were appointed as receivers.

"Our assets are about $4,400,000," said Mr. Schneewind; "our liabilities are approximately $3,000,000.

"Up to Sept. 1 our earnings were more than $600,000. Then the slump in sugar prices hit us. We had contracted early in June for 2,800,000 pounds of Java sugar at about 20½ cents a pound. After litigation, in which we lost out, we took a loss of about $40,0000 on this transaction. Added to this was the loss entailed by cancellation of contracts by many of our customers.

"Our biggest single loss has been in connection with the plant we are building at Jersey City. It had been estimated this would cost $1,000,000. We already have put $2,000,000 into it and it will cost $500,000 more to complete it."

ROTARIANS URGE $10,500,000 FOR U. OF I. BIENNIUM

Revival of Mill Tax Rate Favored.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—Five hundred Illinois business and professional men today urged an appropriation of $10,500,000 for the University of Illinois for the coming biennium, at a session of the Rotary Clubs of Illinois.

The Rotarians came from thirty-one of the forty-three cities that have Rotary organizations. President Kinley headed a delegation of sixty Champaign Rotarians. Chicago had fifteen present.

President Kinley presented the appeal of the university now before the legislature, many members of which were present.

"I stand absolutely upon the budget that has been submitted," President Kinley said. "It is an honest budget, not one to be trimmed to some compromise figure. It represents not what we want but what we absolutely need to maintain the university as a going concern. Failure of the legislature to act as we are requesting means that the university must slip far into the rear of the middle western universities. I feel that I have performed my duty in presenting the cold facts to the legislature and to the people of the state. It is up to them now to say what shall become of us."

The university is asking $4,000,000 a year for operation, maintainence and improvements, or $8,000,000 for the biennium, an increase of 60 per cent over the biennial appropriation of 1919; $500,000 for the first unit of new agricultural buildings; $1,000,000 a year for library, armory addition, natural history hall addition, transportation building, and other additions, and restoration of the tax rate for university purposes from two-thirds of a mill to one mill.

President Kinley explained that had the mill tax been in operation this year, it would have raised the $8,000,000 maintenance fund now asked for the biennial period.

VISITORS URGED TO ASK AID OF TRIBUNE INCOME TAX BUREAU

THE TRIBUNE income tax bureau has been running full tilt. Thousands of blanks of all kinds have been distributed, hundreds of taxpayers have filed their returns and paid their taxes. The public this year is not to be caught napping, and it is determined to make its returns early.

THE TRIBUNE invites visitors in this city who will be unable to get back to their homes before the end of the filing period to take advantage of the complete free service this bureau renders. There are experts who give all necessary assistance and a deputy field collector to take affidavits and file the returns.

E. M. S. asks: Should an executor file a return for the decedent covering the period up to the time of his death?

REPLY.

As soon as possible, after his appointment and qualification, without waiting for the close of the tax year, an executor or administrator should file a return of income for the decedent.

A TRIBUNE reader for forty years says: After having conducted this business for five years, I sold the good will, among other things, connected with this business. I received $15,000 for the good will. When I took hold of the business there was no good will. How will I have to compute the tax and on what will I have to pay?

REPLY.

The $15,000 received for the good will will be income to you and taxable. After deducting the allowable expenses and the costs incurred in the sale of this business all profit will be income to you and subject to taxation.

M. C. asks: Who is a nonresident alien individual?

REPLY.

Answer—An individual [a] whose residence is not within the United States and [b] who is not a citizen of the United States.

COL. DAVIS TELLS REVOLTING FATE OF SICK HEROES

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—Former service men are being kept in private hospitals that are "indescribably filthy," and under conditions that are "terrible," Abel Davis of Chicago, chairman hospitalization committee, told the American Legion executive committee here today.

After the men were placed in such hospitals, he said, they were left without visits of inspections by representatives of the public health service. One hospital in Illinois, according to a Legion survey he read, stated that white and Negro patients slept in the same room, and that the pharmacy containing narcotics and drugs of all kinds was left unlocked.

When asked if the male and female patients used the same bathroom, the doctor in charge replied that "the women only remained about two weeks at a time, and did not take any baths."

Mr. Davis did not name the hospital. He said service men are being removed following pressure on public health service officials.

He charged that the work of the Legion in soldier relief was "greatly handicapped" through the policy of government bureaus, which, he said, employed former service men, Legion members, and thus "packed the committees" of the American Legion with them. Mr. Davis cited the Cleveland convention, where he said "the bureaus licked us to a frazzle in all matters relating to veterans' relief, and the Legion wondered how it was done."

Price Cuts Take Students from Illinois University

Urbana, Ill., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—Registration for the second semester at the University of Illinois shows a decrease of several hundred since last fall. Lack of funds caused by the drop in prices for farm products and in other commodities is given as the reason.

TESTIMONY IN LEHMANN CASE ALL PRESENTED

Attorneys representing Otto W. Lehmann, one of the owners of the Fair, and Mrs. Casse M. Lehmann, his ex-wife, finished introducing testimony yesterday in the suit before Judge Sabath of the Superior court in which Mrs. Lehmann is asking for $1,000 additional support money for her daughter Casse, 11 years old.

Mrs. Lehmann was cross-examined yesterday by Attorney Francis Walker, who represents Mr. Lehmann, on her expenses for clothing and educating Casse, the daughter, and a stepdaughter, Jean, who is now receiving $200 voluntary support money from Otto Lehmann.

Attorney Walker is expected in the final arguments to contend that the increase asked by the plaintiff is not justified and that the divorce decree does not give the court the right to increase the amount therein provided for Casse's maintenance.

BATTLESHIPS AND NATIONAL SECURITY.

No rational naval expert is dogmatizing about the future of successful naval construction or about the effective naval weapon of the future, and certainly no sensible layman will. There are some curbstone experts who proclaim the decadence of the capital ship and some imaginative politicians and enthusiastic citizens who believe battleships have gone into the shadows of history. It would be a foolish nation which acted upon such snap judgment.

It is probably natural for people to believe that mechanical invention changes all things, or can change all things, over night, but some elementary principles remain, however much their scope of action is modified.

Admiral Sims' interesting book, "The Victory at Sea," is a record of the performance of the British and American navies in the war, and that record does not sustain the theory that the capital ship has lost its predominance. It was the deciding factor in the war at sea, and the war at sea might have been the deciding factor of the war. It would have been if the Germans could have won it there.

Great Britain's capital ships held the sea, and the submarine warfare was unsuccessful against them. The grand fleet cruised in the North Sea or rode at its station and the submarines could not destroy it and could not even so reduce it by nibbling that the German high seas fleet could come out and defeat it.

To nearly every offense there is a defense. The defense against the submarine was the destroyer, and Admiral Sims records that it was a defense against which the submarine was useless. The fleet of capital ships was inclosed within the destroyer screen. Only once, the admiral relates, did a submarine try the daring exploit of diving under the screen and coming up within. The submarine commander who did that fired a torpedo at the Neptune, missed, and was rammed and sunk by another battleship.

No other submarine, so far as the admiral knows, tried this, and the grand fleet did not lose any vessels to submarine raiders when the destroyer screen was maneuvering as a protection. Some warships not thus protected were caught, but none which had their complement of destroyers. That does not lay down a hard and fast rule as to what the future relation of the submarine and battleship will be, but it is a record of their experience in the naval warfare which, in snap judgment, has revolutionized naval construction and tactics.

Hasty opinion says that if the undersea boat does not make the battleship useless, the bombing airplane will. There again opinion deals without consideration of the defense. If bombing planes had the freedom of the air above a battleship they might dispose of it. If submarines had the freedom of the sea underneath one they would destroy it.

A bombing plane is a slow moving plane, slow compared to a combat plane. The destroyers of the air must be considered in the defense of the capital ship just as the destroyers of the sea were considered in its defense.

Great Britain does not want to build many capital ships now, because they are expensive and the British have no money for great naval additions. They probably are perfectly willing that other nations should think that the capital ship is of questionable naval value. That would tend to slow down all nations.

The best way to proceed in naval construction just now is to stop it. A naval holiday would keep navies in their present relation, which is good for the peace of the world and the finances of the world, and it would give experts time for the experiments which will determine what changes, if any, have been made in the construction and tactics which control the sea.

FOR PEACE WITH JAPAN.

Secretary of State Colby is reported to be hesitating over the request of the senate foreign relations committee that he put before it the text of the Morris-Shidehara agreement upon which a new treaty with Japan may be based. It is to be hoped that he will accede to the request. After all, the senate is charged with the duty not only of consenting to treaties with foreign powers but of advising in their preparation. Why it should be deprived of official information on which to base its judgment and formulate its advice is rather difficult to understand.

J. B. Powell, THE TRIBUNE'S correspondent in the far east, writing on the China consortium, mentions the fact that all the time Mr. Lamont of Morgan & Co. was in the orient the "Japanese militarists conducted a vicious propaganda against him and against America, so that it is pretty well understood that the Japanese will still bear watching." That opinion of the Japanese is general among American correspondents and others who have observed and studied conditions in the orient. Every few days we have an incident or an expression of opinion supporting this view.

Such being the case, there must be careful consideration of our relations with Japan to assure our safety and peace. To have such careful consideration we must have all the facts possible. The conversations between the American ambassador to Japan and the Japanese ambassador to the United States certainly offer important information on the subject. That information should not be limited to Mr. Colby.

We do not want war with Japan. We do want to reduce the possibilities of war, both present and future. An inadequate and ill advised treaty will increase rather than reduce these possibilities. For this reason it is important that both time and information be made available for the preparation of the best understanding possible.

A GOOD SHOW FOR GOOD ROADS.

Any one interested in methods and means of travel as well as in travel itself—by motor, by horse, or even by foot—can find something which will appeal to that interest in the Good Roads show at the Coliseum. There is offered to the wayfarer the material and the machinery for building everything from a garden path to a transcontinental highway.

Any one interested in methods and means of making such advantages available to the general public can find something which will appeal to that interest in the sessions of the good roads convention which are running simultaneously with the show. The two events have an importance to the community and to the entire country far beyond the moment. They represent progress—past, present, and future.

A combination of machines, for instance, which will grade and level a country roadway, tamp down the roadbed in preparation for the paving, mix the paving matereial and lay it, leaving a perfect highway in their wake as they travel through the countryside, is something to stir both imagination and admiration. Such things are among those exhibited at the show. They are designed, as the work of the convention is designed, to educate the American public on the subject of good roads.

Dry statistics show such facts as that a horse with a wagon on an average road can haul two tons at three miles an hour, while a motor truck over the same road can haul five tons at eight miles an hour, and over a concrete road the same horse or the same truck can do double the work at the same cost. Such statistics are made interesting and educational by various features of the show and the convention. To those willing to give it thought there is material offered with which to spread the gospel of good roads throughout the country.

There are now some 247,000 miles of roadway in the country, ranging from the rutted route to the farmer's wood lot to the broad concrete speedways of California and New York. Of these less than 11 per cent are improved, and this "improved" fraction includes every highway which has even been surfaced with loose gravel. Obviously there is a vast amount of work to be done. It means vast expenditures. But such expenditures will return large dividends. It is to educate the public in such things that the show and convention are planned. In this work they merit support.

MISS GARDEN'S A WONDER.

Miss Mary Garden's place of residence is page one, any newspaper. That is why we are confident that when her opera company begins its next year's season it will be as well and favorably known here and to folk attracted here as the municipal pier, the Wrigley building, the stockyards, and the Lincoln park zoo.

She will make opera as popular here with the chivalry of citizenship as it is with the beauty, although now the chivalry regards opera as a successful imitation of a feline gathering on the back fence. There is something to be said for this point of view. Two toms and a tabby can produce all the range of emotion and expression in which opera is an art and most opera concerns two toms and a tabby.

Miss Garden, as showwoman and saleswoman, must persuade the Chicago chivalry that it is art and that they like it and we believe she will do it and make opera as much of a scream as the Follies. These reflections are animated by the performance of Miss Garden in making page one when she lost Galli-Curci and making it again when she hired her back on part time.

In taking Galli-Curci away New York laid the heavy hand of gold upon the heart of art. This was showing us up as a bush league and it required the finesse of a genius, such as Miss Garden, to retrieve the disaster and convert it into an asset.

We should like to ask New York to keep away from us, but if the Chicago company is to invade that metropolis during the season of the Metropolitan company, show that company up and make even Otto Kahn of the well known old Knickerbocker family like it, New York is on the defensive and will try to bust its successful rival up.

That is natural and gold probably will do it. We cannot support art on a little oatmeal when New York offers it pearls, but we rely upon Miss Garden in some fashion to get the better of these Persians. She is the ace of the show business and we believe that next winter there will be heavy trucking between the Auditorium box office and the banks. Heretofore the cartage has been between Harold McCormick's office and the box office.

Editorial of the Day

CORN VS. PIG IRON.

[Orange Judd Farmer.]

As a result of war inflation and of a deliberately accelerated and far too rapid post-war deflation the normal relation between the products of farm labor and the products of industrial labor has been violently disarranged. The products of the farm have fallen in price until something like a pre-war range has been reached, but prices of the products of industrial labor have shown a very leisurely rate of decline, and in some directions no decline at all. As a consequence, the buying power of our greatest single population group has been correspondingly reduced.

The natural consequence is the slowing down of all business, the closing of mills and shops and a growing condition of industrial unemployment. There can be no restoration of general activity and prosperity until the farmer's purchasing power is restored to a point where his products will exchange for the industrial products that he wants at something like the old basis of exchange.

To illustrate definitely the situation, take corn as typical of farm labor and pig iron which is accepted as the basic barometer of general industry. In 1914 about eighteen bushels of corn on the farm was equivalent in value to a ton of pig iron, valley's basic, and this with minor fluctuations was approximately the normal relation. In 1917 both iron and corn had risen, but the war inflation was unequal and the farmer, in spite of the higher price of his corn, was actually worse off, because it took twenty-eight bushels to exchange for the ton of pig iron. This week, at current prices, it takes forty-seven bushels of corn to exchange for a ton of pig iron.

This is an impossible situation, and until there is an equitable adjustment between the products of farm labor and the products of industrial labor there can be no general revival of business and industry.

Industrial leaders and labor organizations may delay the readjustment by refusing to recognize the inevitable, but delay means stagnation, unemployment and eventually hunger. Deflation in farm products has been completed. Similar deflation, and to the same extent, in industrial wages and industrial costs must come before the farmer's buying power will be restored. And until it is restored there can be no revival of general prosperity.

For several days past The Tribune editor has received clippings taken from the big dailies over the United States concerning a wedding notice which we published a few weeks ago in which "a linotype was misplaced." From what source it was being circulated we were unable to learn until the following letter was received from the state editor of the Salt Lake City Tribune:

"Fellow Editor: Wonder if you would be good enough to advise me if the clipping at the top of this sheet (appearing in matter syndicated by B. L. T. in Chicago Tribune—we take the service) actually appeared in your paper as indicated? Also where did the stray line come from?"

THE THOUSAND AND ONE AFTERNOONS.

It is related (but heaven alone is all-knowing) that at the time this tale begins, the house of Houssain, importers and merchant princes, fetched hither and dispatched thither the merchandise of three continents, and to the transacting of this enterprise many clerks were required, and these had grown old in the service of Houssain, and their sons had followed them; and this had been the rule save in respect of one post, which was the employ of First Stenographer and Private Secretary. During three years this post, for a reason that shall be set forth, had been occupied as many times as the sun had dispersed the mists of the morning. On a certain memorable day Houssain had summoned the chief of his executive staff, one Wezeer, and had said, 'I can stand it no longer, Wezeer. You have chosen for me, to be First Stenographer and Private Secretary, a motley crew of maids: maids that chewed their gum as the cow grinds her cud, and rearranged their hair the while I paced the floor, dictating cablegrams for the disposing of cargoes of spices. Once, worthy Wezeer, you gave to me a stately blonde, beautiful as the full moon, whose amorous babblings over the telephone I dared not venture to interrupt, and these interchanges of soft speeches continued for hours. You have given me maidens that reported for duty at half-past ten, maidens in evening dress and maidens in galoshes, frivolous maidens and churlish maidens. There was one, Wezeer, that sought to make love to me, and there were many so austere and guarded that I scarcely ventured upon a good-morning. I have tolerated careless work, incompetent work, interrupted work, and no work whatsoever; I have been patient with the indolent, the stiff necked, and the nervous. Speak, Wezeer, is it not so?' And Wezeer made answer, 'I hear and understand. But, commander of the faithful, of whom I am one, have I not chosen for you maidens that were competent?' 'In twenty years,' said Houssain, 'you have found me five or six, but these soon left me to enter wedlock. Better do I remember your many failures. Hearken, excellent Wezeer! I have observed that all stenographers are like unto new brooms, therefore will I have no brooms hereafter save new ones. From this day forth I shall require a new maiden each morning. The day being done, pay to her the wage that is her due, and send her forth.' Wezeer bowed low and said, 'Commander of the faithful, I hear and understand.'

WEIGHTS AND MORTALITY RATES.

CONTINUING the quotations of the opinions of Arthur Hunter based on the experience of many insurance companies we find that overweight and underweight have received much attention.

Overweight—In 1913 forty-three of the leading American and Canadian life insurance companies reported that they had had a much higher mortality than the normal among persons distinctly overweight, even though they had been selected with care. In 1918 a further very careful study was made. This showed that persons at 20 who were 20 per cent overweight had an extra mortality of 5 per cent; 30 per cent overweight an extra mortality of 20 per cent; 40 per cent overweight, 40 per cent extra mortality.

Those at age 50 who were 20 per cent overweight had a 25 per cent extra mortality; those with 30 per cent overweight had 50 per cent increase in mortality, while if the excess weight was 40 per cent the excess mortality was 77 per cent.

Overweight is less important in young persons than in those of middle age. It is of higher importance among tall men than among short ones. It is of higher importance among those with a girth measure greater than the chest measure.

The extra mortality among overweight persons is due to heart disease, Bright's disease, and diabetes. They have a consumption rate below the average. Overweight is in most instances a result of overfeeding and underexercise or a combination. A carefully planned diet with reasonable exercise usually will reduce weight, add to one's enjoyment of life and increase one's longevity.

Consumption in the Family—A family history of consumption and light weight in the individual is a serious matter in a young person. Well nourished persons above the average weight have little to fear from consumption even when the disease "runs in the family." The older the person, the less important is a history of consumption in the family. A person 25 years of age, 5 per cent underweight and whose father, mother, brother, or sister has died of consumption, has a 35 per cent extra mortality rate. If the same man was 10 per cent overweight his mortality rate would be no higher than the normal. If the man was 40 years old, 15 per cent underweight and with a history of tuberculosis in the family, his mortality rate would be raised only 10 per cent.

The company's representative is told to "tell the man to keep himself well nourished, to sleep out of doors and to get as much fresh air as possible."

Underweight—Persons 20 years old, 10 per cent underweight, have a 10 per cent increase in mortality. If the underweight is 20 per cent the extra mortality is 25 per cent. If it is 30 per cent the extra mortality is 40 per cent. However, if the age is 35, 10 per cent underweight does not increase the mortality rate; 20 per cent increases it only 5 per cent and 30 per cent only 15 per cent.

Underweight may be a symptom of low vitality or under nourishment and it may be an inherited quality. If an inherited quality, it does not increase the mortality rate. If it is a result of low vitality, it does. Young persons who are underweight should endeavor to fatten up, should sleep out of doors and live in the open air. Lightweight middle aged and elderly people should not try to fatten up.

PROBABLY SAFE MARRIAGE.

D. B. writes: "I am engaged to a young man who suffered from epilepsy in childhood from his eleventh to his seventeenth year, when he was cured. He is now at 34 splendidly healthy and has been so for years. Is there danger that our children will inherit epilepsy? There is no taint of this sort in my family and he knows of no other case in his."

REPLY.

Epilepsy as such is not inheritable. The children of the young man would not be epileptics in all probability. Is he stable and well balanced mentally, emotionally and socially?

IT'S AN OLD REMEDY.

Mrs. S. A. writes: "I read about J. H. R. asking for a cure for pinworms. I have a good one—quassia wood. Put boiling water on it and let it draw. Syringe as hot as you can stand it. Strain before using. I was bothered with them and I feel sorry for any one afflicted the same way."

REPLY.

Enema of quassia infusion or tea is an old established remedy for pinworms. In most cases the dose needs to be repeated several times at week intervals. Remedies and diets to lessen mucus in the intestines are helpful. Cure is not always so easy as in your case.

CASES ARE DIFFERENT.

Mrs. N. R. B. writes: "1. Can distress from gallstones be relieved without an operation?

"2. If so, how?

"3. Does exercising after an attack from gallstones cause the pain to return?"

REPLY.

1 and 2. There is nothing you can do which will help much. At that most cases of gallstones cause no symptoms. Other cases which have attacks for months and years become comfortable and free from attacks without taking any treatment or after taking any one of a score of treatments.

3. It may. Jolting the gall bladder may cause a stone to start down the duct.

PRO DAWES.

Chicago, Feb. 5.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I desire to express my appreciation of the whole-hearted 100 per cent Americanism of Admiral Sims and Gen. Dawes as shown in their recent statements published in THE TRIBUNE. Coming, as they do, at a time when the mayor and city council of our city are engaged in entertaining people whose sole object in visiting us in America is to foment trouble between this country and another great power, it is, indeed, time to be thankful that there are men before the people who place patriotism before cheap politics. JOHN COHEN.

MORE OF THE SAME.

Rensselaer, Ind., Feb. 5.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The greatest need of the American government today is a few more millions like Charles G. Dawes. He places right in place of peanut politics, in tones that any American can understand and digest. No one is denying there were high prices paid, that there were waste and extravagance; no great deed ever was accomplished where they were not in evidence. The army and navy could not help because there were robbers along the way.

W. L. BOTT.

PROVING WHAT!

Appleton, Wis., Feb. 4.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I am quite surprised to find THE TRIBUNE upholding Gen. Dawes in his statements before the Washington committee. The general surely "flies off the handle" without any reservations. But the fact remains that if we are to take a lesson from this war to guide us in any future wars, then we are to learn the wrongs as well as the rights accomplished.

Dawes goes on to tell the investigating committee about the resale of quartermaster supplies and upholds all transactions. He probably has forgotten that the French purchased blankets from the United States at next to nothing prices when the United States soldiers went without their required need, until finally we were forced to buy them back from the French at exorbitant prices.

Paderewski, and numerous others also, used to come into the office and buy all the cigarets they wanted for their own personal use, but the Americans were told that none could be sold them, as they were only being sold for the use of the people of poverty-stricken countries. And what about the countless aircraft that were destroyed by fire purposely? Dawes does not mention this at all in his testimony. And vinegar was not the only thing that the purchasers of the United States army cornered in Europe. What about potatoes and figs?

I was not a stay-at-home, but served about a year and a half over there, and part of this time in one of Dawes' offices at the Hotel Elysée in Paris, and I know whereof I speak, A. P. C.

A RECRUIT FOR THE 5 CENT FARE PLAN.

Chicago, Feb. 7.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I am a lady with an electric vehicle. I used to be happy. I am now trynig to learn the new parking laws. It is a wretched life, when the single spot you are allowed to stand your car (within a mile of the place you want to be) can be reached only by wading ankle deep in a puddling of mud. I am ready thankfully to join the straphangers. FRANCES SHAW.

MAKING THE CAUSES OF HIGH RENTS AS CLEAR AS MUD.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 4.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The editor is right when he says high rents are based mainly on cessation of new building. But to say wrong when he throws the blame on the so-called "law of supply and demand."

This economic term is so often dinged at us that we almost believe some infinite force that controls us is the act of setting prices. In truth the pseudo "law" is a mere theoretical dogma that applies only to an imaginary world, that has little application to the world of fact, the reasoning of which is totally disproved by the market place today. There is nothing to it beyond the assumption that men in trade will act in accord with the varying supply of things and the demand for them, which any business man knows is money phonily not the fact.

I will start building when this talk about underproduction and overpopulation stops. Prevailing prices are pure and simple. No one but a half-brain would buy or build.

If I can make as much money on $1 worth as I can selling $10 in the smaller quantity, provided I want to be a thief. Such is the course of business today; and any other explanation of it arises from ignorance or apologists prater in defense of extortionists.

A. M. FAIRBAIRN.

EXPLAINING ONE FEATURE OF THE RAILROAD CONTROVERSY.

Logansport, Ind., Feb. 3.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Referring to the railroad wage controversy which is now being strenuously discussed, I note that a friend, Mr. Atterbury, gave the public clerks a rap yesterday. He stated that in 1917 there were 184,067 clerks employed on roads and in 1920 221,691, and that the wages paid in 1917 was $159,000,506 and $299,300,000 in 1920, an increase of 112 per cent. This statement is very deceptive, for the reason he does not give the cause of the increase. Had he wished to be fair he would have stated that reorganization of the roads into "regions" created many new offices and roads, necessitating the employment of many more clerks, bringing the increase up to 112 per cent, where, if the force had remained normal, the actual increase amounts to 25 per cent in money. This is the actual individual increase in pay that the clerks have received. I think that the wage board will agree with me when I say that the clerks have received the smallest increase of any of the railroad crafts. R. R. CLERK.

FOR A STRIKE OF MOTHERS.

Chicago, Feb. 4.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—We hear much talk these days about race suicide, but who wants to be a mother these days when she cannot even compete in a contest for a $10,000 cash prize? The rules of the contest strictly eliminate a mother. THE TRIBUNE seems to have no respect at all for this class. Did the politeness reporter ever ask the mothers of six children, one who has all her own work, washing, ironing, cooking, mending? If mothers go out on a strike for eight hours, no night shifts with a screaming baby or a sick child. We might lose our youthful beauty—but where would this good old world be? A. G. F.

VOTE TO REMAIN BRITISH

The Union of South Africa, composed of the four provinces of Cape of Good Hope, Natal, Orange Free State, and Transvaal, and indicated on the map by solid shades, has voted to remain in the British empire as a self-governing dominion. The alternative was whether it would set up as an independent republic.

The leader of the successful party was Gen. Jan Christian Smuts, and that of the defeated party was Gen. Hertzog. Both generals were formerly Boer leaders against the British.

Other British possessions in southern Africa outside the Union are indicated by a shaded outline.

Which State Leads in Beautiful Girls?

IN sending in photographs for THE TRIBUNE'S $20,200 beauty contest, write plainly on the back of the photograph the name, home address, and occupation of the entrant.

Don't forget to give the contestant's occupation. This has been neglected in some instances. And it is very important that the rules of the contest be followed carefully.

It was necessary to throw out the photograph of one very beautiful girl because she did not mention her occupation.

Photographs that do not bear the occupation of the entrant will have to be eliminated from the contest.

If a girl has no occupation and is staying at home, state that she is a "home girl." If she is going to school or college, say "student."

Clerk, office girl, stenographer, telephone operator, teacher, waitress, home girl, student—it makes no difference. But the girl's occupation must be stated on the back of the photograph along with the name and address.

Irene B. of Marion, Ind., writes that she would like to send in her photograph. "But," she adds, "as I am a poor working girl I don't suppose there is any chance for me."

Irene is mistaken. This contest is open to every girl, unmarried or a widow, who resides anywhere in Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, and Wisconsin. And a poor girl has the same chance as a rich girl.

Those entering the contest will not be obliged to compete with movie actresses or artist's models, for professional beauties are barred.

If Irene is found the most beautiful girl in the central west she will be given $10,000. In addition, she will win $1,000 for being the most beautiful girl in the territorial division where she resides, making $11,000 in all.

A girl in a gingham frock may win where silks and fine feathers lose.

The search is being made for the most beautiful girl in the central west.

The sum of $11,000 will go to some one girl.

It will go to some girl who has gone to no more trouble and expense than the sending in of her photograph to "Beauty Contest," CHICAGO TRIBUNE, 7 South Dearborn street, Chicago.

In addition to the grand prize, ten prizes will be given to each of the six territorial divisions—the city of Chicago, the state of Illinois outside Chicago, the state of Indiana, the state of Iowa, the state of Michigan, and the state of Wisconsin. The first prize in each of these divisions will be $1,000, the second $250, the third $100, and the remaining seven $50 each.

Which of the five states in the central west leads in the matter of beautiful girls?

Photographs entered in the contest will appear in THE TRIBUNE daily and in the rotogravure section on Sunday until the close of the contest on April 9.

The printing of these photographs from day to day gives an opportunity for picking this state or that as being the home of the greatest number of beautiful girls.

When the Art institute judges speak, which of the five states will carry off the most honors? Which state will be found to be the home of the most beautiful girl in all the central west?

That there may be no regrets those who are eligible to the contest should send in their photographs now.

Photographs will not be returned unless accompanied by a stamped and self-addressed envelope of proper size.

Which state has the most beautiful girls of any state in the central west?

Every one of the five states included in the contest is represented on this page.

Do you know any girl more beautiful than these?

See that she sends in her photograph!

AKING THE CAUSES OF HIGH RENTS AS CLEAR AS MUD.

nn Arbor, Mich., Feb. 4.—[Editor of Tribune.]—The editor is right when says high rents are based mainly on ation of new building. But he is ng when he throws the blame on the called "law of supply and demand." his economic term is so continually ged at us that we almost believe it he infinite force that controls men's act of setting prices. In truth this udo-"law" is a mere theoretical dog that applies only to an imaginary rld, that has little application to a rld of fact, the reasoning of which is lly disproved by the market facts of ay. There is nothing to it beyond the umption that men in trade set prices accord with the varying supply of gs and the demand for them, which business man knows is more comly not the fact.

will start building when this palaver ut underproduction and overconsumpstops. Prevailing prices are robbery e and simple. No one but a harin would buy or build.

I can make as much money selling worth as I can selling $10 I'll sell the aller quantity, provided I want to be f. Such is the course of business to ; and any other explanation of it es from ignorance or apologistic patin defense of extortionists.

PLAINING ONE FEATURE OF THE RAILROAD CONTROVERSY.

ogansport, Ind., Feb. 3.—[Editor of Tribune.]—Referring to the railroad e controversy which is now being so nuously discussed, I note that our nd, Mr. Atterbury, gave the railroad ks a rap yesterday. He stated that 1917 there were 134,063 clerks emyed on roads and in 1920 238,693, and t the wages paid in 1917 was $189,000, and $398,300,000 in 1920, an increase 112 per cent. This statement is very eptive, for the reason he does not give cause of the increase. Had he wanted be fair he would have stated that the rganization of the roads into "reng" created many new offices on all ds, necessitating the employment of y more clerks, bringing the increase to 112 per cent, where, if the forces remained normal, the actual increase ounts to 25 per cent in money. This he actual individual increase in pay the clerks have received. I think the wage board will agree with me n I say that the clerks have received smallest increase of any of the railcrafts.

MASTER'S REPORT URGES JAIL FOR UNION LEADERS

'Building Trust' Activities Afford Basis.

Jail sentences for William Brims president of the Carpenters' District Council of Chicago, and Thomas F. Church, a business agent, were recommended yesterday by Master in Chancery William H. A. Rust, following a hearing on the contempt proceedings brought against the two men by the Anderson and Lind Manufacturing company.

Brims was one of the forty-seven mill men, union labor officials and contractors indicted two weeks ago by the federal grand jury on charges of violating the anti-trust section of the Sherman law.

Writ Violated, Charge.

In the present case he and Church, who is business agent of Carpenters' Union, Local 181, were charged with violating an injunction issued in 1915 restraining the union from threatening, coercing or intimidating any one dealing with the manufacturing company or using its products.

Master in Chancery Rust, in his report, found Brims and Church had been guilty of violating the injunction, not only technically, but actually and more or less flagrantly, and recommended that they "be punished for contempt of court, and that something more than a fine, namely a jail sentence, be imposed."

The case grew out of the activities of the two men in hindering the construction of an apartment building, being constructed at 4027 Irving Park boulevard by Robert A. Pottinger, a real estate operator and builder. Pottinger contracted with the Anderson and Lind Manufacturing company for the interior furnishings for the building, but Brims and Church would not allow union carpenters to put them up because they didn't bear the union label, it is charged.

Strikes Are Ordered.

Every time Pottinger would hire carpenters to work on the building, either Church or Brims would come around, it is alleged, and order them from the job, and as a result completion of the building was delayed for several weeks.

Pottinger complained to the manufacturing company, which filed a petition asking that the union officials be held in contempt of court for violation of an injunction issued in a similar case several years previous. The case came up before former Judge McGoorty in the Superior court, who assigned it to Master Rust for hearing.

Following the issuing of the injunction in 1915 restraining the unions from discriminating against manufacturers whose products didn't bear the union label the "closed shop" mill men, the carpenters' association, and members of the building trades in 1918 entered into an agreement, and it was this agreement which formed the basis for the grand jury action. It provided that only union made materials, bearing the union stamp, could be used on jobs done by union men.

Officials Are Witnesses.

Mr. Pottinger and officials of the Anderson & Lind company were witnesses before the federal grand jury which voted the indictments against the mill men and others.

Asked last night if he cared to say anything concerning the recommendations made by Master Rust, Mr. Brims said:

"Well, what the hell of it. Nothing to say."

Following a hearing on objections today in which Attorney Edmund W. Foelich, representing the manufacturing company, will oppose the pleas of attorneys of the union to have the jail sentence stricken out, the report will be filed before Judge Torrison, who will act on the recommendations made by the master.

A council of war was held in Mayor Thompson's office yesterday to prepare a defense to the Circuit court quo warranto proceedings against the Thompson ward committeemen.

State's Attorney Crowe, former Judge George F. Barrett, and Acting Corporation Counsel James W. "We plan on hitting those back of this move from so many angles that they will not know what has struck them," one of the conferees said.

CHICAGO MARINE'S RHINE ROMANCE LAUGHS AT 'WAR'

New York, Feb. 9.—[Special.]—A romance which began exactly two years ago on the banks of the Rhine and which involved Maj. Gen. John A. Le Jeune of the United States Marine corps and Secretary of State Bainbridge Colby was learned today.

Former First Lieut. James Frank Smith of the 2d division, A. E. F., residing in Chicago, is the bridegroom, and the girl who remained hopeful for two years was Miss Erna Rosa Forstmayer. She is the first German girl to come to America to be married to an American citizen since the war. They were married at St. Francis of Assisi church by special dispensation last night. Today they are en route to Chicago to reside.

Bracelet Seals Pact.

When Jimmy Smith, with his 6th regiment of marines, left the banks of the Rhine for the states in July, 1919, Erna slipped a small gold mesh bracelet on his left wrist.

"If you love me, James, this bracelet will never become loose from your wrist. Good-by and good luck," she said.

After the wedding ceremony last night Lieut. Smith held out his left wrist to his bride and she solemnly unclasped the bracelet and they kissed as a token of their sincerity.

Smith went over to France and later to the bridgeheads of the Rhine in Germany as a sergeant. He was decorated with the French fouragere and given a single silver bar on his shoulders.

Meets Her on Rhine.

He was soon made a fleet supply officer and had charge of one of the vessels on the Rhine. In this work he met Miss Forstmayer. It was a case of love at first sight for them both. Because of the order against fraternizing with German girls Smith was forbidden to marry her and take her back to the states.

Disheartened, Smith left Germany. He told her he would return for her. This she refused because of "the expense of the trip," she explained.

"War" Is Forgotten.

Meantime, Smith implored his commanding officer, Maj. Gen. Le Jeune, to intercede with the state department. Le Jeune talked it over with Bainbridge Colby. Colby finally acceded to the request to permit Smith's sweetheart to leave Germany, even though we were technically "at war with Germany." Miss Forstmayer set sail aboard the Lapland from Antwerp.

A traveler's aid representative met Miss Forstmayer at the pier and took her to Smith, then at the church.

Efforts to find Lieut. Smith's family in Chicago last night were unavailing.

A WOMAN selling cornflakes to Kentucky jobbers bumped into the recent business depression, retrenchment, cancellations. 1921 Fighters' Contest,
The Chicago Tribune,
Chicago, Ill.

Gentlemen:-

While sitting in the little station of Middlesboro, Ky., on last Friday, footsore and very weary from walking many miles during the week in the slush and snow of the mountain roads, I felt greatly depressed when I chanced to see in large type "1921 WILL REWARD FIGHTERS" on a much soiled newspaper at my feet.

I mentally questioned-just what does it mean by a fighter? Does persistency, stick-to-it-ness, I wonder? With my interest aroused in the slogan I brushed the dirt from the sheet of paper and found it to be a copy of the Chicago Tribune, Jan. 15, 1921. in which was offered rewards to the real fighting salesmen of this year from the view point of the Tribune.

From my experience and results of a hard fight this month, I feel disposed to write you. I have been a 'peddler' ten years. I represent Kellogg Corn Flake Company in the state of Kentucky and I wish to say that I have worked earlier and later and shoveled corn flakes with a greater effort these four weeks than ever before.

In early fall of 1920 I made shipments of 25 cs to 100 cs of our products to all the mountain town jobbers expecting our sampling crew to do their usual promotive work. But swift on the heels of the shipments came the great decline in the market. Our Company felt it necessary to dispense with this mode of work for the time being. Hence the jobbers began to fire in their letters of complaint wishing to return the greater part to the warehouses or withhold payment of the invoices, the latter they did. I mentally determined to go single-handed and clean up 100% of their stock if I had to sell it from house to house

It has taken me four weeks to do it but I have a check for every invoice and a new order from each and every house.

During the last ten days I have covered eighty five miles in a freight truck, made one mountain town by means of a freight train.

In Somerset (the topography of which exceeds the Seven Hills of Rome) after putting in my usual window displays, calling on all merchants and restaurants, I found I still had 2cs of Krumbled Bran left in one jobbers warehouse (there are two jobbers in Somerset).

I asked a newsboy if he knew of any merchant on whom I had not called giving him my list of names. He mentioned Mr. Hale on top of the highest hill above the depot. Although exhausted, I climbed the hill to find a young girl in the store who stated her father was at home ill with rheumatism and acute indigestion. She pointed to her home on yon furtherest hill where I went to see the father. I was not long in convincing him that Krumbled Bran was what he needed and so disposed of my two cases.

The President of one of these mountain chains of Wholesale Groceries lives at Burnside, Ky. After completing my work in all the towns where his stores are located, I carried to him the O.K.'d invoices from the different Managers and asked if he were satisfied. He replied, "MRS. GIBSON, I KNOW IT LOOKS 'CHINCHY' IN US, BUT WE FELT WE HAD TO BE SHOWN THESE MOUNTAIN PEOPLE WOULD EAT KRUMBLED BRAN AND IT HAS BROUGHT OUT THE FIGHTING SPIRIT IN YOU.""

With the same fighting spirit, I intend to increase the sale of Kellogg Corn Flakes in Kentucky 100% in 1921.

Very truly,
Mrs G. L. Gibson

What Have You Done To Make Business Better?

The Chicago Tribune has met 1921 with tremendous circulation increases—840,000 net paid last Sunday and 460,000 average net paid during the six days preceding. Mrs. Gibson kept groceries moving in the Kentucky mountains. What have you done? What are you doing? Write us about it at once. Ten Rewards of $100 each for the best letters. Contest closes Feb. 15.

GIRL TELLS HOW AMERICO CUNEO 'LOST' AFFECTION

Letters in $50,000 Suit Bare Love's Flitting.

Somewhere between Chicago and California in January, 1917, Americo F. Cuneo, son of Frank Cuneo, wealthy commission merchant, "lost his affection" for pretty Margaret Catherine Lavezzorie of 3760 Indiana avenue.

As a result Miss Lavezzorio is engaged in a legal fight before Judge Theodore Brentano of the Superior court to win heart balm of $50,000.

On the witness stand yesterday she testified that Cuneo after an ardent courtship gave her a diamond ring and obtained her promise in April, 1916, to be married to him. A score of letters were read to the jurors.

Can't Make Chaplin Smile.

Miss Lavezzorio said it was not until September of 1919 that she became convinced Cuneo did not mean to marry her.

"I learned," she said, "that he had married his cousin, Irene Cuneo, daughter of a banker in San Mateo, Cal. One month later I began my suit."

Cuneo in letters written from Los Angeles mentioned that Charlie Chaplin, the comedian, occupied the room next to his at the Athletic club.

"He is always alone and he never smiles, so I imagine he does not care for my company," Cuneo wrote.

He Loses His Affection.

Writing from Excelsior Springs, Mo., on Feb. 25, 1917, Cuneo addressed the Chicago girl as "Dearest Margaret" and informed her she was the first person to whom he had written. A few days later he wrote:

"I have been horseback riding the last few days, but it does not seem to help me much. We have a dance every night, but I have not attempted dancing as yet. I have not the desire to dance—My sense of affection has not come back as yet. When it does I shall be the happiest man in the world. If I should come to myself I shall let you know at once.

"Well, dearie, be of good cheer. This is what my father wrote me in his last letter. Now, can you explain to me how I can be of good cheer while my sense of affection is dead? Well, I suppose I shall regain it in the near future. Your loving child,

"A. F. CUNEO."

Pens Kisses She Missed.

On March 25 Cuneo wrote from Los Angeles that he would send Miss Lavezzorio a telegram when his "affection came back." He signed the letter "Your faithful boy as yet." At the bottom of the page he added:

"This you are missing—XXXXX."

Miss Lavezzorio testified the letters stood for kisses.

Another letter read:

"I shall not be satisfied until you and I are happily married.

"Don't worry about my not keeping my promise. I shall do this if it's the last act of my life."

In the same strain he wrote on a later date: "I feel assured that when my mind becomes more settled, and I feel as I should, I will marry you. I hope to come to the decision soon."

When Love Grows Cold.

Succeeding letters indicate a growing coldness. Cuneo laments that he hasn't "found his affection." Finally in July, 1917, he asked that his ring be returned.

"I have not received my ring as yet. I admired that ring very much, for the first diamond father gave me is in it," he told the girl.

When she reminded him of the kisses he had given her, he wrote:

"Now, as far as kissing, that is one of the natural actions toward a girl when she goes with a fellow. . . I am not going to get married. I don't go with other girls."

Miss Lavezzorio's mother will testify today concerning Cuneo's courtship of her daughter, according to Attorney Wallace Streeter, the girl's counsel.

PAROLE GRANTED O'CALLAGHAN ON TUMULTY ORDER

Wilson Believed Ruling Came from President.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—With the expiration tomorrow of the time limit fixed for the departure of Donal O'Callaghan, the stowaway lord mayor of Cork, it was learned today that the action of Secretary of Labor Wilson in admitting O'Callaghan on parole was taken because of the intercession of Joseph P. Tumulty, secretary to the president.

Acting on his own initiative, and without consultation with the president, Tumulty, when word was received here of O'Callaghan's arrest by immigration officials in Norfolk as a stowaway attempting to enter the United States without a passport, communicated by telephone with Secretary of Labor Wilson and asked that the lord mayor be paroled pending an appeal.

Believed President Gave Order.

Believing that Tumulty's message represented the will of the president, Secretary Wilson, without consultation with the state department, reversed the decision of the immigration authorities at Norfolk deporting O'Callaghan, and authorized his admission on parole. The state department set forth strong reasons why no exception should be made in favor of O'Callaghan.

Wilson Backs Tumulty.

Because of the embarrassing position in which the secretary of labor had been placed through the action of Tumulty, the president sustained his ruling, giving O'Callaghan the status of a "seaman," with permission to reship "within a reasonable time, but established definitely the principle that the state department must be consulted in such cases and no independent or summary action taken in future by the department of labor.

BOOST RENTS BY WILDCAT SALES, TENANTS CHARGE

20 Per Cent Profits Are Alleged.

Wildcat speculations in Chicago apartment house property are responsible for rent raises, it was charged last night by J. R. Patterson, president of the Chicago Tenants' Protective league. Coupled with the accusation was one that rents are being based upon the theory that a building should earn 20 per cent on its owner's investment. Both charges Mr. Patterson said, were based on the result of an investigation made by his organization.

"The rents have been boosted beyond the high water mark not so much in order to give the dealers and owners an increased income but to enable the sale of the buildings to some sucker," said Mr. Patterson. "Apartment building owners and real estate firms have gone wild in an orgy of wildcat speculation in apartment buildings.

Sales Ruining Tenants.

"It is the continual sales of apartment buildings now paying owners excess profits which are ruining the tenants. They have demoralized the landlords. This year the wild scramble to sell apartment buildings at far more than they are worth is greater than ever."

E. A. Potter, business manager of the tenants' organization, gave an answer yesterday to persons who criticized the league for not coöperating with the Chicago real estate board. He again charged the real estate men with hypocrisy and declared that the tenants would be glad to coöperate if the real estate board and its members would open their books for the inspection of District Attorney Clyne.

Complaints Pour In.

Complaints of tenants continued to pour into the office of the tenants' league yesterday. Among them was one from occupants of thirteen apartments at 823 North Lamon avenue. The rent is $45 a month. The owner, J. L. Selmayer & Co., 4803 North Crawford avenue, now demands $75.

Another complaint was from tenants at 6006 Prairie avenue. The rent was formerly $52.50. The tenants are paying $62.50 and they charge that the owners, August Flaxman and Boyle & Co., demand $85 for May 1 leases. A tenant at 620 East Seventieth place charges that Alex Mendelsahn, his landlord, called upon him on Jan. 28 and offered a new lease at $45 a month which is the same as he is paying. On Feb. 1 the tenant called upon the landlord and stated his willingness to sign the lease. The landlord sent him to McKey & Poague, who told him the rent would be $65.

Tax Board to Act.

The county began coöperating with the city yesterday in the war on rent profiteers. Assurance that the members of the board of review would act in conjunction with the city was given by Stephen Griffin, chief clerk. Mr. Griffin was visited by Ald. John Lyle and Ald. Robert J. Mulcahy, who asked that the board of review raise the tax rates of rent profiteers to a corresponding figure.

L. M. Smith, president of the Chicago Real Estate board, yesterday again refused to discuss the rent situation other than to denounce the Tenants' league. He said that any statements to be given out would be made by Gen. Abel Davis, chairman of the board's arbitration committee, who is expected to return from the east today.

The city's rent complaint bureau is now open and ready for business, City Real Estate Agent Joseph F. Peacock announced yesterday

NEGRO, SHERIFF FORGOT TO HANG, MAY BE HANGED

New Orleans, La., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—Lonnie Eaton, Negro whom the sheriff of Ouichita parish "forgot to hang," may be allowed to live or he may be hanged merely by setting another day for the execution.

Attorney General Coco said today all that is necessary is to carry out the sentence on another day to be set by the governor, but as a member of the state board of pardons and paroles, Mr. Coco said investigation had convinced him that the Negro should not be hanged. Charles McQuiller, a white planter, for whose death Eaton was to be hanged, was "killed during a fray," Mr. Coco said.

Sheriff Grant, who later "forgot," as part of the plea to the pardon board, had said to hang Eaton would be a "travesty on justice."

QUIET? Yes!
AND MORE!

The Noiseless Typewriter is more than merely noiseless. It is the fastest stock machine made. It is economical. It does beautiful work. It is durable.

After all—why should any one buy a noisy typewriter? Noise adds nothing to its speed or good work—it has much to do with shattering your nerves and impeding your thinking.

The best way for you to appreciate the value of The Noiseless Typewriter is to have it in your office—to write on it yourself—to have your secretary write on it—to know it and judge it by personal, day-by-day experience.

The Noiseless is the one notable advance in typewriter construction during the past twenty years.

WHAT MOVING DAY MEANS TO WILSON AND AIDS

Careers of 'Cabinet' After March 4 Told.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—Alone among the members of his official family, President Wilson intends to remain in Washington after March 4. The report that he would go into seclusion on leaving office was scouted at the White House today by Secretary Tumulty.

"The president will continue to take an active interest in the country's affairs," he said. "He will live in Washington and he will appear in public. He resented the reports that he would go into seclusion, and wanted to know on whose authority they had been published."

Mr. Tumulty intimated that the president might take an active part in the reorganization of the Democratic party, although he has thus far refused to take sides in any party controversy.

Good News for Europe.

Vice President Marshall, on the contrary, looks forward with glad anticipation to March 4, on which day he will become, and remain a private citizen.

"I've been in politics all my life," he said today. "Now I'm done. The first thing I am going to do is make some money. For the last twelve years I've been in office. It has kept me poor. Looks as if, granting I'm ever going to make any money, I'd better be starting. I have a family to support."

A lecture tour will keep him occupied for several weeks. Then he is going to Europe for the first time in his life.

"I'm not going over to tell 'em what's wrong with Europe," he said. "I'm not going to confer with any 'leading minds.' They should be glad to see me over there. They don't often see an American who has not a mission."

Colby to Practice Law.

Secretary of State Colby will return to his home and probably resume his law practice in New York.

Secretary Daniels will go back to Raleigh as editor of the News and Observer.

The secretary of war and Mrs. Baker have made their reservations and will leave on March 5 for Cleveland, where Mr. Baker's law office awaits his coming.

Attorney General Palmer will also practice law, either here or in Stroudsburg, Pa.

Secretary of Interior Payne will tender his resignation as director general of railroads. He will divide his time between Washington and Chicago and will devote himself to the work of the south park commission in Chicago, of which he is president.

Postmaster General Burleson will return to Texas to his private affairs.

Mr. Meredith, secretary of agriculture, will return to his home in Des Moines and the management of "Successful Farming," which he established in 1902.

Secretary of the Treasury Houston, Secretary of Commerce Alexander and Secretary of Labor Wilson have no definite plans.

IOWA EDUCATOR

First Woman to Serve on Iowa Board of Education.

MISS ANNA D. LAWTHER.

McGregor, Ia., Feb. 9.—Women should be placed upon all state boards having control of state institutions, Gov. Nate Kendall of Iowa has declared. One of his first acts as governor was to recommend the appointment of Miss Anna D. Lawther to the state board of education. The Iowa senate confirmed the appointment.

Miss Lawther is Democratic national committeewoman from Iowa and stumped Iowa against Harding and Kendall last fall. As president of the Iowa Equal Suffrage league she has been the leader for years in the suffrage fight in Iowa.

POOR EYES OF 3 DRY AGENTS SAVE ONE SALOON MAN

Landis Closes Places of Fourteen Others.

"Was it built of wood, or was it brick?"

Three special booze investigators scratched their heads industriously in Judge Landis' courtroom yesterday afternoon when they were asked that question concerning the saloon of Edward Bein, 1340 West North avenue.

The witnesses had just been turned over to Attorney Michael Igoe for cross examination after they had testified the saloonman had violated a federal injunction by selling whisky. Conviction meant a year in jail for Bein.

"Well, what do you say?" demanded the attorney when the first witness did not answer immediately.

"I say it was wood," said No. 1. "It was a wooden two story building."

Witness No. 2 looked at the ceiling, twisted nervously in his chair and finally decided the saloon was built of wood. The third witness agreed with his predecessors.

"You are sure of that, are you?" said Attorney Igoe. "I'm glad to hear it. You fellows say the whisky was purchased in a woodel saloon. Well, my client's building is built of brick."

When he furnished a photograph to prove his contention, Judge Landis dismissed the petition against Bein. Later the three investigators visited the building again and admitted it was brick.

Bein, however, was the only lucky saloonman to face the judge. During the day fourteen saloons were ordered closed for liquor violations. This brings the total number of buildings closed under the abatement clause of the Volstead act up to forty-six. Millions of dollars' worth of property is involved.

Among the places closed was the De Luxe café, 3503 South State street, owned by Wallace Tyler and Isadore Shoor. Action was also started to street.

CROOK HANGOUTS CLOSED

"For rent" signs are being displayed prominently in some of Chicago's most notorious hangouts for crooks as the result of Chief of Police Fitzmorris' order that no "dry" saloon licenses be issued to applicants with criminal records.

All is dismal, for instance, in the saloon of Joe Norton, alias Joe Blue, well known pickpocket, at 43 North Wells street.

Huckle Dead, who conducted a soft drink emporium at the northwest corner of Racine avenue and Van Buren street, has gone out of business as the result of the chief's order. He has a long record as a pickpocket.

Charlie "Monkey Face" Genker, divekeeper, and Julius Rosenheim, whose saloon at Archer avenue and Halsted street was raided almost daily by Capt. Michael Gallery's men on the chief's orders, have sold out.

HUNEKER, NOTED WRITER ON ART, DIES SUDDENLY

Galli-Curci Cheered as His Colleagues Mourn.

BY JAMES WHITTAKER.

New York, Feb. 9.—[Special.]—James Gibbons Huneker's opinion of Galli-Curci at the Manhattan tonight will be missing tomorrow morning. The veteran herald of all that was hopeful in American art and artists, died tonight, an hour before the curtains of the two opera houses went up. In each house there was a seat that never again will accommodate his combination of honest, vigorous opinion and sparkling, lucid comment.

The 61 year old dean of New York art news writers had suffered an attack of pneumonia and had tried to shake it off by forgetting about it. With characteristic impetuosity he came to the offices of his newspaper on Tuesday to invent a column of the unexpected about music. The effort was the direct cause of his death at 6 o'clock in his home in the Westminster Court apartment, Beverly road, Flatbush.

News of Death Causes Emotion.

At the Manhattan, where Galli-Curci's New York debut in the French role of Juliet in Gounod's "Romeo and Juliet" had brought together all of Huneker's newspaper colleagues and a representative audience of intelligentsia, the news of the death crept through the audience and left a striking phenomenon of emotion in its wake. Mary Garden, for whom Huneker had been always a manner of public panegyrist, had the word whispered to her during the second act. She sent word that she was too overcome to comment on the news.

In the press room of the opera house an argument among the critics over Curci's overtones died suddenly. A minute after the news had imposed a dead silence in this assembly, a chorus ended an act in the auditorium, and a wild cheer for Galli-Curci rang out. There was a striking contrast between the delirium of the audience and the silent respect of the press room for the dead.

Huneker's Gift to Art.

By what work has Huneker earned such spontaneous tribute as was his from all of New York's artist world tonight? The answer is a record of important literary effort. The word effort, however, is the last of all to use to define Huneker, who was an inspired scribbler. He has published many books. All of them have that nervous, make-the-dead-line quality of the best newspaper writing.

But his real contributions to American literature have been his "jottings" fresh from an impression and still hot with a reaction.

To all arts he brought the luminous, tale-telling quality of his style. He has been successively and sometimes simultaneously a critic of music, drama, painting, and books.

Huneker came to New York from Philadelphia in 1886. His first night in "Bagdad on the Subway" was spent in the old Morton house, in Union square, where he obtained a room for a dollar. The next morning he found a boarding house where, to quote his own words, he "paid $8 a week for room and board and complained if there wasn't beefsteak for breakfast."

He obtained employment with the Musical Courier, remaining on its staff for fifteen years. Few men acquired a better knowledge of the art and artists of the period between 1886 to 1900 when American art was going through its natal throes. For when Huneker worked on the Courier Anton Seidl and Anton Dvorak could be found daily in the old Vienna café next to Grace church and Theodore Thomas lived on East Seventeenth street, directing the destinies of the American Opera company.

At the time of his death Huneker was the music critic of the New York Morning World. During his lifetime he had written for nearly all of the New York dailies. It was quite fitting that he should die a newspaper man.

MAYOR CENTERS FIGHT ON FISHER, LAST OF 'ANTIS'

Thirty-second Ward Battle Grows Warm.

Among the insiders in the Thompson organization there is deeper interest in the outcome of the aldermanic election in the Thirty-second ward than in any of the other contests on Feb. 22.

Ald. Albert J. Fisher, a veteran, is seeking reëlection there. Against him City Purchasing Agent James Rea, Thompson committeeman, is running Benjamin S. Wilson, a board of trade man, and the fight is one of the warmest in the city.

But victory for Wilson would be welcome to the city hall not only because it would give it another vote in the council, but because it would mean the elimination of the last of the original group of anti-Thompson battlers from the city council.

Last of "Antis."

Defeats, retirement, and election to other offices have been reducing the group for six years. Among those who were put out or dropped out of the battle were Charles E. Merriam, Willis O. Nance, John N. Kimball, George Pretzel, John Kjellander, Oliver L. Watson, Harry E. Littler, Henry D. Capitain, and A. A. McCormick.

The Thompson forces feel that they already have Ald. W. F. Lipps, one of the original "antis" who shifted his position recently, out of the running. Although he expected the Thompson support on Feb. 22, it is being given to Charles G. Hendricks, leaving Lipps out in the cold, since his old organization is against him for "playing with the city hall."

Trouble in Third Ward.

Trouble has broken out among the city hall lieutenants in the Third ward, where W. A. Bither, attorney for the board of education and Thompson committeeman, gave his preference to John H. Johntry, although others in the organization considered themselves more entitled to the place. A big Jewish vote is being swung toward Edward D. Loewenthal, the Socialist, as a protest demonstration against the city hall because of the Sachs case.

Newspaper advertisements are believed by the readers in direct proportion to the truthfulness of new stories among which they are placed, according to Tracy Ellis of Indianapolis, in an address yesterday to the Better Business bureau of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, at their session at the Hotel Sherman.

ROMANCE OF THE APPLE

At a farewell banquet in London many years ago, a maid was kissing her lover goodby.

Playfully she slipped into his pocket a seed from an apple she had just eaten.

That seed, planted in Vancouver, has become the oldest apple tree on this side the Atlantic.

Which adds another chapter to the Romance of the Apple so deliciously served at CHILDS.

Luscious baked apples served in their own sweet syrup or with rich cream.

Better Than Calomel
Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Are a Harmless Substitute.
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel.
The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place. Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "logy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 30c.

A. L. MAGNATES TO MEET IN FINAL WINTER SESSION

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

American league baseball magnates will assemble tomorrow in Cleveland for the final session of a winter filled with gatherings of the diamond moguls President Johnson announced yesterday that he had sent out a call to the club-owners of his organization to meet and wind up the business connected with the game's reorganization, which has being going on since November.

The main thing of importance is the approval and adoption of rules and working measures laid out by the advisory council at its meeting here last Saturday. At that time Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, commissioner of baseball, met with President Johnson of the American, President Heydler of the National, and President Sexton of the Minors' association. A number of rules for an agreement between the majors and between the majors and minors, were established, but will not be effective until approved formally by the leagues.

Will Adopt Schedule.

The formal matter of adopting the schedule for next year will also take place, though it is purely a formality, as the schedule committee has absolute power in framing the dates. This was done in January, when the majors and minors gathered here.

There are two or three trades of considerable importance now on the fire which may be completed at the session tomorrow. Most important is one, rumors of which came out of the east, saying that Clark Griffith would give Sam Rice and Joe Judge to New York for Ping Bodie, Wallie Pipp, and Jack Quinn. Many of the experts doubt that Griffith has agreed to such a deal, as they figure he would be giving New York much the better of it.

Rice a Corking Player.

Sam Rice has developed into the best base runner in the American league and one of the best batters and outfielders. Joe Judge is considered second only to Sisler as a first baseman. Such a deal would make the Yankees a powerful team in spite of the fact they would be losing a strong and reliable pitcher in Quinn.

COLLINS BEATS LORD IN 18-2 BILLIARD MEET

Cleveland, O., Feb. 9.—Percy Collins of Chicago, titleholder, defeated Robert M. Lord of Chicago, by a score of 300 to 66 in the first game of today's play in the national amateur 18.2 balk billiard championship tournament.

Collins had an average of 15 15-19 and high runs of 70, 50 and 47. Lord averaged 3 9-18 with high runs of 22 and 14.

Edgar T. Appelby of New York, won the second game from Dr. A. I. Brown of Cleveland, 300 to 82. Appleby played a fairly open game, having nine runs in double figures. He had high runs of 51, 33 and 32, and an average of 8 28-34. Brown averaged 2 14-34, with high runs of 13 and 12.

Appleby had fine control, especially on the short rail, and defeated Charles Heddon of Dowagiac, Mich., 300 to 144, in the night match. Appleby had an average of 21 6-14 and Heddon 11 1-13.

Appleby had high runs of 90, 58, and 52 and Heddon 80, 21, and 17.

EIGHT INDICTED WHITE SOX TRIAL SET FOR MARCH 14

The eight Chicago White Sox ball players who were indicted with Abe Attell and several others for alleged throwing of the 1919 world's series at Cincinnati, will go to trial on March 14, it was announced yesterday. Their trial will be held before Criminal Court Judge William Dever. Judge Dever announced that he would see that the case went to trial on schedule.

"I will have the decks all cleared and will not consider any requests for postponements," he said.

Only two of the indicted players appeared in court yesterday. They were "Hap" Felsch, outfielder, and "Buck" Weaver, third baseman. Both these players plan to make a fight. Weaver is reported as willing to wager $500 he will be with the White Sox this coming season. All the other players excepting Hal Chase were represented by counsel.

Plans Extradition of Two.

Assistant State's Attorney George E. Gorman announced that he expected to start extradition proceedings against Chase and R. Brown, said to be a Boston gambler. Neither of these two was represented.

That difficulty is expected in getting a jury to try the players was indicated by Dever's action in instructing the sheriff to call a special venire of 100 men for the trial.

BIG PRO SKATERS ENTERED IN LAKE PLACID CLASSICS

Lake Placid, N. Y., Feb. 9.—Virtually all professional skaters in the country will be assembled here Feb. 18 and 19 for a series of six races, including 220 and 440 yard dashes, the half mile and one, two, and three mile events, for the American professional championship.

Officials predicted record crowds for the opening of the international amateur races tomorrow.

POOR ICE DELAYS SCHOOLBOY TEST; REPORT TODAY!

Because of poor condition of the ice at Garfield park, final tests to select a team of Chicago schoolboy skaters to meet a similar squad in New York City March 5 have been postponed until Saturday at 2 o'clock.

While the trials have been set back a few days, the sixty-two skaters eligible for the finals must report at Garfield park today to receive instructions regarding the trials and the races in New York. They also will be given racing pointers by well known experts.

QUESTIONS THEY ASK.

CHICAGO.—[To the Editor.]—[1] Is fishing through the ice allowed at the Sag at Lemont, Ill.? [2] What are the best baits to use for fishing through the ice? [3] Is bread dough good? C. C. H.

Answers—[1] Yes; ice fishing is permitted in all Illinois water, but it is unlawful to erect houses on the ice for such fishing. [2] Minnows; cut bait will do. For large pickerel a smelt from the fish market makes a good lure; a perch with the back fins clipped is good also. [3] No. Bread dough is a carp bait and these fish are not active during the winter months.

Daytona Beach, Fla.—[To the Editor.]—Being down here, where there are plenty of fish and no taxidermists, I am anxious to know something about mounting and preserving fish. I can get the skin off and do the stuffing act pretty well, but am up against it when it comes to preserving the skin and finishing it up. How is it done? C. M. B.

Answer—First place the fish on a large sheet of paper and draw its outline with a pencil. Remove the gills. Make your cut to remove the skin along the side you do not intend to show in your mount; never cut along the belly. Take off skin carefully so as not to break through or break scales. Remove all flesh, but keep the fin muscles attached to skin. Remove eyes and fill cavities with salt. Measure body of fish when taken from the skin. Preserve skin with salt until ready to use, placing it between pieces of heavy cardboard. Cover inside of skin with equal parts powdered alum and arsenic before mounting. Finish with oil paints. "Stuffing" a fish is not much of a trick, but painting it true to life is.

Kewanee, Ill.—[To the Editor.]—[1] Does the government sell sparrow hawks for the purpose of killing sparrows? [2] Are sparrow hawks protected by Illinois laws? J. H.

Answers—[1] No. [2] Yes.

HOG QUALITY.

EMPHASIS in the swine world today is being placed on the quality of hogs. Even with the present shortage the demand for quality is perhaps greater than the need for the growing of more hogs. Men who have never been interested in pure bred hogs before are vitally concerned with the problem of deciding which breed they are going to use to replace their grades.

Less than half a century ago there were no registered hogs of any breed. There are today twenty separate registry associations recording the pedigrees of twelve breeds. The number of hogs recorded each year is approximately 47,000, or two-thirds of 1 per cent of all the hogs produced in this country.

Judging from the number recorded each year the breeds rank in popularity in about the following order: Poland China, Duroc Jersey, Chester White, Hempshire, Spotted Poland China, Berkshire, Large Yorkshire, Tamworth, Kentucky Red Berkshire, Mulefoot, Essex, and Large Black. There are also a few Cheshire, Victoria, and Small Yorkshire hogs in the United States.

"POOCH" DONOVAN LOSES HARVARD JOB AS TRACK COACH

Cambridge, Mass., Feb. 9.—William F. ["Pooch"] Donovan, for fifteen years trainer of track, baseball and football teams at Harvard university, today was supplanted as coach of the track squad by William J. Bingham, graduate track director.

The action was taken by the graduate track committee after consideration of recent failures of Crimson track teams in intercollegiate competitions. The change was said to be in keeping with a plan to have coaching in the hands of graduates exclusively.

Donovan will continue his connection with the football and baseball teams as trainer. His success in bringing the Harvard eleven up to top form in the game with University of Oregon at Pasadena, Calif., a year ago gained him wide recognition as a trainer.

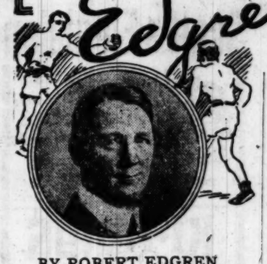
SPORTS through Edgren's EYES



BY ROBERT EDGREN.

ALL the forfeits for the Dempsey-Carpentier match were posted by Nov. 20, according to the terms of the contract—some in cash or securities and some by taking out a surety bond.

There never was any difficulty or misunderstanding between the promoters of the boxers and their managers. No chance. Neither Carpentier nor Dempsey have any idea of losing this match, and as for the promoters, when did Tex Rickard ever fail to finish anything he started? Rickard wants the match in this country, but is willing to travel if necessary. He's traveled before.

CAN'T STOP RICKARD.

I was with Rickard in San Francisco the day he received notice that the governor had suddenly reversed himself and decided to prevent the holding of the Jeffries-Johnson bout in California.

Rickard's arena in Central park, San Francisco, was nearly finished—a huge structure—and his seat sales were in the hundreds of thousands, indicating a gate running over half a million.

Any ordinary man would have rushed around, pleading and arguing and wasting time. But Tex Rickard didn't. He's the most sudden man in the world. In one day he closed up in Frisco and was on his way to Reno, Nev., with all arrangements made. He had all the ticket money refunded at the banks, sold his arena for used lumber, and arranged with the boxers to break camp.

In Nevada Jimmy McLaughlin built him a new arena in two weeks, finishing it the morning of the fight. Every detail of preparation was as smoothly carried out as if Rickard had never been forced to move, and the fight drew the greatest crowd and the biggest gate on record.

Nobody is going to stop Tex Rickard when he has once made up his mind to go.

TOUGH ON NEW YORK.

The New York boxing commission's action in limiting seat prices to $15 may have been intended to prevent holding the big match in New York. But what useful purpose did that serve? If the bout has to go elsewhere the state will lose a tremendous tax and New Yorkers will lose a chance to see the biggest sporting event of the kind ever held. Those New Yorkers who do travel to see the fight will pay a lot more than $15 for their seats and traveling expenses, too. The rest won't see anything.

New York always has taken pride in being the "Big Town" and in getting the best of everything—the best shows, races, baseball, boxing. But Milwaukee, Toledo, Reno, New Orleans, Colorado Springs, Newark, and a lot of other places on the map haven't decided yet that none of their citizens can afford to pay more than $15 for a $50 seat.

LEONARD ONCE TOOK THE COUNT.

A reader asks me if Benny Leonard was ever knocked down before Richie Mitchell clipped him on the chin.

Sure he was. Didn't Young Shugrue knock Benny out in four rounds away back in March 5, 1912? Shugrue was pretty good in those days and Benny was a youngster just climbing out of the preliminary class. He didn't stop climbing.

KID LAVIGNE.

Have a letter from Kid Lavigne—the famous Saginaw Kid, who went to England and knocked out Burge, the welterweight, for the world's lightweight title many years ago.

"I was reading the paper the other night," Lavigne wrote, "and it stated you were going to have stories of your experience in the game two or three times a week. I will enjoy reading it. You surely have seen them all for the last twenty-five or thirty years. I don't see fights now, but I like to read what you write."

Thanks, Kid. And if I had my choice of entertainments for a night this week I'd like to go back and see just one round of Lavigne-Walcott. You got a few hundred dollars for that, didn't you? And if it could be duplicated in Madison Square garden tomorrow night it would be worth half a million.

The more I think of lads like Lavigne the less respect I have for the cautious young business men in the lightweight class now who think the "risk" of meeting Champion Benny Leonard is worth at least $30,000!

Lavigne? Why, Lavigne would have fought him for a platter of ham and eggs, and tossed his title in, too.

PURPLE'S SPURT FAILS TO CHECK MAROONS, 26-25

BY ALBON HOLDEN.

In a finish so tight that it had 5,000 fans on their feet, the University of Chicago basketball team nosed out a slim victory over Northwestern by a 26 to 25 score at Patten gym last night.

"DEATH" HALLADAY. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Chicago started out to wreck the evening's entertainment. Northwestern stepped into a three point lead, but once the Maroons started they ran the count up to 15 to 3. The Purple looked completely outclassed by the speedier Maroons, who swept down the floor in furious rushes. Birkhoff had an uncanny eye for the basket, sinking four tosses in less than six minutes.

Purple Play Improves.

Then the complexions of the game changed and Northwestern improved her poor passing game and outplayed the Maroons, pulling up to a 17 to 12 deficit at the end of the half.

In the second half Northwestern continued to look the stronger, and McKenzie started a flurry of three baskets. With seven minutes left the Maroon lead had diminished to one point. Then "Death" Halladay, the Chicago center, dropped two beautiful baskets from the center of the floor. Then Chicago went on defense, trying to make a five point margin win. It was just enough, for McKenzie got two more baskets.

Two Players Injured.

Both Palmer and Franzen were injured and had to be helped off the floor near the finish of the game. Palmer was knocked dizzy. Between the halves two Northwestern students entertained in a boxing bout. Lineup:

Ford THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Business Is Good

Our January business was good. In fact, it practically equalled our best January in the last four years.

Ford prices are low—the big price reductions have been made in anticipation of continuous maximum factory production and increases may be necessary if a large volume of new business is not obtained. Therefore, present prices of Ford products cannot be guaranteed against possible INCREASES.

On account of recent curtailment in production we anticipate a shortage of Ford cars in a few weeks. This shortage has already developed in certain models.

So if you contemplate the purchase of a Ford—BUY NOW.

ANALYZING "VERY CHOICE"

Let us analyze Van Dyck. Let us discover what gives Van Dyck the reputation which it enjoys among critical smokers, of being so very choice.

First, the filler. In Van Dyck this is all especially selected choice Havana. Next, the wrapper. In Van Dyck this is of high grade choice Connecticut shade-grown leaf. Lastly, workmanship. In Van Dyck this is on a very high plane.

Such a cigar is necessarily very choice. Its appeal is to the relatively few smokers who appreciate a cigar of distinguished character. You will appreciate the very choice Van Dyck, in one of the three select sizes.

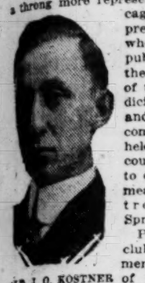
CHICAGO'S 'BEST' ARGUE FOR, BACK ILLINOIS BOXING

BY RAY PEARSON.

It would be difficult to get together a throng more representative of Chicago than that present yesterday when the first public hearing of the subcommittee of the council judiciary committee and the advisory committee was held in the city council chambers to draft a boxing measure to be introduced at Springfield.



ALD. J. O. KOSTNER [Wallinger Photo.]

Present were clubmen, business men and members of many professions, and all took a keen interest in the proceedings, so keen, in fact, that almost everybody took the floor to talk in favor of the sport and suggest ways and means by which the bill might be bettered.

The result of the session, which lasted more than two hours, places a rosy hue on prospects for a boxing bill which will win the votes of the legislators. The object of the meeting was to listen to arguments for and against the various clauses to be incorporated in the measure. There were arguments, but these were expected, and the majority opinions naturally will be considered in the draft sent to Springfield.

Big Chicago Men on Hand.

Perhaps before going into detail concerning action taken on the bill something should be said about those who were present. The council chamber seated many representative Chicagoans and the gallery was filled, many of those present being women. There was one woman in the council, Mrs. Marie Spaget, who also is named on the advisory committee. Mrs. Spaget listened attentively to argument pro and con, but offered no suggestions. Included among those present were:

Everett C. Brown.
President Joseph Hitt of the Illinois Athletic club.
Former Chief of Police John Garrity.
Maj. Frederic McLaughlin.
Maj. Ollie Steele, 1st regiment.
George Lytton.
Leonard Hicks.
Ald. Joseph O. Kostner, who officiated as chairman.
Ald. Anton Cermak.
Ald. Touhy.
Ald. Lyle.
D. S. Musser, Commander Spanish war veterans.
Charles Dean, Athletic director Illinois Athletic club.
Peter Peel.

No Pay for Commission.

Ald. Kostner had a tentative bill prepared and this was read for the purpose of suggestions for betterment. The biggest argument came up over the question of whether or not the commission should be composed of three men who should be paid or serve voluntarily. Those who believed the commission should receive no pay won the day. Among those who believed that "big men" could be secured to serve without remuneration were Everett Brown, George Lytton, Leonard Hicks and Joseph Hitt.

Ald. Cermak provided the opposition and in a lengthy talk declared that to obtain a commission of men who would make it their business to see that boxing is conducted properly it would be necessary to pay them a salary. He cited the cases of various city boards as an example, stating that many men on various boards are paid salaries which would be unacceptable from a financial standpoint, were it not for the fact that they were doing a public good.

Kostner Wins Argument.

Ald. Kostner, however, took an opposite view and made his argument "stand up" because he intimated that a change from the bill which passed in both the senate and house two years ago might result in antagonism. The measure which went through at that time, only to be vetoed by Gov. Lowden, called for an unpaid commission. Everett Brown and others concurred in Kostner's opinion and as a result the council measure which is to be introduced will make no allowance for commission salaries.

There was a spirited argument when the matter of decision or no decision bouts was reached. But after various angles had been thrashed out the conclusion reached was that the bill would have a better chance of passage if ten round bouts were held without decisions.

Only an Offer.

It is the intention of Ald. Kostner to introduce the bill, which is to be given the final O. K. probably at a meeting to be held in two weeks. It is not the object to force this measure on the legislators, but to offer it as the best that can be framed. It is possible that the measure that goes to the senate and house will be a committee bill, which will include all of the best points of all measures introduced. But Ald. Kostner believes that the measure as drawn up at present by the council is as nearly perfect as any measure can be.

It is interesting to note that the council has taken cognizance of the demand of the Spanish War Veterans, and has made fake, or serious, boxing a serious matter. Any one connected with such a fake or crooked bout will face a fine of $1,000 and not less than one year in jail. Such offense will be charged as a misdemeanor.

Other Clauses in Bill.

Among the new clauses which appear in the bill as it stands are the following:

No licensee shall have directly or indirectly any financial interest in a boxer or contestant competing on the premises owned or leased by the licensee.

No license or permit shall be issued by the commission to any club, corporation or association to conduct boxing or sparring exhibitions as herein provided for in any city, unless such city shall have consented by ordinance or resolutions by its city council to the conducting of boxing or sparring exhibitions in such city.

No license shall be issued to any person or persons who are not citizens of the United States and who have not been legal residents of the state of Illinois for at least twelve months immediately prior to the date of the application therefor.

It was the general opinion that the maximum license fee of $1,000 called for in the council bill was a bit too heavy.

BRITISH AND YANK AMATEUR BOXERS MAY SWAP BLOWS

New York, Feb. 9.—An international tournament, which will bring together the recognized amateur boxing champions of the United States and England, is being planned for this city early in May.

It is proposed to have the winners of the English Amateur Athletic association and the American A. A. U. championship contests compete for international honors while their titular laurels are still fresh.

An invitation from the officers of the A. A. U. has been dispatched to the officials of the English A. A. A., requesting them to designate the winner in each of the eight weight divisions as the British standard bearers for a series of bouts against the American amateur champions, following the national tournament in Boston, April 11-12.

JABEZ WHITE AND JOE LYNCH DRAW

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 9.—Joe Lynch of New York, and Jabez White of Albany fought eight rounds to a draw tonight, according to newspaper men. It was Lynch's first bout since winning the bantamweight championship from Pete Herman Dec. 22.

Lynch was given the second, fourth, and fifth rounds and White the first, seventh, and eighth, and the other two were declared even.

In the seventh round White landed a right to the champion's jaw and stunned him momentarily. He followed this with a vicious jab to the stomach and had Lynch covering up.

He attempted to beat Hall's record and cleared 235 feet, but fell and injured his arm.

Nels Nelson of Revelstoke beat his own world's record of 185 feet for amateurs by jumping 201 feet.

MRS. FIELD TO HAVE WHALE OF A SHOW AT COLISEUM FEB. 22

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

If Earl Caddock, former heavyweight mat champion, is the victor over Jim Londos in their finish match in New York next week he will meet John Pesek for the light heavyweight title in the main bout of the wrestling show to be conducted by Mrs. Marshall Field III. for the benefit of institutions for crippled children at the Coliseum on Washington's birthday. The former champion passed through Chicago yesterday on his way east. When the worthy cause was explained he readily agreed to appear if he wins from Londos, who already had been signed to meet Pesek. Joe Coffey, who is arranging the matches, is anxious to pit the best man available against Pesek, and for this reason has the promise of both Londos and Caddock to meet the claimant of the light heavyweight title.

Assured of Middleweight Bout.

Matchmaker Coffey stated that he has positive assurance from the principals in the two middleweight eliminations contests to be held before Feb. 22 that the victors will clash for the title. Ben Reuben and Ralph Parcaut will meet at the Ashland Auditorium tomorrow night, while Johnny Meyers and Paul Prehn will take holds at the Coliseum on Feb. 18.

If hard work and determination will bring about the desired result Mrs. Field should accomplish her purpose. Despite social activities Mrs. Field was about early yesterday when tickets were placed on sale. Seven more boxes were disposed of and hundreds of the reserved seats which are being sold at prices ranging from $3 to $10 were disposed of. At noon Mrs. Field spoke before 600 members of the Association of Commerce. She told of her purpose and every member pledged to put his shoulder to the wheel to aid in making the event one of the greatest of its kind ever held in the city.

Seats for Disabled Soldiers.

Aside from purchasing one of the boxes Mrs. J. Ogden Armour sent in a check for $200 to purchase tickets for disabled soldiers. Another check of $50 was received from Mrs. Field Sr. of Washington for the same purpose.

Tickets are on sale at headquarters, Randolph street and Michigan avenue, and at The Hub. The ticket sale is in charge of Harry Grabiner, secretary of the White Sox, who is donating his services to the project.

Dempsey to Remain in California for Movie Work

New York, Feb. 9.—Jack Dempsey, heavyweight king, will remain in California for a month to make a new motion picture, Jack Kearns, his manager, said today. Dempsey was ready to return east when the contract was offered. The movie work will also cause a postponement of their trip to Europe.

Moran Would Meet Georges but Georges Balks a Little

PARIS, Feb. 9.—[United Press.]—Frank Moran, American heavyweight who knocked out Joe Beckett recently in London, is willing to meet Georges Carpentier, he said today on his arrival from St. Moritz. Carpentier, however, is demanding too big a purse for promoters to meet.

THOSE BLUE-Y BLUES.

Of sunny climes and wedding chimes,
the songsters used to write,
Of honey girls with golden curls and silvery pale moonlight.
For desert lands and burning sands,
they longed with earnest zeal,
Where tropic maids, beguiling jades,
would love for woe or weal.

NOW something's wrong with every song, the words are mournful, sad;

They only choose to sing of "Blues"
that make me feel so bad.
The "Broadway Blues," I'm told they use for Broadway's toddling fools,
While "Blues," you see, called "A-B-
C," are taught in all the schools.

Oh, any kind, for any mind, e'en "Alcoholic Blues,"
And for the lad who's got in bad, there are the "Sweetie Blues."
I say! I'm tired of being mired in songs of gloomy hue—
I'd like to smile a little while—Don't want no more old "Blue!"

Dotty.

Joie Ray.

Until the result is repeated, we are not willing to concede that Harold Cutbill, who defeated Joie Ray in a one and one-half mile race in New York Tuesday night, is superior.

Joie probably is not up to a gruelling contest yet. His only competition since the Olympic games—in the Illinois A. C. meet—was hardly more than a workout. Unless the strained tendon Joie sustained at Antwerp proves a permanent injury, he should do better.

Ray has been the greatest distance runner of his time and his record has extended over a period of years. Sometime he will be forced to abdicate, but we hope the time is not yet.

JOHNNY WILSON PUTS HIS TITLE STUFF ON EXHIBITION TONIGHT

After tonight local fans will know about this fellow Johnny Wilson, the much criticized middleweight champion. He stacks up with Navy Rostan, Joliet scrapper, who is expected to make Wilson display the championship caliber some folks intimate he doesn't possess. They will "go" in the windup of a card of three ten round bouts at Kenosha, Wis.

Wilson's workouts at the Arcade gym indicated the fellows who pegged him as lacking in ability were a bit out of line in guessing. Wilson certainly showed well in the workouts, but, of course, it remains for him to prove tonight whether he has the real goods.

In tackling Rostan the champion isn't facing the toughest foe that might be picked for him. Navy, who was battling the welterweights a couple of years ago, has improved with added weight, and those who have watched him in recent months declare he is fit to give any of the middleweights a run.

A special train will be run over the North Shore road.

Irslinger to Appear in Coliseum Mat Bout Feb. 18

Henry Irslinger, winner of the Lord Lonsdale belt, emblematic of the international middleweight wrestling championship, will be a principal in the semi-windup to the Johnny Meyers-Paul Prehn match to be decided at the Coliseum Feb. 18. Irslinger won the belt six years ago and recently came out of retirement. He will be matched with either Ben Reuben, Ralph Parcaut or Heine Engel. Promoter John Krone will arrange two preliminaries.

Editorial

My Boys Say, "Harry, You're a Brick!"

They read my editorial last week where I explained how I was giving five dollars per suit out of my own pocket to stimulate enough business so I could keep them employed full time during this dull season.

They are specially tickled with the paragraph about loyalty being two-sided—and they called me a "brick" for making that sacrifice, in order to keep them employed full time, when half the tailors in Chicago are idle.

Let me repeat the offer: Clip the coupon below and bring it in. It will be as good as a five dollar bill in paying for one of my beautiful made-to-order two pants suits. Choice of three prices, and everything reduced, be it new spring material or winter weight, and marked with red, green and yellow tags, red tag, $39.00—green tag, $49.00—yellow tag, $59.00, if presented any day this week. Be sure to clip the coupon. Come right away and pick out the best pattern.

RAIL MEN AND ROADS TODAY TO FACE SHOWDOWN

Unions Question Powers of Labor Board.

BY ARTHUR M. EVANS.

Railroad labor moved toward a showdown with management today over the appeal of the rail executives for immediate abrogation of the national working agreements.

Frank P. Walsh, counsel for the "standard" unions, will go before the railroad labor board when it convenes in the federal building this morning with the argument that the board has no jurisdiction over a question involving the financial ability of the roads to pay, that being in the province of the interstate commerce commission.

B. M. Jewell, head of the railway employés department of the American Federation of Labor, arrived yesterday from New York with Mr. Walsh, and today's program before the labor board was mapped out at a conference at the Congress hotel last night. Officials of fifteen unions sat in. Mr. Jewell will present the rebuttal of the unions. The general line of argument follows that in Mr. Jewell's statement of Monday expressing satisfaction with President Wilson's message refusing to interpose, although asked by the unions.

Jurisdiction Under Fire.

It sets up this theory:

Gen. W. W. Atterbury's plea that the working agreements be wiped out posthaste because "bankruptcy" stares many roads in the face is based on the single issue of financing or ability to pay, while the labor board is limited by law to questions of wages and working conditions, as set forth in the White House telegram.

The move by the railroad executives is all part of a "Wall street conspiracy" to kill the unions, establish the open shop, crush collective bargaining, and cut wages.

"Gen. Atterbury's position," said Mr. Walsh last night in amplifying all this, "is comparable to this: Suppose the road he manages were up in the United States Supreme court in a damage action and Mr. Atterbury went before the Supreme justices with a request, 'Stop the hearing and throw the case out of court because the road is not financially able to pay any judgment that may be rendered.' That would be analagous to his present plea before the labor board."

Charge "Open Shop" Plot.

One argument to be presented deals with "control."

"Twelve New York banks," said Mr. Walsh, "through interlocking directorates, control ninety-two class I roads, which have 80 per cent of the class I mileage and 76 per cent of the total railroad mileage of the United States. In the hearings of the Lockwood committee in New York the testimony revealed a movement on the part of certain interests to crush unions and establish the 'open shop.' It is directed first at the two basic industries of building construction and transportation."

Whether Mr. Walsh will seek the summoning of E. H. Gary, J. Pierpont Morgan, John D. Rockefeller, Eugene G. Grace, and others, as announced in New York, was in doubt last night. It was said this will depend upon the attitude the board takes on the question of jurisdiction. Whatever position the board takes on that point, however, bank skepticism was voiced as to whether it would undertake an inquiry into the general subject of financial operations, that being in the field of the interstate commerce commission.

Cite Transportation Act.

Another argument which the unions will stress is that the theory of the transportation act is that "a just and adequate wage to all railroad employés is a fixed charge on the railroads of the country." Still another centers on the division of earnings between trunk and feeder lines, a matter now pending before the interstate commerce commission, and it brings in the fact that to effect more economical operation of the entire transportation plant the commission is directed to foster the merging of the railroads into systems.

Mr. Jewell's rebuttal, of course, will be for general theme what the unions have been loudly contending, that the roads are trying to make labor the goat" for inefficient operation and that they are using a period of unemployment as a strategic time to seek to hammer down wages.

Wage Test Also Due.

This afternoon a real test case on wage cuts will be taken up—that of the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic, which says it roadbed will have to be torn up and its equipment scrapped if it is not allowed to reduce wages of employés. This is regarded as a most important case. Last night union men declared twenty-one other roads, mostly small lines, were also preparing to seek permission from the board to cut payrolls.

The labor board was asked yesterday to stop the Erie railroad from putting into effect a series of wage cuts ordered Feb. 1. A petition was filed by the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way and Railway Shop Laborers, asking the board to order the Erie to rescind its order.

Ruling Sets Precedent.

A decision was handed down by the labor board in which it ruled that it was the duty of the Boston and Maine railroad to confer with the committees of the American Federation of Railroad Workers over the grievances of members of that organization. Railroad men said it was one of the most far reaching decisions yet handed down by the board and declared it would affect the status of thousands of workers.

Employés said the decision upheld the right of independent organizations of railway workers to present their grievances to road officials. In the Boston and Maine case it was said a conference was refused because those with the grievances were not a party to the national agreements.

BABY SMOTHERED BY UNCONSCIOUS MOTHER, THEORY

JOHN DOPOROWSKI.

Baby Janne Doporowski, 3 months old, was suffocated by her mother while the latter lay unconscious on a bed after an attack by three masked men on the family home at 2925 Lock street, according to the theory held by the police last night after an all day investigation. The mother, Mrs. Pauline Doporowski, was grilled all day long. No break in her story was found. She reiterated that at daybreak she awoke to find two masked men in the front room of the tiny flat, that these men snatched the $23 she held out to them and then, striking her across the face, fled the house with a companion who awaited them on the porch.

"They hit me—and then I didn't know nothing until I woke up. I was shaking like a leaf. Me kill my baby? No. Mothers don't do those things. He was such a sweet baby——"

No marks were found on the woman's body to show she had been attacked, as she had claimed. She admitted that previous to the birth of the baby, she had been a heavy drinker at times, but denied that she had been drinking the night previous to the baby's death.

MRS. PAULINE DOPOROWSKI.

Coroner's Physician Hatton, who yesterday conducted a post-mortem on the baby's body, declared that in his opinion death had come from suffocation. A hemorrhage of the brain was also found, indicating that pressure of some sort had been applied on the child's skull.

The report of the physician will be presented at the inquest today. The mother was not held by the police.

Investigation of an insurance policy for $250 in the baby's name disclosed that a clause specified that should the child die before it attained the age of three months the policy would be valueless.

LOST IN LOOP FIVE DAYS; LIVED IN HOTEL NEXT DOOR

A strange story of a man who was lost in Chicago's loop for five days and then found he had been living next door to the place where he had left his baggage was revealed yesterday in the finding of Armando Bowmann, 22 year old Filipino.

Bowmann told the police that on Feb. 5 he had parted with his friend, W. C. Sharp. They agreed to meet at the Hotel Sherman, where they had deposited their baggage. Bowmann could not find the place. He went to the Hotel Astor next door and registered—and waited.

Meantime Sharp left for Vancouver after telling the police that if they found Bowmann to notify him in care of the steamship Empress of India. Policeman Charles Bennett found Bowmann at State and Monroe streets.

"Police Force No Place for Drunks"; 2 More Go

In line with Chief of Police Fitzmorris' declaration that "the police force is no place for drunks," the city civil service commission yesterday dismissed Patrolmen Frank Mikes and Thomas H. Sweeney. Warden Michael Zimmer of the county hospital testified that Sweeney was found twirling his revolver on his forefinger while guarding a prisoner. Both the warden and a nurse said that Sweeney was intoxicated at the time. Lieut. Willard Malone testified that Mikes appeared for roll call "so drunk that he could scarcely stand up."

Arnold Asks Labor Unions to Avoid School Strikes

George B. Arnold, who yesterday resigned as member of the board of education because of his appointment as state director of labor, in a farewell statement asked labor unions to refrain from calling strikes on school buildings. He pointed out that 27,000 children were now housed in portable school buildings. Mr. Arnold also urged higher pay for teachers.

LEGION'S BONUS BILL UP TODAY; $300 TOTAL SUM

$15 Month to Illinoisans; $55,000,000 in Bonds.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ills., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—The American Legion's bonus bill was drafted today by its executive committee for Illinois, and will be introduced in the house tomorrow morning by Representative D. S. Myers, Pontiac. Mr. Myers was lieutenant colonel, old Third Illinois infantry, and is one of the six service men in the legislature. The Legion's program is to push the bill through the house before senate action is attempted. This undoubtedly will end the career of the so-called "Kessinger bill," which never has been introduced.

D. S. MYERS.

The Legion bill follows closely the policy adopted by the Legion posts, after a referendum was taken of members, more than 99 per cent having declared themselves for the proposition.

No Bonus to Exceed $300.

The bill provides for compensation of $15 for each month, or major fraction thereof, that each person qualified to receive the bonus in active service after April 6, 1917, to Nov. 11,1918. No person shall receive more than $300.

The money will be obtained through a bond issue of $55,000,000, carrying an interest rate of 3½ per cent, payable within twenty years. The interest rate, under certain circumstances, may go as high as 6 per cent. The proceeds of the bonds shall be turned into the "soldiers' compensation fund," which with details of administration and payment shall be handled by a "service recognition board," consisting of the governor, state treasurer and adjutant general.

The bond issue must be approved by the people at the November election in 1922. Service men shall have preference in the selection and appointment of employés in ascertaining and selecting beneficiaries. All applications for compensation must be made before January 1, 1925.

Who Is Eligible.

The Legion bill makes the test of eligibility for compensation as follows:

"Every person who was enlisted, inducted, warranted or commissioned and who served honorably in active duty in the military or naval service of the United States (including Red Cross and other nurses) at any time between April 6, 1917, and Nov. 11, 1918, and who at the time of entering such service was a resident of Illinois, and who is honorably discharged or separated from such service, or has been retired, or has been furloughed to a reserve, and who was in such service for a period longer than two months."

The bill stipulates: "The husband or wife (if not remarried), child or children, mother, father, brother or sister, in the order named," of a beneficiary shall be paid $300.

Who Is Ineligible.

The bill eliminates the following: "Any person dishonorably discharged or discharged without honor; who, being in the military or naval service, refused on conscientious, political or other grounds to subject himself to military discipline or to render unqualified service; who, though in the service, did civilian work at civilian pay; who has received from another state a bonus or compensation of a like nature; or for time spent while taking training in any student's army or navy training corps."

SCHOOL BOARD TO REOPEN SEVEN LIBRARY CENTERS

Public library branches in seven high schools, closed several months ago by the library board because of lack of operating funds, are to be reopened. A plan for the operation of the libraries at the expense of the board of education was presented yesterday to the school administration committee by Bart Hanson, chairman, and favorably acted upon.

The branches will reopen in the following high schools: Austin, Lake View, Harrison, Marshall, Senn, Englewood, and Lindblom. The cost of maintenance with an attendant in charge of each branch is estimated at $10,000 annually.

SEIZE 2 WOMEN AS LEADERS OF BOOZE RUNNERS

$30,000 in Whisky and Wines Taken.

Whisky and fine wines valued at $30,000 were seized and two fashionably dressed women and a man, believed to be the ringleaders of an interstate booze running combine, were arrested by the Hyde Park police last night in a raid on the former residence of Municipal Judge William N. Gemmill at 5406 Ellis avenue.

The bulk of the whisky seized was contained in seven trunks loaded on a truck camouflaged to represent a vehicle carrying a camping outfit for tourists.

Appear as Wealthy Campers.

The women and the man, whose names the police refuse to reveal, were costumed as wealthy campers on a cross-country jaunt.

The tip on the arrival of the shipment was received anonymously over the telephone by Desk Sergeant Jerry Vaughn of the Hyde Park station, shortly before 11 o'clock.

"A big booze shipment is going to arrive at Judge Gemmill's old home at midnight," said the voice.

Leap from Truck.

Forty policemen and detectives were rushed to the scene under the command of Acting Lieut. John Farrell and Detective Sergeant Harry Powers.

The detectives rushed around to the front of the house when they heard a truck drive up in the rear. Before they could reach the alley, a man and woman had leaped from the truck and gained the house through a rear door opened quickly to receive them.

Detective Sergeants Harry Bingham, William Wragg, and Joseph Carroll jimmied a window and searched the house. They could find no one on the upper floors, but smelled fumes of whisky coming from the cellar.

They rushed down there to find the women and the man smashing bottles of whisky with a hatchet. The liquor was nearly an inch deep on the floor.

Many State Licenses.

The mud bespattered truck bore an Indiana license plate. Padlocked iron gratings protected the front and rear ends and strapped to the canvas sides were camping outfits and spare tires.

According to the police, the women refused to give their names, but the man gave the name of J. E. McGrath of Detroit, Mich. He said he was a machinist. The police, however, believe the name is fictitious.

A check book on the Harris Trust and Savings bank was found in the prisoner's pocket showing a deposit of $25,000 and withdrawals ranging from $800 to $2,400. The book bore no name by which the account might be identified.

BEG YOUR PARDON

In connection with a story on movie censorship THE TRIBUNE of Feb. 5 quoted Wilbur Needham as saying, "I like art in statuary but on the screen it is different." Mr. Needham writes at length to protest that this quotation reverses his thought, which was that art on canvas, in marble, or on the screen is not objectionable, but scenes presented under the guise of art but with no other bearing on the screen story than that of salaciousness should be subject to deletion.

THE TRIBUNE'S roster of the general committee for relief in Ireland printed Feb. 8 included the name of Martin Flyke. The correct name is Milton J. Flyke.

HOLD 2 SUITORS FOR SHOOTING OF MARRIED WOMAN

Two suitors, added to one husband, equaled a bullet in the right breast for Mrs. May Dennas, 4738 Calumet avenue, last night. Police of the Fiftieth street station found her badly wounded in her home following a call sent in by Dr. L. Rose, 331 East Forty-seventh street. They rounded up the two rivals, Herbert Davidson and Ralph Johnson, who are held for the shooting. The woman's husband is said to be a mail clerk on the Pennsylvania railroad, whose run permits him little time at home.

Mrs. Dennas, who is 18 years old, at first told the police she had accidentally shot herself. Davidson said Johnson had fired the shot after he had found Davidson with Mrs. Dennas.

Johnson gave his address as 437 East Forty-sixth place, and Davidson as 4823 Prairie avenue.

"Faithful Servant" Gets $10,000 Under Adams Will

The estate of the late Alexander B. Adams, former president of Edson Keith & Co., 24 South Michigan avenue, wholesale milliners, is valued at $300,000, according to the will and inventory filed in the Probate court yesterday. Mrs. Elizabeth A. Shearson, 920 North Michigan avenue, a daughter, is the principal beneficiary. A bequest of $10,000 is given Sophia Klein, "who has been a faithful servant for many years" in the Adams home.

Boy Who Ran Away After "Flunking Exams" Found

Norton Secrist, 15 year old son of Prof. Horace Secrist of Northwestern university, will be back at the Evanston High school today with a new determination to win out in his Latin examinations. Young Secrist was located in the Y. M. C. A. hotel in Milwaukee yesterday where he had been since Monday when he ran away from home because of his failure in Latin.

INCENDIARY FIRES IN SCHOOL PERIL LIVES OF 1,200

Police Put on Guard After Blazes.

Two fires on two successive days, both the deliberate work of an undiscovered incendiary, yesterday led to a police guard being established at the Felsenthal school on Calumet avenue, near Forty-first street. Two policemen were stationed at the school by Chief Fitzmorris to protect the lives of the 1,200 pupils in the school, forty of whom are blind.

The first fire in the school occurred at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon. It broke out in a dressing room of one of the third grade rooms on the first floor of the school. A basket of waste paper had been emptied on the floor of the dressing room and set on fire. Firemen under the command of Battalion Chief John Smith of the Fourth battalion extinguished the blaze.

At 9:20 yesterday morning the second fire broke out in the gymnasium of the school. A large curtain, 60 feet long and 20 feet wide, was torn from the windows of the gymnasium and placed in the middle of the floor. On top of it was piled inflammable equipment of the gymnasium and a match set to the curtain. Teachers in the school discovered the fire and put it out before the firemen arrived.

TOMPKINS GANG MEMBER HOYNE FREED CONVICTED

James E. Harper, member of the Tompkins bandit gang, whose release from custody last year brought a serious clash between former State's Attorney Hoyne and the Chicago crime commission, was sentenced to serve from ten years to life in the penitentiary yesterday. He was convicted of robbery. Sentences of ten years to life were also given Frank Jordan and William Bickel, members of the gang, whose holdup of the Ashland drug store resulted in the death of Policeman Thomas Conlon and Thomas Heavy, a member of the gang.

Harper and his companions—Edward Tompkins, his wife, Myrtle Tompkins, and Irene Malone, Harper's sweetheart—were reindicted after being placed on probation by the former prosecutor because, he said, they turned up much of the property the gang had stolen. The others are said to be in Honolulu.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Question.

Does Chicago need a more strict moving picture censorship ordinance?

Where Asked.

Van Buren street and Wabash avenue.

The Answers.

Dr. Henry L. Orlov, 1432 North Robey street, physician—Positively not. Motion picture producers are putting out sex pictures to draw the public. If the censorship is made more stringent there will be no more sex pictures and when there are no more sex pictures there will be no more movies, because those are the pictures the public throngs to see.

Miss Ann O'Brien, 5024 Winthrop avenue, typist—Of course the censorship should be made more strict. Pictures are getting by today that are almost a crime in view of the fact that young children are permitted to see them. Every picture, no matter of what kind, should be given the most careful inspection before it is shown to the public.

Miss Marjorie de Nae, 2033 Cuyler avenue, home girl—Moving pictures should not be censored at all. Many pictures which were real works of art have been butchered by clumsy censorship. Of course small children shouldn't be permitted to view certain films, but then one doesn't take small children to see some of the productions on the spoken stage.

Miss Minnie Goldman, 2511 North Hamlin avenue, stenographer—I saw Eugene O'Brien in a picture last week and it was terrible the way the censors had cut that picture. This picture hardly had any love scenes at all that were more than mere flashes. The public should be the censors.

Miss Edna Wesch, 2603 Winona avenue, clerk—Abolish censorship, I say. The producers themselves ought to know what kind of a picture to present to the public. I think they are well educated enough to know what kind of pictures the public wants and will tolerate. They know what small children should see as well as any one. Many of them are parents themselves.

NEGRO CLAIMS WHITE WOMAN AIDED IN THEFTS

A startling confession, in which he says a stylishly dressed white woman driving an expensive car, acted as his accomplice in nearly a hundred burglaries, was made last night to Detective Sergeants Harry Schuler and John J. Hardy of the Summerdale station by Thomas Jones, a Negro. They arrested Jones a few nights ago as he was leaving the home of Mrs. Dora Levine at 933 Margate terrace.

Jones says the woman, for whom the police are searching, would drive to the Vernon hotel, Thirty-fifth street and Cottage Grove avenue, and carry him to the scene of a robbery. The woman would ring the bell of an apartment and if no one was at home the Negro would "jimmy" a window and carry the loot—mostly fur coats and jewelry—to her. She would pawn it, he said.

Half a dozen persons identified some of the loot during the day, including Mrs. O. M. Foss of 6646 North Ashland avenue, a bride, whom Jones robbed of an $800 diamond ring, a $250 watch, and pearls worth $175.

Get 1921 Auto License by Monday or Face Arrest

The days of grace for automobile owners who have not procured their state licenses for 1921 will expire Monday, Chief of Police Fitzmorris announced yesterday after he had received a letter from Secretary of State Emmerson saying his office is now prepared to take care of requests as fast as they are received. "Summonses will not be issued. Motorists will be taken to the nearest station and booked," the chief added.

Banker Ordered by Court to Explain on Estate

William H. Kirchhoff, banker of Franklin Park, Ill., was ordered by Judge Horner yesterday to appear in the Probate court to explain his alleged failure to settle up the $23,000 estate of the late George W. Cisno.

3 LOOP HOTELS MAKE CUTS IN PRICES OF FOOD

Ten to Thirty Per Cent Slash Announced.

Managers of three loop hotels—the Auditorium, the Sherman and the Morrison—yesterday announced reductions of from 10 to 30 per cent in menu prices. Declining food prices, particularly of eggs, occasioned the revision, they said.

Russell J. Poole, secretary of the council high cost of living committee, received word of these cuts with evident satisfaction.

"But they must all fall in line," he said last night. "Not only the hotel men and proprietors of the larger restaurants, but those who conduct smaller places. I have in mind particularly the fancy light lunch establishments. The way these are holding up the public is nothing short of outrageous.

Going After "Pirates."

"And the hotels must revise prices downward not only on their menus, but in charging for rooms as well. I have been ill for a month. Upon returning to work I found that some of them had actually had the audacity to raise prices, rather than lower them. We are going after these 'pirates' strong."

In announcing the new scale that was given effect at the Auditorium hotel last night, John C. Calvey, manager, said:

"Food prices have come down and we want to give the public the benefit. Many items on our menus are cut as much as 30 per cent; others, only 10 per cent. Further reductions are probable."

Down to 1915 Scale.

Frank Bering, manager of the Hotel Sherman, said last night the restaurant prices there had been cut Monday.

"We now have the menu reading much as it did in 1915," he said. "Many items, in fact, cost less. Our latest reduction was of about 20 per cent, and we had made others before this.

"Our restaurant prices reflect the declining cost of foodstuff as much as should be expected. Patrons must bear in mind the fact our overhead expenses are about 75 per cent higher than they were in 1915. Wages, for instance, are still at least 80 per cent higher than they were five years ago."

At the Morrison hotel, it was said a 10 per cent reduction had been made in the menu scale.

With eggs maintaining the lead established early in the week, various foodstuff commodities held to the downward trend on Chicago markets yesterday. Eggs were selling at wholesale as low as 33 cents.

JANE HAD lifted her head and was staring at him with eyes that gleamed like yellow coals. He waited, every muscle tense. She sighed, and put her head down between her paws. . . . A voice behind him, disinterested and cool, said: "Stuart, I'm going to kill you."

By Mae Tinée.

Again it's the old, lovable, intrepid, fearless, steady eyed roughhouse Pearl of the serials! Only this time they call her Alexander.

Her father gave her the name which he had all sitting pretty for the boy he had hoped would come. Because he wanted a son so badly he made one out of the girl the gods had laid on his altar. Among the mountains then Alexander McGiven grew up, doing the things the boys did and wearing a boy's clothing.

Her father meets a tragic death and Alexander finds herself the man of the house. There are logs that must be gotten down the river—and she, though short of help and with what help she has, sulky, sees they reach their destination, not hesitating to use a good strong right when occasion demands.

When she is paid for her timber she becomes an object of interest to various gentlemen of the road who plot a highway robbery. They find Alexander ready for them.

Toward the last of the picture what is known to producers as the love interest buds and blossoms gradually, and Alexander of the finale is a pleasing and womanly young person, wearing becoming gowns and not guiltless of using a come-hither eye. (Instead of the go-thither fist that had been her former weapon.)

"The Mountain Woman" is well put on and acted. Some of the scenery is magnificent and the photoplay is all it should be.

NEWS NOTE.

It is reported that Tom Moore is engaged to marry Renee Adoree. He was formerly the husband of Alice Joyce.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—On to the south! Ay, more, chiff-on to it, too! For the southern resorts there have been prepared all manner of soft fabric frocks and wraps—the sheerest and balmiest and most cloudlike of creations. Particularly exquisite are the wraps of such inspiration. Made of layers of chiffon or tulle or georgette, in colors, which blend as well as anything that could be turned out by Aurora, they provide one of the easiest of systems for looking more beautiful than you are.

The above creation illustrates in its color the charm attained by many of these wraps. It is of dove gray chiffon draped over rose chiffon, and the collar is of gray fur. In form as well as color, too, it is arresting.

DORIS BLAKE'S ANSWERS

Take Him as He Is.

"Dear Miss Blake: I have been keeping steady company with a young man, and as a result we became engaged Christmas. Now he has a great habit of making appointments and either coming hours late or not at all. I know another girl would give him up, but I really love him and he also loves me, as many an occasion has proven. He does not go out with other girls. He is fond of music and art and devotes a great deal of his spare time to them. Oftimes I feel neglected. He has no bad habits, such as drinking or gambling, is a steady worker, therefore making a good provider. Please tell me what to do, as I would be really grateful. J. D."

Well, dear, you can order them [meaning men] perfect, but you cannot expect them to arrive without some flaw. Seriously now, wouldn't a 100 per cent perfect creature hanging around the household be a deadly thing to have for the rest of your natural life? You wouldn't have anything to kick about or to quarrel and make up about. Just take him, with his high percentage of good qualities, and try to make him be more responsible about keeping engagements without quarrelling about it.

Plenty of Hair.

After stumbling in a dark theater for a few minutes I fell into an aisle seat behind a young woman. I could not see the screen well, as the girl in front hid most of it from my vision. I could see only the outline of her head against the screen and I thought she had her hat on, so I politely asked her to remove it.

She turned half way around and said: "You flatter me."

As I got a better look at her I realized that she had her hair bobbed and fluffed out so far it made it appear that she wore a hat. R. T.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Making Smoll Cakes.

There are a great many people who put themselves to a great deal of trouble in order to get along without things they dearly like, of which coffee is one thing. Compare the time it takes to go for and the time to make, and relative satisfaction and cost.

Suppose they take the cup of coffee recipe: One-half cup of shortening, one cup of sugar, two eggs, one-half cup milk, one and three-fourths cups of flour, two teaspoons of baking powder, a scant teaspoon of salt, a teaspoon of flavoring. Let half of the batter baked in muffin tins and the other half in a smal loaf or in tiny loaves. If you have the pans which are small, two inches.

Now to get ready, now to prepare the old rhyme says: Allow twenty minutes for this, watching the clock to see if you can do it. Get out the pans, wipe and oil them. Get out the sugar. Sift the flour with the baking powder. Break the eggs, separating whites and yolks.

Presumably you know your oven, but it has not been lighted for some time light it the first thing, without waiting force of gas, and with the door open let it slowly bake out all the dampness in the damp air. Then close door and set to 400 degrees. An oven that is not constantly should be lighted perhaps as the last bit of the getting ready for the cake, leaving the door open a little.

Cream butter and sugar, add yolks well beaten, add flour and milk alternately at a time, fold in whites, and add flavoring. You can spend from ten minutes to half an hour at this.

Put cake in oven, lower heat at once after ten minutes raise it again, especially if there is a valley in the loaf which in the end you want to have a level top. For a mountain cake you may proceed differently.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Making Smoll Cakes.

There are a great many people who at themselves to a great deal of trou e in order to get along without th hings they dearly like, of which cak one thing. Compare the time t kes to go for and the time to make nd relative satisfaction and costs. Suppose they take the cup cak ecipe: One-half cup of shortening he cup of sugar, two eggs, one-half up milk, one and three-fourths cups f flour, two teaspoons of baking pow er, a scant teaspoon of salt, a tea poon of flavoring. Let half of this b aked in muffin tins and the other half a smal loaf or in tiny loaves, if you ave the pans which are scant fo ches.

Now to get ready, now to prepare, s he old rhyme says. Allow twenty inutes for this, watching the clock see if you can do it. Get out the ans, wipe, and oil them. Sift the ugar. Sift the flour with the baking owder. Break the eggs, separating hites and yolks.

Presumably you know your oven. I has not been lighted for some time ght it the first thing, without mus rce of gas, and with the door open t it slowly bake out all the dead s amp air. Then close door and hea 400 degrees. An oven that is used nstantly should be lighted perhaps the last bit of the getting ready fo e cake, leaving the door open for a ttle.

Cream butter and sugar, add yolks ell beaten, add flour and milk, par a time, fold in whites, and add fla ring. You can spend from ten min es to half an hour at this.

Put cake in oven, lower heat at once der ten minutes raise it slightly pecially if there is a valley in the af which in the end you want to ave a level top. For a mountain top u may proceed differently.

GRAINS REACT, LED BY WHEAT; NEWS IS MIXED

BY CHARLES D. MICHAELS.

Wheat prices advanced too fast on Tuesday for values to hold, and a sharp reaction came yesterday to all grains. Buyers of the previous day were sellers yesterday. Trading was active and the news was mixed, being moderately bearish on wheat from one standpoint and bullish from another. Traders were not firm enough in their predictions to make positive stands on either side.

At the close March wheat was ¼c higher and May 1c lower. Corn lost ¾ to ⅞c, oats ⅜ to ⅝c, and rye ½ to ¾c, while barley advanced ½c for the day.

Cash News Bullish.

Wheat traders who consider the cash news of special importance as a price making factor were on the buying side, and obtained a good advance at one time. Prices at their best were up 2¾ to 4⅛c over the previous day's close, with March in the lead. Selling of March was limited at times, and it advanced to $1.65¼ at the high point, while the low was 6c under that figure, with the close $1.62@1.63¼. May best was $1.55⅝, with the low 5¼c u. that point, and the finish 10c under March. There was active buying of March and selling of May at 10c difference.

Kansas City reported light country offerings, and a message from Salina, Kas., said one line elevator firm operating thirty-four stations bought only 800 bu of wheat Monday and Tuesday. Germany bought 1,960,000 bu Australian at $1.79½, on the basis of half cash and the balance on six months' credit.

Market's Action Erratic.

Heavy selling of May on the bulge was noticeable on the part of some buyers of the previous day, who covered later on the break. A good sized line of March wheat was unloaded by a local holder. The market was extremely erratic in its price action, the pit element buying on bulges and selling on breaks. Argentine news was mixed. Markets there failed to follow Tuesday's advance here, and there is a prospect of labor troubles. Shipments from there for the week were estimated at 740,000 bu, against 5,610,000 bu last year. There was no export demand.

The green bug scare is not bringing in buying orders to any extent, and it is intimated those sending the reports had ulterior motives. The president of the Oklahoma board of agriculture sent a denial of the green bug story, while Waco, Fort Worth, and Sherman, Tex., messages told of the bugs damaging the wheat crop.

Corn Prices React.

Action of the corn market showed the effect of the heavy covering movement of Tuesday and a reduction in buying power. Prices at their best were up ⅝c to 63¼c, with the close around the low point. Country offerings remain light. Export bids were ¼ to ½c better.

Oats had support mainly from local traders, who were following wheat and corn. Reinstating of previously covered lines was a factor. Trade in all was right within 1c range, and the close ½ to ¾c below the low point.

Rye trade was light. Prices, however, advanced 2c, with a break of 2½c at the last. Nothing was heard about export business. Spot barley was unchanged.

The big trade in provisions was by Schwarz, who sold 3,000,000 lbs of May lard, and the buying mostly by Armour. The latter was said to be spreading between lard and cash corn. Ribs were bought mainly by packers. Cash trade was light. Packing in the west shows a decrease of 1,042,000 hogs from last year for the season to date, the total being 9,896,000. Prices follow:

CASH-GRAIN NEWS

A sharp decline was reported in ocean freight rates, and it was claimed that wheat to Antwerp was contracted for on the basis of 7½c per bu. However, no sales were claimed to have been made abroad. Chicago handlers sold 10,000 bu corn and outside markets 25,000 bu to the seaboard.

Domestic shipping sales at Chicago were 10,000 bu wheat, 70,000 bu corn, and 20,000 bu oats.

Premiums on hard winter wheat at Chicago advanced ½@1c, with a good demand, while red winters and spring were very firm, with light offerings. Receipts, 14 cars. Kansas City reported one firm there sold 35,000 bu to mills, and hard winter was up 3@7c and red unchanged to 1c higher. At St. Louis red was 1c higher and hard 4@5c higher. Omaha advanced 3@5c. Premiums were 1@2c higher at Minneapolis, with outside mills taking No. 3 northern from store.

Cash corn prices at Chicago were ½@1c higher early, but lost the advance later. The basis was somewhat better, as compared with the May No. 4 yellow and white, selling at 8@9c under the future. Receipts, 243 cars. Outside markets were unchanged to 2c higher, St. Louis and Milwaukee leading.

Offerings of cash oats were light and sample values unchanged to ½c higher. Clearings easy with futures. Receipts, 52 cars.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

The wheat market is in a position where sharp fluctuations within a wide range are to be expected at any time. The crop scare period is at hand, and those who watch the crops as a basis for their operations are going slow on the selling side, except on the bulges. The cash situation is regarded by some close observers as strong enough to need close watching, while others, who look at the failing off in export demand as the main factor against maintenance of values, are selling on advances. It is noticeable that one of the largest sellers on the early advance took in his line on the break. Eastern shorts finished their covering on the early bulge, and English houses sold both cash and futures.

One of the largest corn traders says the market may not do much in the way of advances until planting time. Should the price remain low at that period the acreage probably will be greatly reduced, while a high price will induce liberal planting. A materially smaller acreage would result in a supply and demand situation which would probably advance prices.

"The green bug may develop into a considerable factor," say Thomson & McKinnon, and add: "Having in mind the idea that we have sold sufficient of our wheat surplus for shipment abroad to bring the reserves down to a minimum basis, we feel the thought of higher prices is more logical."

"We think this month will see the big share of the winter hog crop marketed," says W. G. Press & Co. "History has repeated itself so often in this respect that it may be looked upon as the rule, not the exception, that the winter crop of hogs is well marketed by the last of February. It is true that during the last few weeks receipts of hogs have been heavy, fresh pork has sold low, and offal has been almost unmarketable. We think hogs are inclined to higher levels up to Aug. 11 at least."

One of the leading Winnipeg cash grain houses, summing up the Canadian wheat situation in the three northwestern provinces, makes the crop 225,000,000 bu. Around 160,000,000 bu were marketed to Feb. 4, and after allowing for 35,000,000 bu for seed 30,000,000 bu are left in farmers' hands. There are 18,000,000 bu in the visible supply, 13,000,000 bu in country elevators, and 5,000,000 bu in transit. Home requirements are 25,000,000 bu, so that there are only 41,000,000 bu available for export. The Northwestern Grain Dealers' association report suggested a crop of 218,000,000 bu for the three provinces.

Based on sterling exchange at $3.88, Russell's News figured Australian wheat was offered in the United Kingdom yesterday at equal to $1.81¼ per bu, Indian at $1.67⅝, Argentine at $1.74⅜, and American via gulf at $1.99⅝, all c. i. f.

A reduction of 1s per sack has been made in the price of British control flour. The price is equal to $9.85 per brl at current rates of exchange.

PRODUCE MARKETS

Egg prices declined 1@yesterday to 32½@33c for fresh firsts in the wholesale market. The Lenten season started yesterday, and is expected to increase consumption. Receipts were 15,536 cases, against 9,568 cases last year. A year ago prices were 50@51c. Cold storage stocks were only 1,710 cases, against 38,775 cases last year. Mild weather in the south and southwest is increasing supplies.

Potato prices advanced 5c per 100 lbs, with a better demand and lighter receipts, 33 cars, with 106 cars on team track.

RAILROAD NOTES

The Indiana Harbor Belt railroad has obtained authority to issue $579,000 5 per cent general mortgage gold bonds for pledging with the secretary of the treasury as security for a loan of that amount to aid the company in providing itself with miscellaneous equipment, additions and betterments. As evidence of the loan, the company will give 10 year 6 per cent notes aggregating $579,000, guaranteed by the New York Central, Michigan Central, Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, and Chicago & Northwestern, which own the capital stock of the belt company.

The Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific has filed a petition with the interstate commerce commission, asking authority to issue $1,000,000 general mortgage bonds and $1,000,000 refunding mortgage bonds, the first issue to be held for reimbursing its treasury for expenditures and the second as underlying bonds.

The St. Paul reports 136,029 cars handled from Jan. 1 to Feb. 7, inclusive, compared with 186,561 for the corresponding period a year ago.

NO CUT IN STEEL PRICES OR WAGES, GARY DECLARES

New York, Feb. 9.—Existing prices and wage scales of the United States Steel corporation are to continue, Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the board, declared today.

Some of the independent companies had made efforts to sell their products below current quotations, but the United States Steel corporation has no intention at this time of changing its selling prices, he said. The subject of reducing wage rates among its 265,000 employés has not even been up for consideration, he added.

Wages and Prices to Stay.

"It seems to me," he continued, "that any manufacturer of steel who contemplates reducing selling prices below the basis fixed by the industrial board in March, 1919, must have in mind the intention of reducing wage rates accordingly, thereby charging the difference to the working people. If so, the manufacturer is wrong and unfair, unless, of course, the present selling prices are higher than they ought to be, which would be unfair to the consumers, or wage rates are higher than they should be."

In answer to charges by Controller of the Currency Williams, that steel prices are too high, Judge Gary pointed out that these products had twice been reduced since the end of the war, and that his corporation continued to maintain its quotations of March, 1919, although both wages and freight rates have climbed upward since that time.

He was optimistic regarding the general outlook for business, but asserted that existing governmental taxes and the failure of the government to pay what it owes the railroads are the principal factors retarding the return to more satisfactory conditions.

GERMANY UNDERSELLS U. S.

BY O. A. MATHER.

German producers of machinery in at least one instance this week undersold American producers in their own market. This hint of future foreign competition, coupled with the action of two independent steel companies in cutting prices for the first time below the United States Steel corporation's schedule, has renewed financial interest in the question whether the steel market can hold in the face of the outside business situation.

"Competition in steel from Europe looms up as a large possibility in all export calculations, Germany's chances growing better," the Iron Age says. "Some German punching and shearing machinery undersold American machines in northern Ohio this week. Owing to the probability of serious competition from foreign ores, sellers of Lake Superior ores realize that with the prevailing cost of mining and high freight rates it will be difficult to sell in eastern territory.

Lower Prices Expected.

"The decision of independents to quote prices low enough to bring business to the mills has brought the steel market to a new stage in price readjustment. There is no other expectation than that the whole range of rolled products, except rails, will now be offered at lower prices. The crux of the new situation is the extent to which the wage reductions already made by some of the independent producers will allow them to go below the Steel corporation's prices.

"The wage reductions have been from 15 to 25 per cent. In the Youngstown district wage reductions are expected by Feb. 15. In all the trade's comment on the new turn in prices its effect on the Steel corporation's position has been uppermost. The corporation's operations, while not equally full in all lines, are still at an 80 to 90 per cent rate, and there is no indication of an early change in its policy as regards either wages or prices."

U. S. After More Money.

Uncle Sam needs more money to run his government until the first installment of 1920 income taxes is paid on March 15. Therefore the United States treasury today will announce another issue of certificates of indebtedness for public subscription. The present issue is placed at about $100,000,000, will be dated Feb. 15, and mature July 15, and will bear 5½ per cent interest. This issue is not acceptable in payment of federal taxes.

The interest rate in the present series reflects a somewhat easier tendency in money. The certificates are of five months' maturity. Last month the treasury offered three-months' certificates, bearing 5½ per cent, and nine months' certificates bearing 5¾ per cent. For the two January issues the aggregate amount sought was about $250,000,000. Total subscriptions, however, were $588,256,500, and the final allotment was $316,886,500.

Copper Plans Announced.

The Copper Export association yesterday announced details of the financing of 400,000,000 pounds of surplus copper, which will be trusteed and held for export sales. An issue of $40,000,000 one to four year 8 per cent coupon notes will be offered today for public subscription by the Guaranty Trust company and the National City company at prices ranging between 99 and par, according to maturity. The notes are callable at par, plus 1 per cent for each year before maturity.

The notes are guaranteed by the Anaconda, Phelps-Dodge, Calumet & Hecla, United Verde, and the Guggenheim group companies. Further, the companies agree to trustee at least 10,000 pounds of copper metal for each $1,000 in notes issued.

Hog values dropped another 10@25c yesterday, carrying the day's average to $8.90, the lowest in five years and $13.80 below the record day in July, 1919, when the average reached $22.70. Armour's droves yesterday cost $8.74. Competition was lacking in the trade, which closed topheavy. All outside markets suffered big declines.

Small receipts of cattle held values about steady, with the best beeves offered to eastern shippers at $9.85. Quality was only fair, few selling above the $9.00 mark, with 775 lb yearlings at that price.

Top lambs sold at $9.90, the lowest in about five years. Prices ruled steady to 25c lower. Good Colorado's sold at $9.00. Many heavy lambs remained unsold. Top ewes sold at $5.00.

Commonwealth Power, Ry. & Light.

E. R.—The Commonwealth Power, Railway and Light company earned $8,851,869 net in the twelve months ended Nov. 30 last, an increase of about 1 per cent over the previous year. This covered fixed charges with only a moderate margin. In 1918 this company did not fully earn its preferred divided, and since then has been paying it in scrip. It is being earned now about one and four-fifths times. This stock is quoted at 35 bid, 37 asked.

Creamery Package.

A. M., Janesville, Wis.—The Creamery Package company proposes to change its outstanding 30,000 shares of $100 par value to 120,000 shares of no par and to sell 30,000 new shares to holders. This change should not cause any loss to stockholders. Presumably the new shares will be worth about one-fourth as much as the old ones and stockholders will have four times as many. If the no par shares should sell higher because of a broader market stockholders would profit by the change.

Eastern Texas Electric.

H. J. H.—The Eastern Texas Electric company earns its interest charges three or four times over, giving its bonds a high rating. In the year ended June 30 last it earned about 30 per cent on its $1,400,000 of preferred stock and showed 24 per cent earned on $1,400,000 of common. It paid 8 per cent in dividends. The common is quoted at 70 bid, 74 asked.

Brief Answers.

H. C. K.—The three year notes of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois are secured by deposit of 132 per cent of first and refunding bonds. As the bonds have a good rating, the notes are well secured.

B. B.—There is a Quadrangle Oil company at Wichita Falls, Tex., having $90,000 of stock outstanding. At last accounts it claimed to be producing about 150 barrels a day.

F. B.—Middle States Oil is a speculative stock.

The annual ground rental of the Wabash avenue property is $14,000. Mr. Thompson will remodel at a cost of $100,000 and probably use for restaurant and store purposes. Thompson company has leased No. 8 at $16,000 per annum and David Greenberg, who operates the United Tire Manufacturing outlet store, has rented the store adjoining it on the east, at No. 6, for a reported $9,480 yearly.

The Georgia apartments at the southwest corner of Reba parkway and Elmwood avenue, Evanston, lot 100x147, have been sold by Walter J. Nelson to Sanford P. Wilcox of Grand Rapids, Mich., for an indicated $97,400 subject to $62,400.

SAFE DEPOSIT AND TRUST COMPANY OF BALTIMORE, TRUSTEE

For information regarding these debentures we refer to a letter dated February 7th, 1921, of Mr. C. Wilbur Miller, President of the Company (copies of which may be obtained from the undersigned, which he has summarized briefly as follows):

BUSINESS, originally established in 1832, consists in the manufacture and sale of sulphuric acid, acid phosphate and other heavy chemicals. These products are staple raw materials for some of the chief industries of the country, including the making of fertilizers, refining of copper, manufacture of dyestuffs, bleaching, refining of petroleum, etc.

NET EARNINGS of The Davison Chemical Company (including results of the Davison Sulphur & Phosphate Company since January 1, 1920, when it was placed on an operating basis) after allowing for maintenance and depreciation show the following available for interest and Federal taxes:

1919	729,703.66
1920	1,502,430.00 (December estimated)

These consolidated net earnings for 1920, (December estimated) after allowing for all other fixed interest charges, equal about 8½ times annual interest on these $2,000,000 Debentures.

ASSETS: Total consolidated net assets as of November 30, 1920, adjusted to include the proceeds of the sale of $2,000,000 Debentures, after deducting all liabilities, including this issue, are over $14,000,000, or 7 times these Debentures; consolidated net quick assets so adjusted alone amount to approximately $2,300,000.

EQUITY: The Company's outstanding capital stock at current quotations represents an equity of about $5,000,000 ranking junior to these $2,000,000 Debentures.

SINKING FUND, commencing in 1922, is sufficient to retire practically the whole issue by maturity; during first five years Company may buy Debentures for sinking fund at or below 106 and interest, but after first five years will be obliged to redeem Debentures by lot for sinking fund at 106 and interest.

RESTRICTIONS: No mortgage to be created by Company or its subsidiaries without including these Debentures equally and ratably therewith, except inter-company and purchase money mortgages, and also, except the extension or refunding of the existing first mortgage bonds of the Davison Sulphur & Phosphate Company, due 1927, for not more than three years; no dividend to be declared which will reduce the consolidated net quick assets below 100% of the face amount of Debentures outstanding.

The legal proceedings in connection with the issue are being passed upon by Messrs. Cravath, Henderson, Leffingwell & de Gersdorff of New York, and by Messrs. Venable, Baetjer & Howard of Baltimore.

Pending receipt of temporary debentures interim receipts may be delivered. All offerings of debentures are made "when, as and if issued and received by us" and subject to approval of counsel.

A Dual Consideration

CLOSING the books for the year.

1. Automatically determines financial results for the year and therefore
2. Definitely establishes tax liability.

How important, then, to delegate the closing of books to Certified Public Accountants experienced in the intimate inter-relationship between accounting and taxes!

TEMPLAR

REASON WHY.

There must be a reason why more Templars are being sold every day than any other make and there is. It's because the Templar is the best automobile in America. It's the only car without a weak point, the only car on which a year's guarantee is given and a year's free service thrown in for good measure. For this one reason we are offered used cars of all makes at our own prices and they are being sold to the public at the same low figures; coupes, sedans, touring cars and taxicabs.
